203 DIE IN DANCE HALL FIRE

TEN OF CHICAGO BAND PERISH IN NATCHEZ BLAZE

Hundreds of Happy Negroes Trapped.

BULLETIN.

Natchez, Miss., April 24, Wednesday.—(Special.)—The toll in the colored dance hall fire last night at 4 a. m. today had reached 203 dead, and it was expected the death list would mount to 250. Of the known dead 195 perished in the fire and eight died in hospitals. Several of 35 others in hospitals are expected to die.

Natchez, Miss., April 24, Wednesday [Special].—Between 100 and 150 Negroes were burned to death and at least 50 more were seriously burned or injured late last night when fire destroyed the Rhythm night club, a Negro resort in the downtown colored business district. Ten of the 14 members of Walter Barnes' colored orchestra, imported from Chicago for a special dance, were among the dead.

The dance hall, a one story frame building near Pine and Jefferson streets, had only one door in the front. All the windows had been boarded up by the dance promoters so those outside could not look in or hear the music. When the fire started between 400 and 500 colored men and women were dancing.

Natchez, a city of 18,000, known for its beautiful gardens and mansions, has a Negro community of about 9,000. It was a gala night for the Negroes. Tickets for the dance cost $2.50 at the door.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

Festoons of Spanish moss were draped from the ceiling and walls. They had been hanging for a considerable period and were dry as tinder. Suddenly one strand of moss spouted flame. The fire went thru the network of decorations in an instant and began attacking the wooden walls.

What caused the blaze was not known, but it was believed a match tossed casually aside by a reveler set the moss afire.

With the hall a mass of flames, the screaming, fighting crowd stampeded for the narrow doorway. Most of the dancers had crowded around the orchestra stand in the rear of the hall, and they had no chance to get out. Because of the barriers no one could escape thru the windows and the jam at the door was so great that the crowd knotted up until it was too late for many to escape.

100 Bodies Carried Out.

The fire started at about 11:30 p. m., and in little more than an hour destroyed the entire building. Firemen and ambulance crews had carried 100 bodies from the ruins by 2 a. m. Three colored undertaking parlors located near the hall became so full that bodies were laid side by side on the floor. The dead were about evenly divided between men and women.

The building occupied by the night club formerly housed the Sanctified church, a colored denomination. It was later abandoned, but about two years ago colored promoters leased the building and converted it into a dance hall, bringing in well known colored bands from Chicago, New Orleans, and other cities. The dances always drew capacity crowds.

WOOLLCOTT WILL REST INSTEAD OF GOING TO DINNER

San Francisco, Cal., April 23 (AP).—Alexander Woollcott abandoned playacting as an invalided critic and lecturer in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and retired to his hotel room today as an invalided actor and author who is 57 years old.

Theatrical engagements for shows in San Francisco and the Pacific northwest were canceled. Dr. Lindol R. French said the critic, actor, author, and lecturer is suffering from heart disease.

"He must get absolute rest for two or three weeks," said Dr. French. "For the next two or three months he may engage only in limited activity. Cancellation of his theatrical appearance was absolutely necessary. It was just too much for him."

Woollcott had been playing to packed houses here for six weeks.

Germany Curbs Young People's Dancing, Smoking

BERLIN, April 23.—A drive against young people under 18 years of age smoking or dancing in public after 9 p. m. is getting into full swing in some sections of Germany. In Seehausen, near Stendal, several youths have been sentenced to two days in jail.

Empire Troops Battle Germans for 'Gateway' to Oslo

Naval and Air Forces Clash Near Sweden

(Maps on pages 11 and 12.)

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 23 (AP).—Fierce sea and air warfare, sparked by an attack on a German transport convoy, was reported raging tonight in the Skagerrak, the channel between Denmark and Norway.

The Stockholm newspaper Nya Dagligt Allehanda reported from Sweden's west coast that warships and airplanes were engaged in two battles.

From the roar of gunfire off the coast, it said, the fighting seems likely to prove the most severe since Germany invaded Norway.

Many fighting planes were involved in the battles and at one coastal vantage point 10 destroyers could be seen with guns spouting.

Transports Fly North.

For two days numbers of German planes were seen passing northward along the Swedish west coast but hardly any returned toward the south. Observers said the indications were that German forces in Norway thus had received big reinforcements.

Swedish fishing trawlers were fired upon again today by German aircraft in Swedish territorial waters, and German planes were observed cruising over several places in Vasterbotten and Norrbotten. Sweden was awaiting Berlin's reply to a protest made against violations of Swedish frontiers by German warplanes.

The newspaper Aftonbladet's correspondent in Kaunas, Lithuania, reported that comprehensive military preparations were in full swing on Germany's Baltic coast, southeast from Sweden. Masses of troops, arms, and ammunition were reported arriving at ports in the Memel region and in East Prussia from other parts of Germany. Civilians were barred from these strongly guarded posts.

Tell of Narvik Shelling.

Swedish reports concerning the far northern iron ore port, Narvik, said the German garrison there is almost trapped, with the British-Norwegian troops ringing it by land and British naval units hemming it in by sea.

Swedish sailors who left Narvik on Sunday declared that by masterful marksmanship the British had destroyed only four buildings in their repeated bombardments of the Germans in Narvik.

The Germans, the sailors said, are requisitioning so much material that the inhabitants are suffering from lack of provisions.

Minister Returns.

Arne Scheel, Norwegian minister to Berlin who was ordered out of Germany, arrived last night at German-held Oslo instead of going northward in Norway to reach the fugitive Norwegian government of Premier Johan Nygaardsvold.

Scheel's mission in Oslo was not known but his arrival there was said to have surprised German authorities.

German military authorities in Oslo urged Norwegians to surrender secret arms stores before next Sunday and issued a stern warning against passive resistance or any attempt by Norwegians of military age to leave the German occupied areas.

British and French residents of Oslo were issued control cards, which must be stamped several times a day by police.

BRITISH DRIVE TOWARD SOUTH NORWAY PLAIN

New Battles Rage Near Trondheim.

(Maps on pages 11 and 12.)

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—The tide of war on the northern battleground boiled tonight into southern Norway and found allied and German troops, alike far from home, engaged in a battle of seeming decision for the "gate" to Oslo and, perhaps, command of the invaded nation's destiny.

While another uncommunicative communique from the war office pictured British and Norwegian troops as fighting together and resisting "enemy pressure" in the south of Norway, unofficial British and neutral military observers pieced together this picture of the land war:

1. The first major battle of the campaign is beginning at the gate near Lillehammer, where the great Gudbrandsdal valley enters the southern plain. It is at Lillehammer that the allied columns must march out from the valley if they are to strike across the plain at German-held Oslo.

Counter Attack at Trondheim.

2. A flying column of Norwegians and British has thrust southward from the Britons' central west coast landing places and, flanking the Lillehammer conflict, is pushing for Hamar, 30 miles south of Lillehammer and 60 miles north of Oslo. This force has taken Moelven, about 10 miles north of Hamar and on the east side of Lake Mjosa.

3. British troops have "been counter-attacked," in the words of the official communique, by Germans north of Trondheim, on the west coast, and a sharp engagement has resulted.

Reports from Norway persisted that the allies, moving south from Namsos, had met a German detachment at Levanger, 35 miles north of Trondheim, after advancing 85 miles by railroad.

Crucial Point for Germans.

Neutral military men said the Lillehammer front was by far the most important. They emphasized that if the Germans recoil before the allies' heavy guns and mechanized units it will be a grave blow to their hopes of retaining Oslo.

Despite the relative smallness of the forces engaged, they said the battle was bound to be one of "great decisiveness."

A communique issued tonight by the Norwegian high command said German attacks on both sides of Lake Mjosa [at Lillehammer and above Hamar] were supported by artillery, tanks and aircraft.

Norwegians Control Railway.

The Germans were attacking in the Osterdal, the river valley running north from Elverum, the command said, while the Norwegians and their allies advanced in the Valdres river valley, west of Lake Mjosa, and captured 100 German prisoners.

The Norwegians are in control of the railroad from Andalsnes, British disembarkation point, to Lillehammer, the Norwegian communique said, and have transported reënforcements with mountain artillery to Lillehammer.

Swedish reports said that Dombas, railroad junction point on the Andalsnes-Lillehammer line, had been heavily bombed by the Germans. Swedish correspondents asserted that the Germans had dropped parachute troops at Dovre, 10 miles southeast of Dombas, in a desperate and unsuccessful effort to seize control of the railway.

Wipe Out 'Chute Troops.

These reports said the parachute troops had been surrounded by Norwegian patrols, who killed or captured the entire detachment.

A British statement denied reports circulated last week by British news agencies and by the British Broadcasting company to the effect that Canadian units were in Norway.

Flights of British planes bombed German bases at Kjeller and Fornebo, near Oslo, to stem the tide of German reënforcements, and again assaulted Aalborg in Denmark, with the admitted loss of one bomber.

Admit British Air Activity.

OSLO, April 23 (AP).—The Germans admitted in a communique today that British planes reached the Oslo area during last night, but said that "they had to run away after throwing some bombs without aiming."

Chicago yesterday afternoon turned out two enthusiastic crowds to give a royal welcome to two rare additions to the Lincoln park zoo—youthful auburn haired orang-utans from the jungles of Sumatra.

The Tribune airplane that had carried them on the last stage of their journey to Chicago swept down upon Chicago airport at 4:37 p. m., exactly on schedule. Waiting there was a throng of adults and children; waiting in the small animals house in Lincoln park was another. In all several thousand persons took part in the welcoming ceremonies.

Meet Crowds Graciously.

Cheerfully, even graciously, the stranger apes met the crowds. At the airport, before they were loaded into a heated truck to be hurried thru the city under police escort, Zoo Director Floyd S. Young ordered that the canvas over their cage be lifted.

In glee the larger [male] orang-utan danced and went thru gymnastics for the observers. The younger and smaller one, a female, imitated him. Later in the zoo the animals were taken from the cage and The Roughneck, as Young calls the bigger one, shook the hand of another orang-utan brought to the reception by Frank Buck, the circus man.

Director Young, who had accompanied the animals on the plane from Camden, N. J., was enthusiastic about the way his charges stood the trip.

Arrive in Fine Fettle.

"The trip was almost without incident," he said. "We are grateful that they came thru so well. We didn't want them to take a long train trip; they are too likely to catch something. The Tribune's plane solved our problem."

Among the individuals and organizations participating in the welcome were radio station W-G-N, which made a special broadcast of the plane's arrival at the airport and another of the animals' reception at the zoo; school officials who informed children of the impending arrival; Park Commissioner James C. Petrillo, who sent Jack Bramhall's band of 15 pieces to play; several large hotels, which issued bulletins about the primates to their guests, and the consul of the Netherlands, Arie van der Burch.

Director Young said the orang-utans are the only ones of tender age in the United States and that it is unlikely any more will be imported soon.

The male is 4 years old and weighs 35 pounds. His companion, the female, is 2 and about half as hefty.

The youngsters were purchased by Lincoln park for $4,000. They were shipped from Sumatra by steamer on Jan. 9. Since their arrival in this country last Thursday they had been kept on a farm in New Jersey.

Director Young gave much thought to the problem of getting them safely to Chicago. To such tropic animals cold is particularly dangerous, and it was felt the journey should be made as quickly as possible. Commercial air lines, however, couldn't haul them without extensive red tape arrangements.

Tribune Volunteers to Aid.

In this emergency the Aircraft Owners' and Pilots' association volunteered its services. So did THE TRIBUNE, whose plane was at Newark, N. J., yesterday morning. The latter offer was accepted, and Pilot Howard West picked up Young and his charges at Camden. Their takeoff was made without incident at 11:50 a. m. [Chicago time].

West kept constantly in contact with the ground by radio and gave half hourly reports on his progress. W-G-N, besides making the two special broadcasts, kept its listeners informed of the plane's progress.

[For sketches of life and habits of orang-utans turn to page 5.]

On Display Daily

Beginning today, the two new orang-utans that reached the Lincoln park zoo yesterday will be on exhibit in the park's small animals house daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. They are installed in a cage along the west wall. Neither has been given a permanent name yet, but Zoo Director Floyd S. Young said this matter will be attended to soon in a contest. Radio station W-G-N has asked its listeners for suggestions.

W-G-N EXPANDS PROGRAMS WITH FINEST IN RADIO

BY EDWARD BARRY.

To strengthen community spirit, to provide the best in music, and to insure a good time for everybody—these are the purposes underlying the important new broadcast plans made public yesterday by W-G-N.

One of the new features will provide a means of paying public honor to the great organizations which contribute to the security, the prosperity, the convenience, and the enlightenment of the people of the Chicago territory. Members of such organizations will be invited to come to the W-G-N building, hear and see a program in the audience studio, and study for themselves the technique of modern broadcasting.

Series Starts Sunday Night.

The groups already invited include the Chicago Association of Commerce, prominent educators, the police and fire departments, the army, the navy, and the men who deliver the mail. This series will start next Sunday night, when members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Oscar G. Mayer, president, will be present in the studio from 9 to 10 o'clock, daylight saving time. Frank J. Loesch, former president of the Chicago Crime commission, will deliver a five minute talk.

In conjunction with this, the W-G-N Symphonic hour, the second of the new features, will be presented for the first time. It will enlist the services of the augmented W-G-N Concert orchestra, the W-G-N chorus, and two renowned soloists—Marion Claire and Michael Wilkomirski. Henry Weber, musical director of W-G-N and of the Chicago Opera company, will conduct.

Miss Claire, who in private life is Mrs. Henry Weber, is the soprano who starred in "The Great Waltz" during its long New York and Chicago runs and who has innumerable successes in opera, radio, and movies to her credit. Mr. Wilkomirski is a Chicago violinist whose beauty of tone and clarity of style have been praised by public and critics in this and other cities.

Theater of the Air.

The third of the new features is the Chicago Theater of the Air—a series of three performances of tuneful operettas streamlined to one hour in length. Henry Weber will conduct and the singers already engaged include some of the most renowned in the light opera world. To insure momentum, punch, and smoothness, W-G-N is bringing in William Bacher, a production man with more than ten years of topnotch shows to his credit. The operetta dates are May 2, 16, and 30; the time, 9 to 10.

In connection with the new invitation series, Quin Ryan, manager of W-G-N, pointed out that the W-G-N building is the only structure in the country devoted entirely to broadcasting. It is hoped that a visit to the building will be very much worth while for members of the organizations which are to be invited. From the audience studio the performing artists and announcers are visible and to some degree also the work of the engineers and sound men.

It is hoped, also, that the new feature will increase still further the number of ties between W-G-N and the great community which it has served for 16 years.

Army Night May 5.

The second of the invitation affairs is already set. Members of the United States army will be present on the night of May 5 and Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding the 6th

TELLS RED PLOT FOR BLITZKRIEG IN U. S. INDUSTRY

Set to Tie Up Nation on Moscow's Order.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—A former communist leader today told the Dies committee investigating un-American activities that communists have plotted an effective blitzkrieg in the United States in case the soviet union should wish to strike at this nation.

Thomas O'Shea.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Thomas Humphrey O'Shea of New York City, communist leader from 1934 to 1938 and former president of the Transport Workers' union, outlined the stages of a general tieup in American industry which could be ordered by communists now in authority in labor unions.

Whether the rank and file of these unions, mostly noncommunistic, would follow the orders of their officials, with a national crisis impending, was doubted by the committee.

New York to Be Paralyzed.

In the case of a New York City transportation tieup, however, O'Shea insisted that communist leaders in the Transport Workers' union have absolute power to paralyze the metropolis.

If Russia, alone or in conjunction with another power, should attempt a blow at the United States, perhaps thru Alaska, the communist party here is organized, O'Shea testified, to attempt the following:

A tieup of New York City's transportation within six hours and cutting off of most of its power, heat, and light.

A paralysis of west coast shipping and the calling of strikes considerably hampering eastern shipping.

Strikes and sabotage in navy yards, munition factories, airplane factories, and machine shops.

Strikes of radio and electrical workers and all communist controled unions to add to the general terror.

Meet for Target Practice.

The Transport Workers' union in New York has maintained gun clubs at which its members meet regularly for target practice with rifle and pistol, O'Shea said. Weapons are provided the members, but they must buy their own ammunition.

O'Shea, who joined the communist party in May, 1934, testified that he was appointed the first president of the Transport Workers' union by John Santo, district representative of the communist party.

In December, 1935, O'Shea was instructed by the communist leadership not to oppose the candidacy of Michael Quill, who was elected and remains president. Quill was a member of the same unit of the communist party, O'Shea testified. He said he himself remained as a unit organizer until he quit the party in 1938 when he became disgusted.

Leadership Firmly Entrenched.

O'Shea had been a New York subway worker until the union was organized and he became president. He now is a WPA laborer.

"The communist leadership has its control in the Transport Workers' union so fixed that it could immediately stampede the men into a strike," he testified. "They have absolute power to paralyze the industry."

After the communist international had decided in 1935 to adopt the Trojan horse or boring from within policy, O'Shea said, he was a member of a delegation which went to Detroit in an attempt to affiliate the union with the Amalgamated Association of Street Car, Motor Coach and Railway employés, an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

"With our 35,000 membership, we would have controled a block of delegates in the A. F. of L. union and dominated the transportation of the United States," O'Shea said. "Our trip was financed by the communist party. But we failed to get in."

The United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers, a C. I. O. union, is communist controled from top to bottom, O'Shea testified. He identified James Matles, national director of this union, as a communist.

"It was considered important to control the machine shops because if they were tied up the production of steel would become ineffectual in a crisis," the witness said. "West coast shipping, of course, is in complete control of the communists and they are making headway in the east.

"If a communist in any industry is ordered to commit sabotage or get secret information for the benefit of Russia, he complies or is expelled immediately from membership.

"A general strike situation could be brought about very quickly by the communist party thru its control of transport workers, electrical workers, the maritime industry, utilities and machine shop workers."

Leaders 90 Per Cent Reds.

Only 5 per cent of the Transport Workers' union membership is communistic, but 90 per cent of the leadership is, O'Shea testified.

O'Shea quoted from the Daily Worker, official journal of the communist party, to show the emphasis which the communists put upon transportation strikes. An editorial stated that strikes in ordinary industries did not much disturb the life of a great city, such as New York, but that "if the transit workers strike for a few hours only, the life of the entire city is turned upside down."

BISCUIT CUTTER TO BORE SUBWAY CORNER TODAY

The 200 ton steel shield or biscuit cutter that is boring the southbound tube of the Dearborn street subway section will begin to turn the underground corner from Lake street into Dearborn street today. The cutter, which started digging at La Salle and Lake streets, has passed the intersection of Clark and Lake streets and is ready to start the gradual curve that will take it beneath the Selwyn and Harris theaters at Lake and Dearborn streets. The work will continue south under Dearborn street to Van Buren street.

An identical cutter that is digging the northbound subway tube paralleling the southbound tunnel is boring under Lake street about 150 feet behind the first shield. It will turn into Dearborn street in the next two weeks. The tunnel is being dug by the S. A. Healy Construction company.

M. J. Bolye & Co., contractor for part of the North State street subway, today will begin to turn the underground corner from Division street into State street.

FISH DENOUNCES ADMIRAL'S STAND ON FIGHTING JAPS

Washington, D. C., April 23 (AP).—Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] today denounced Rear Admiral Joseph K. Taussig's prediction of eventual war with Japan and told his colleagues that congress should investigate what he termed inflammatory speeches and war propaganda from navy officers.

The New Yorker referred to statements Taussig made yesterday before the senate naval committee. "Navy officers," Fish said in the house, "think the only duty of our navy is to go to war with Japan."

Representative Sam Hobbs [D., Ala.] replied that there was no more patriotic group of men.

Appearing before the senate committee today, Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, testified that fighting planes needed by the army were being delivered on schedule despite the heavy orders being placed in this country by the empires.

SENTRY SHOT AS HE ROUTS THIEF FROM U. S. BASE

Washington, D. C., April 23 (AP).—An alert sentry at the Quantico, Va., marine base thwarted a trespasser attempting to break into an airplane hangar with a blow torch before dawn yesterday in a possible attempt to steal a bomb sight, one of the nation's most precious military secrets.

The man fired at the sentry when accosted, wounding him slightly in the abdomen, and fled into the night. The sentry's name was not made public. The federal bureau of investigation has undertaken an inquiry, but officials refused to discuss the matter.

The incident became known tonight thru civilian workers at the base, who advanced the theory that the intruder's object was to get at a plane equipped with the bomb sight. The sights used on United States warplanes have been represented authoritatively as far superior to any developed by foreign powers.

CANDIDATE SUES TO END IMMUNITY OF INDIANA SLUSH

Asks Court to Declare 2% Club Illegal.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., April 23.—A suit to bring Indiana's 2 per cent slush fund club—known officially as the Hoosier Democratic club—under provisions of the state corrupt practices act and to restrain the club from further activities was filed today in Marion county Circuit court.

The action was brought by Glenn W. Funk, one of six Republican candidates for nomination as prosecuting attorney of Marion county. Funk's complaint asks for a declaratory judgment that the act of the 1937 legislature "legalizing" the club and exempting it from the corrupt practices act is unconstitutional and void. Funk alleges the act is class legislation, as it permits the 2 per cent slush club to do what other groups are forbidden to do under the corrupt practices act. The suit asks an injunction to stop the 2 per centers from engaging further in its activities.

Date of Trial Undetermined.

The case will come before Judge Earl R. Cox. A date for the hearing has not been set.

At the top of the list of defendants are Bowman Elder, former treasurer of the club, who is being asked by the federal treasury if he does not owe $233,000 in income tax and penalties, as former club treasurer; Frank McHale, Democratic national committeeman and manager of the McNutt presidential campaign, and Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, former governor and candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. These are the big three in Indiana's Democratic political machine.

List of Other Defendants.

Other defendants are:

GOV. M. CLIFFORD TOWNSEND.

ALEX PURSLEY, political advisor of the governor.

DICK HELLER, patronage secretary to the governor.

FRED. L. BAYS, Democratic state committee chairman.

OMER S. JACKSON, attorney general of Indiana.

PLEAS E. GREENLEE, former patronage secretary to Gov. McNutt.

WAYNE COY, secretary to McNutt when McNutt was governor of Indiana and also when he was commissioner to the Philippines.

LIEUT. GOV. HENRY F. SCHRICKER.

FRANK FINNEY, commissioner of motor vehicles.

JOSEPH M. ROBERTSON, state treasurer.

DONALD F. STIVER, state safety director.

FRANK G. THOMPSON, state auditor.

L. L. NEEDLER, state purchasing agent.

Charges Pernicious Practices.

Funk charges in his complaint that the 2 per cent club is engaged in "various pernicious and unlawful and corrupt practices and activities." The plea says the club levies from state employés' involuntary contributions on a basis of 2 per cent of their wages and salaries.

Funk charges that the amounts collected are "vast but unascertainable sums of money amounting to several millions of dollars."

Funk said that if the declaratory judgment is handed down and the 1937 act is invalidated, it will be a felony for officers of the club to fail to report collections and disbursements.

New Program Stars

corps area, will deliver a short talk. This, like the other invitation affairs, will be an annual event.

W-G-N has already released the complete program for the first W-G-N symphonic hour—the concert which the Chicago Association of Commerce will hear next Sunday night. It includes music by Schubert, Tschaikowsky, Verdi, Strauss, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Von Reznicek and Carpenter. This is the program on which Miss Claire and Mr. Wilkomirski are to appear as soloists.

Plans are far advanced also for the first of the operettas, which will go on the air Thursday, May 2, between 9 and 10. The piece is to be Noel Coward's melodious "Bittersweet," and the principal artists will be Marion Claire and James Melton. Mr. Melton is the handsome young American who sang two performances with the Chicago Opera company during the 1938 season and who took part in the gala closing concert at Grant park last summer. He is nationally known for his work in movies and radio.

Best of Music Saved.

In cutting the operetta to one hour care has been taken that none of the best music has been sacrificed. The same is true in regard to the big dramatic moments of the piece.

The operetta for May 16 is Romberg's "The Student Prince," one of the most popular shows of the 20th century. On May 30, Pokrass' "Cyrano de Bergerac" will be presented.

All of these new features will originate in the W-G-N studios and will be broadcast not only by W-G-N but also by the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system.

INDIANA'S LIQUOR SYSTEM CALLED REAL FOE OF G.O.P.

Provides Ready Cash for Politics, Says Emmert.

Indiana's system of liquor control, which fosters forced collection of campaign funds from liquor distributors, is the real enemy of the Republican party in that state, according to Judge James A. Emmert of Shelbyville, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the May 7 primaries.

Judge Emmert was one of five candidates for gubernatorial nomination who appeared yesterday at the spring luncheon of the Indiana Republican central committee in the Hotel Gary. The others were Clarence E. Benadum of Muncie, David Hogg of Fort Wayne, George Jeffrey of Indianapolis, and William E. Jenner of Shoals. Glenn R. Hillis of Kokomo, the sixth candidate, was unable to attend. Fred Schultz, chairman of the committee, presided.

How They Get the Money.

"Whenever the Indiana gang wants $50,000 or any other large amount to use against the Republican party, all it has to do is to crack down on the hard liquor distribution system," said Judge Emmert. "Whatever the assessment of the two per cent fund may be, the wholesalers pay promptly because they are in no position to do otherwise if they wish to continue in business. They pay because the Indiana gang controls the issuance of wholesale licenses.

"Any lingering doubt about the important rôle liquor money has played in defeating the Republican party in Indiana is removed by the partial report of the United States treasury department in its investigation of the 2 per cent fund."

Urges State Operation.

Judge Emmert advocated abolition of the present liquor control system, and state ownership and operation of liquor stores.

Benadum attacked the New Deal as government run by cunning rather than by science. Hogg advocated a strong protective tariff to raise the wages of labor, and also free school books. Jeffrey, a former United States district attorney, assailed former Gov. Paul McNutt and his "little New Deal" in Indiana. McNutt, he said, ran the state in a high handed manner with little consideration for the people. Jenner, who has served five terms in the legislature, said the state house is now so cluttered with pay rollers that the governor does not know how many he has.

Ask Governor Candidates' Views on Relief Increases

The Republican and Democratic nominees for governor have been invited to express their attitude regarding suggested increases in state relief appropriations at a mass meeting to be held tonight in Christopher House, 2507 North Greenview avenue. The Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot, rector of the Church of Our Savior and chairman of the meeting, said a citizens' committee has been investigating relief administration for several months.

Lieut. Col. H. Weir Cook, a world war ace and former airmail pilot, has brought to Chicago a collection of pictures and miniature models showing the development of aviation.

The exhibit, known as the "Conquest of the Sky," is sponsored by a civic committee which includes Fred Fagg Jr., chairman of the aviation committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Dr. C. A. Tibbals, dean of Armour institute; Maj. Reed Landis, an airline official; Maj. C. A. McElvain, commanding officer, the 108th observation squadron, Illinois National Guard; Harold R. Neely, regional manager, Civil Aeronautics authority; Lieut. John Casey, superintendent of the city airport, and others.

WISCONSIN CLUB BACKING DEWEY SPENDS $25,884

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., April 23.—The Wisconsin Dewey for President club spent a total of $25,884.05 in its successful campaign to pledge all this state's 24 delegates to Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the Republican presidential nomination at the forthcoming party convention. This was disclosed in an expense report on file today at the secretary of state's office.

The report was filed by Edward A. Bacon of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Dewey club. The original report showed expenditures of approximately $30,000, but a recheck, Bacon said, revealed an inadvertent duplication of items and correction of this error reduced the total.

Considerable interest attached to the Dewey expense statement because of recent reports from Washington that alleged excessive expenditures in behalf of Dewey might be investigated by a senate committee. A Washington dispatch said the Dewey forces were reported to have spent about $75,000.

G. O. P. PROTESTS MOVE TO DICTATE DELEGATE CHOICE

Flood of Letters Assailed by Branson.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Rumblings of protest were heard yesterday against the tactics being used to influence the selection of the eight Illinois delegates at large to the Republican national convention. A flood of letters, mostly from downstate G. O. P. local leaders, has inundated the G. O. P. nominees for United States senator and governor, who have a large part in choosing these delegates. The letters are similar in tone and in the proposals made. Some leaders suspected that the mail campaign was being made in an attempt to control delegates for the purpose of supporting one of the presidential candidates not appearing on the Illinois preferential ballot April 9. Others believed the purpose is to sway the delegates' election of a national committeeman, chairman, and other officers.

Plan Premeditated, Says Branson.

Robert J. Branson of Centralia, majority leader in the Illinois house of representatives, commented on the letters when he arrived in Chicago last night to attend the funeral today of Representative John A. Pelka of the 15th district.

"The mail campaign is not spontaneous," Branson said. "It is premeditated and inspired by persons with personal motives. They are playing poor politics."

Custom requires the nominees for the two top offices on the state ticket to be among the eight delegates at large and says that the other six should represent the leadership of the party.

Ask Selection from Workers.

However, the letters sent out since a week ago have demanded that no nominee be made a delegate at large, that at least five of the eight be downstaters, and that those five be chosen from the "workers" of the G. O. P. such as county chairmen.

"There is no need to fear sore spots among downstate Republicans," Branson said. "All are ready to fight for the ticket. There is no feeling that the ticket is geographically unbalanced. Dwight Green, the nominee for governor, is felt to be a downstate type of man, and the G. O. P. voters are much pleased with him, as shown by the primary vote."

Hill Blackett, who succeeded the late George F. Harding as national committeeman, said he did not know who inspired the letters. He was asked whether he was working in behalf of Alf M. Landon, presidential nominee in 1936 and a friend of Blackett despite the voters' instructions to the delegates to vote for Thomas E. Dewey.

Blackett, however, declared himself in substantial agreement with some of the proposals made in the letters. He said they would lead to party harmony. Other leaders declared they would result in party friction.

Making Inquiry, Says Blackett.

"I'm looking into it to find out what it's all about," Blackett said. "I myself have received eight or ten letters of the same tenor in the last week. All I can say is that I'm for anything that will make harmony in the party.

"Cook county has five of the nine state-wide candidates. I'm afraid that if we don't do something to bolster it up it will be said that the Republicans have a Cook county ticket, as was used against us in 1936 by the Democrats.

"Sentiment against that kind of situation has been going around downstate for two years. We in Cook county should see that downstate gets every consideration possible. If downstate delegates at large will help create harmony, I am for it."

Blackett said he was not supporting former Gov. Landon because "he is not a candidate." Landon, said Blackett, told him this two years ago and has repeated it recently.

A. K. STILES, OUTGOING STATE GOP CHAIRMAN, SUMMONS COMMITTEE

A. K. Stiles of Sycamore, who signed himself as "outgoing" chairman of the Republican state central committee, yesterday issued a call for a meeting of the committee May 9 in Springfield. The committee will elect a new chairman and other officers.

Stiles has announced that he is not a candidate for the post. He supported Richard J. Lyons in his unsuccessful primary contest with Dwight H. Green for the G. O. P. nomination for governor.

State committeemen in their private election will have one vote for each Republican ballot cast in their congressional districts April 9. Altho the state convention in Springfield on Friday will be recessed until sometime in May, Stiles wrote that many committeemen have indicated they will appear on that date for informal discussions.

PURSE THIEF CAPTURED.

A colored man who stole a purse containing $15 in a washroom of the 333 North Michigan avenue building yesterday was pursued and captured by Park Policeman George Lioret. He is Adie Silvester, 24 years old, 347 East 45th street. Lioret was informed of the theft by an elevator man who followed Silvester to the street.

QUARTER MILLION IS RESTORED TO NLRB ALLOTMENT

Senate Group Acts to Kill House Economy.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—Reductions of $253,000 which the house voted in the amount of funds for the National Labor Relations board were restored by the senate appropriations committee today. The committee reported a 998 million dollar bill for the labor department, the federal security agency, and related activities.

Included in the NLRB funds added by the senate committee is a total of $45,600 for the division of economic research, headed by David J. Saposs, whose revolutionary writings have been scrutinized by the Dies committee on un-American activities and by the Smith committee created to investigate the labor relations board.

As a result of revelations by these committees, the house refused to appropriate any money for the Saposs division of economic research and reduced the NLRB total by $253,000.

Would Cause Conference Battle.

The senate committee also restored funds totaling $1,045,000, which the house had cut from the appropriation for the wage and hour division of the labor department.

If approved by the senate, these restorations for the labor relations board and the wage and hour division will result in a conference battle with the house managers.

The senate committee also approved a $25,000,000 increase over the budget figure for the Civilian Conservation corps, which was half the increase voted by the house. Of the house increase of $17,450,000 over the budget figure for the National Youth administration, the senate committee approved all but $1,101,000.

32 Million Over Budget.

Thus there was little encouragement for the congressional economy forces in the committee's action. The total of the bill represents a reduction of $23,585,030 as compared to the house figure, but is an increase of $32,066,028 over the budget figure.

The bill includes $2,272,000 for NLRB personnel services and $674,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

Major appropriation items in the bill include: National Youth administration, $95,984,000; Civilian Conservation corps, $255,060,000; salaries and administrative expenses of the social security board, $27,219,500; grants to states for old age assistance, $245,000,000; grants to states for unemployment compensation administration, $61,000,000; grants to states for assistance to dependent children, $75,000,000; and grants to states for aid to the blind, $10,000,000.

HOUSE APPROVES BILL TO SPEED UP ARMY PROMOTION

Washington, D. C., April 23 (AP).—Hundreds of army officers received good news today when the house passed and sent to the senate a bill to extend automatic promotion and provide earlier retirement. The measure went thru without a dissenting vote. Only about 40 members were on the floor.

It is designed to vitalize the army's command with younger lieutenant colonels and colonels and to eliminate the so-called hump caused by some 4,200 officers who entered the service during the world war.

Under the existing system, the 10,930 officers on the promotion list moved up only when vacancies occurred except that second lieutenants were promoted to first lieutenants at the end of three years and first lieutenants to captains after 10 years' total service.

The new bill would provide the automatic promotion of captains to majors after 17 years' total service, majors to lieutenant colonels after 23 years, and lieutenant colonels to colonels after 28 years. The number of colonels would be limited to 705. The compulsory retirement age of brigadier generals would be lowered from 64 to 62 years and of other officers from 64 to 60.

Californians Drop Check Charges Against Dahl

New York, April 23 (AP).—Harold E. Dahl, the American aviator who fought with the Madrid government forces in the Spanish civil war until captured by Gen. Franco's men, was freed today from California bad check charges. He had been arrested on the complaint of Los Angeles and Riverside authorities, who accused him of passing bad checks for $125 in 1936. The court was told that police of those cities no longer wanted him.

Expecting Child

Mrs. Doris Duke Cromwell, tobacco heiress and wife of James H. R. Cromwell, American minister to Canada. Cromwell said yesterday that a child was expected in August.

HEIR TO THE VAST DUKE-CROMWELL RICHES DUE SOON

2,400 Acre Playground Being Prepared.

New York, April 23 (AP).—A baby who will be born with a super-silver spoon in its mouth is expected in the household of James H. R. Cromwell and his wife, the former Doris Duke, whose eventual total inheritance will make her the richest woman in the world.

A bright financial future assured by riches on both sides of the family awaits the child, due in August—the first baby of "the golden girl" who inherited the late James B. Duke's vast tobacco fortune.

Husband Also Wealthy.

Cromwell, United States minister to Canada and aspirant for the New Jersey Democratic nomination for United States senator, is not only prosperous in his own right, but is in line for a share of the Philadelphia Stotesbury fortune as the stepson of the late banker, E. T. Stotesbury.

The child will have a 2,400 acre playground with huge trees, velvety lawns, and gleaming statuary in "Duke Farms," Mrs. Cromwell's estate at Somerville, N. J.

Its nursery prospects are virtually unlimited, including the Cromwells' Hawaiian seaside retreat, "Shangri-La"; their cottage at Antibes, their North Carolina place and villas in Palm Beach and Newport.

Has $10,000,000 More Due.

Cromwell confirmed the expected birth today in Ottawa.

Mrs. Cromwell is 27. He is 43 and the father of a debutante daughter, Christine, 16, by his first marriage to wealthy Delphine Dodge.

Far more successful at avoiding the limelight than her cousin, the former Barbara Hutton, another famous heiress, Mrs. Cromwell has lived in comparative quiet.

At 22 she inherited her first $10,000,000. Another $10,000,000 went to her at 25, and she will receive a third $10,000,000 at 30.

Washington, D. C., April 23.—An agreement was signed today between Chile and the United States for an American military aviation mission to be sent to Chile to advise the Chilean air force. The agreement was requested by Chile. It is similar to others with several American republics.

GUFFEY LEADING IN DEMOCRATIC SENATE CONTEST

Pennsylvania G.O.P. Hopes to Top Rivals' Vote.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 24, Wednesday [Special].—Senator Joseph F. Guffey, aided by the blessing of President Roosevelt, steadily increased his lead early today in the count of votes cast yesterday in the heated contest to nominate a Democrat for the United States senate.

Returns from 3,801 of the state's 8,105 districts gave him 193,518 votes to 138,649 for his chief opponent, Walter A. Jones, wealthy western Pennsylvania oil man making his first bid for elective office. Far behind was William N. McNair, former Pittsburgh mayor.

Second place interest in the primary was attracted by the efforts of the Democratic and Republican parties to poll the larger total vote. President Roosevelt's name was on the presidential preference ballot, the only one there, having been filed by the Democratic state committee which indorsed him for a third term. The vote is not binding on delegates.

G. O. P. Provides Write-Ins.

Republicans filed no names but left spaces on the ballot for write-ins. G. O. P. leaders expected their preference votes to be split among a dozen favorites, but counted on their totals elsewhere on the ballots to keep their vote above that of the Democrats.

Democrats in 2,137 districts gave Mr. Roosevelt 184,127 votes. Thomas E. Dewey of New York was running ahead on Republican write-ins.

The support of President Roosevelt's name was thrown behind Senator Guffey's candidacy by Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] apparently in an 11th hour effort to offset the refusal of the state Democratic committee to indorse his renomination.

Barkley, the senate majority leader, said in a speech here about two weeks ago that "I know the President wants to continue his association and friendship with Senator Guffey."

Noninterference Pledged.

The President's blessing was thus indirectly conferred upon Guffey despite a White House announcement only two weeks before that Mr. Roosevelt would refrain from interference in the heated senatorial primary battle.

The Republican contest for the senatorial nomination was less spirited than that of the Democrats. Jay Cooke, Philadelphia city chairman, supported by his state organization, led his rivals by a wide margin.

Returns from 2,935 districts gave Cooke 281,686 votes compared to 83,053 for his closest rival, Albert H. Ladner Jr. of Philadelphia.

Both parties also nominated candidates for state treasurer and auditor general, 34 seats in congress, 208 in the state house of representatives, and 25 in the state senate.

Robin Caught by String Rescued After 18 Hours

Davenport, Ia., April 23 [Special].—After 18 hours of looping the loop a robin was rescued from the top of a 30 foot tree today. The bird became entangled in a string used in building a nest. The string knotted around the bird's leg and as it attempted to fly away, it would be swung around the branch of the tree and the length of the string shortened.

She's the Boss

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ANNA MACK.

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington appointed a new boss yesterday to save the romance of Anna and Lambert Mack. It's Mrs. Mack.

She's asking separate maintenance. Yesterday she came to court to ask temporary alimony. She said the trouble was the old boss—Mack. He chooses the menu, buys the groceries, selects the furnishings for the Mack home at 7803 Ridgeland avenue, and picks the clothes for his wife and their two sons, William, 3, and John, 2.

Mrs. Mack, who is 24, doesn't like it. The judge told Mack to turn over his pay check to his wife and let her be the boss for a week. If they still want to separate, the judge said, he'll hear Mrs. Mack's suit.

GOV. RIVERS CASE PASSED BACK TO COURT IN GEORGIA

New Orleans, La., April 23 (AP).—A federal Appellate court today dissolved an injunction against Gov. E. D. Rivers, left open a possibility the Georgia executive may be sentenced for contempt, but indicated belief such action would be superfluous.

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals passed the contempt case back to District Judge Bascom Deaver, who at Macon, Ga., held Rivers in contempt for defiance of Deaver's injunction against use of state troops in barring W. L. Miller from the state highway chairmanship.

Because sentence has not been imposed on the governor in the Middle Georgia district, the Circuit court held the contempt order was not appealable. Rivers brought his case to this court between the time he was arrested at Macon and a scheduled day when he was to appear to hear judgment. Rivers since has complied with court orders and reinstated Miller.

ELEVATOR OPERATOR, 74, DIES IN FALL.

Asks Court to Determine Who Shall Serve.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 23.—Lieut. Gov. John Stelle today filed his answer in McLean county Circuit court at Bloomington to a mandamus action which seeks a court order for Stelle to assume the acting governorship. The answer accepted a court adjudication of his status.

Stelle filed his answer as lieutenant governor and as an individual. He was represented by Joseph Depew and Oscar Hoose, Bloomington attorneys, and E. J. Coyle of Springfield. He disclaimed an answer filed in the name of himself and Gov. Henry Horner yesterday by Attorney General John E. Cassidy. He charged that Cassidy had no authorization to represent him in the case and added "the rights of Stelle and those of Horner are antagonistic."

Asks Motion's Withdrawal.

Stelle filed a formal motion asking the court to withdraw a motion to dismiss the action made in his behalf by Cassidy.

Stelle's answer related that as duly elected lieutenant governor he had attempted to carry out the provisions of the state constitution and to serve as acting governor during the disability of Gov. Horner.

He was ignored and thwarted, his answer said, by the attorney general, who issued an opinion that Gov. Horner still was governor, and by the secretary of state and other department heads. He is unable, therefore, without the aid of a court of competent jurisdiction, to assume the office of governor.

Urges Proper Determination.

"The proper determination of the questions raised is necessary for the welfare of the people of Illinois," Stelle's answer said. "If the allegations in the present suit are facts which can be substantiated to the satisfaction of the court, provisions of the state constitution with respect to the development on the lieutenant governor of the duties of governor in case of the disability of the governor should be enforced.

"The subject matter of this suit resolves itself into a question of whether constitutional guarantees and privileges shall be preserved."

The suit to which Stelle made answer today was brought by James McComb of Chicago, suing as a taxpayer. He asked that the court appoint a commission to establish Horner's physical and mental condition. Horner's answer was that the court lacks jurisdiction.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23 (AP).—Film Actor Lyle Talbot, now playing the romantic lead in a New York stage play, "Thanks for My Wife," lost his wife today. Mrs. Talbot, the former Marguerite Ethel Cramer of New York, won a divorce on ground of cruelty. The Talbots were married in March, 1937.

REPORT HORNER WILL RUN FOR U. OF I. TRUSTEE

Springfield, Ill., April 23 [Special].—Gov. Henry Horner, whose illness of a year and a half has resulted in a challenge of his ability to serve as chief executive, will be a candidate in November for trustee of the University of Illinois, it was reported at the statehouse today.

If a candidate for the payless post on the state-wide ballot, Gov. Horner would replace Harold Pogue, of Decatur, a WPA district director, who is believed to be disqualified for reelection under the Hatch act forbidding political activity by federal employés. Nominations for three trusteeships will be made at the Democratic state convention in May.

Sources close to the governor said he has set one condition in connection with his possible candidacy—that it meets with the approval of Harry B. Hershey, Democratic nominee for governor.

Gets 53,498 Votes for Gain of 11.4%.

Rockford, Ill., April 23 [Special].—Thomas E. Dewey ran 5,468 votes, or 11.4 per cent, ahead of the combined vote of all three candidates in the 1936 presidential preferential primary, it was shown today by a tabulation of April 9 ballots in the 12th congressional district.

The district consists of Winnebago, Boone, DeKalb, Grundy, Kendall, and La Salle counties, which include industrial as well as agricultural areas.

Dewey rolled up 53,498 votes, which was nearly 5,000 more than was received by the next high man on the Republican ticket—Noah M. Mason, candidate for congressman. In 1936 the late Senator William E. Borah received 27,439 votes, Frank Knox 20,520, and Alf M. Landon 71.

Vote Shows 8.3% Gain.

The total Republican vote of 61,342 in the six counties was 8.3 per cent in excess of the G. O. P. vote in the last preceding presidential year. It represented slightly smaller increases over the 1938 and 1934 primary totals.

Winnebago had 20,914 compared with 18,069 in 1936; Boone had 5,191 against 4,429; DeKalb showed 9,413 against 7,692; Grundy lagged with 4,659 compared with 6,058; Kendall spurted with 2,870 against 2,579, and La Salle showed a good gain with 18,295 against 17,770 in the previous presidential year.

Clerks Send in Reports.

Thomas E. Dewey, presidential preference	53,498
Noah M. Mason, congressman	48,238
Ernst E. Smith, National convention delegate	39,439
Ernest H. Pool, national convention delegate	37,435
Wayland Brooks, U. S. senator	33,657
Dwight H. Green, governor	32,804
Hugh W. Cross, lieutenant governor	19,205
Justus L. Johnson, secretary of state	23,816
Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor	7,483
Warren Wright, state treasurer	26,801
George F. Barrett, attorney general	10,931
William G. Stratton, congressman at large	25,962
Stephen A. Day, congressman at large	10,967

County clerks are sending their reports to Springfield, where the process of compilation is a long one which may not be completed for two weeks. Records of the counties are being collected according to congressional lines in advance of the secretary of state's report. These show a Republican trend which is expected to be supported by further compilations now being made.

STATE SETS UP A DIVISION OF CANCER CONTROL

Illinois placed its first cancer control program in effect yesterday. The state health department set up a division of cancer control and a cancer diagnostic service in the department's Chicago headquarters at 1800 Fillmore street.

Dr. A. C. Baxter, director of the department, announced in Springfield the appointment of Dr. R. V. Brokaw as chief of the division of control, with Dean D. J. Davis of the University of Illinois medical college as head of the division's advisory board. Dr. Brokaw is former city health officer of Springfield. Dr. Perry J. Melnick of Chicago will head the diagnostic service.

The new cancer institutions were authorized last year by the general assembly. Dr. Baxter said yesterday that their work would be largely educational.

PHONES HIS PLEA TO STOP THE WAR; EUROPE HANGS UP

New York, April 23 [Special].—Abraham Pickus, Cleveland, O., oil man, a telephonic peace campaigner who says he has spent $40,000 in his efforts since 1936, spent $83.80 more today. He made the overseas telephone circuits hum.

He met an immediate rebuff on efforts to advise British and French leaders to get around a big conference table. England and France, he was informed, would accept no calls except on official business. There were sun spots on the Berlin circuit, so his call to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop didn't get thru. The Japanese call was lost at sea, but Pickus got in his licks with Queen Wilhelmina's secretary and a Mr. Farace, secretary to Count Galeazzo Ciano, Premier Mussolini's foreign minister and son-in-law. Mussolini wasn't at home.

Queen Wilhelmina's secretary, who identified himself as Willem van Heenstra, asked "What's the matter?" Pickus promptly announced he wished the queen to call a round table conference of "Germany, England, and Mussolini." Van Heenstra merely gasped, "O!"

FIREMEN'S FACES LIGHT UP AS CITY VOTES MORE CASH

A penny a day will keep the burglars away, and put out the fires too, Mayor Mancel Talcott told Waukegan taxpayers. And so they voted almost two to one yesterday for a tax levy of 3 mills per $100 assessed valuation to increase the fire and police department funds.

The mayor and civic organizations explained that the levy will add about a cent a day to the average tax bill and stop payless pay days.

Salaries have been coming out of the departments' operating funds. But these funds have been insufficient. The policemen haven't had a pay day since January, and the firemen have gone payless five weeks. Last night they were broke but beaming.

Dewey Seems Assured of New Jersey's Votes

Englewood, N. J., April 23 (AP).—Thomas E. Dewey today seemed virtually assured of New Jersey's 32 votes on the first ballot in the Republican national convention. National Committeeman Daniel E. Pomeroy said he had received letters from all organization candidates for district delegates, few of whom are opposed, agreeing to indorse the results of the preferential primary, in which Dewey's name alone is entered. Two months ago the Republican state committee ratified a slate of four delegates-at-large and said they would abide by the preferential vote, which is advisory only.

DEWEY ASSAILS NEW DEAL BRAKE ON BUSINESSES

Blames the Depression on 'Vengeful Policies.'

Denver, Colo., April 23 (AP).—Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, assailed the Roosevelt administration tonight for "vengeful policies toward business" which he charged had throttled the "traditional desire of Americans to go into business for themselves."

Carrying his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination into Colorado less than two weeks before Colorado Republicans name their 12 delegates to the national convention, Dewey concentrated his attack on New Deal policies, which he contended injured small enterprises more than big business.

Deprived of Funds, He Says.

"It is clear," he said, "that our first task is to repair the damage done during this New Deal depression."

Business has been deprived of needed funds for expansion, Dewey said. The reason, he added, is: "The New Deal, by its destructive taxes on individuals, has driven investors of large means into tax exempt bonds of federal, state, and local governments."

The legal and technical costs of registering new security issues with the Security and Exchange commission, he contended, penalize the small business man.

The SEC registration costs for an issue of $25,000,000 of preferred stock in 1937 averaged 31 cents per $100 of new capital, Dewey said, compared with $3.01 per hundred for a $250,000 issue. He added:

"If, in spite of such burdens, a small enterprise does get new money for expansion, it is sure to encounter that looming specter of the New Deal—the tax collector."

Praises Colorado Governor.

A partial text of Dewey's speech as prepared for delivery follows:

"Here in Colorado you have seen what vigorous Republican leadership can do. That has been shown by the achievements of your own clear minded governor [Ralph L. Carr]. When he took office a little over a year ago he inherited from his Democratic predecessor an actual deficit of $1,800,000 and a prospective deficit of $7,000,000 more. Today there is no deficit.

"More than that, all this has been done without increasing taxes. It was done by competent administration.

"Gov. Carr, I wish to congratulate you on the inspiring example which you have set for the nation.

"You of Colorado are interested chiefly in agriculture and mining. But your prosperity is closely linked to the general well being of the whole of the United States. For the products of your soil and of your mines are sold thruout the country. Unless the rest of the country is prosperous enough to buy your products, there will be no prosperity in Colorado.

"Biggest Single Question."

"You know the condition of the country under the blundering régime of the New Deal. Nothing summarizes it better than the figures which must be repeated until they cease to be true—one out of five of our workers is unemployed.

"What is keeping these men out of jobs? After seven years of the New Deal that is still the biggest single question facing America.

"What is responsible for this large scale unemployment?

"It is not lack of tools or the money with which to make new tools. It is not lack of the essential raw materials. America has plenty of all these things. It is not lack of need for the product of labor. Few of us in this country have all we should like to have. Millions of us have far less than we need.

Intentions vs. Results.

"Whatever the real intentions of this administration may have been, prolonged depression and widespread unemployment have been the result of its policies. It has not relied upon the sound instincts of the American people. It has fostered the malignant growth of economic cure-alls. It has wasted the national substance in the purchase of economic 'gold bricks.'

"It has been unsuccessful in all of its attempts to revive our economic activity. It has sought to cover its failure by attempting to persuade the nation that the day of opportunity in America is over.

"Here is an example. On Nov. 17, 1935, Harry Hopkins, as administrator of the WPA said: 'I believe that under our present system we will have to face indefinitely the fact that many people will want jobs who cannot find them.'

"Vengeful Policies."

"Recently I pointed out how the New Deal, in pursuing its vengeful policies toward business, had actually hurt little business more than it had hurt big business. Tonight I want to pursue that subject a little further.

"In one respect the New Deal has been more successful than any other administration. It has done more than any previous administration to discourage the initiative of our people—to thwart the traditional desire of Americans to go into business for themselves.

"But this administration has done even more than that. There are still some who, even under present adverse conditions, are willing to risk their savings in new business ventures which create jobs. But they have found government throwing additional obstructions across their path.

"A new and growing business needs funds for expansion. Yet the New Deal, by its destructive taxes on individuals, has driven investors of large means into tax-exempt bonds of federal, state, and local governments.

He Discusses Flexibility.

"The great competitive strength of small business in our economy is its flexibility. This flexibility enables small business to adjust itself readily to changing conditions. But taxes are not flexible. Burocratic restrictions and regulations are not flexible. The prohibitive costs of raising new money are not flexible. The New Deal has succeeded in destroying the great competitive advantage of flexibility, which the small business has hitherto enjoyed and which has enabled it to expand and provide more jobs.

"Let us see now just how well small business has fared under the New Deal.

"We have figures compiled by the treasury of the United States for the years 1931-'37. They show the profits or losses of all the corporations of the country for those years. Now in any year some businesses make money. But take small business as a whole—the group with assets under $50,000. The treasury figures show that this group did not make a profit in any single year of this period, including 1937, the best year we have had under the New Deal. Since neither 1938 nor 1939 was as good a business year as 1937, it is safe to say that small business as a whole has lost money every year under the New Deal. That calls for prompt correction.

Demands Prompt Correction.

"The hard fact is that while the New Deal has kept the country's business as a whole in a state of depression, it has damaged small business more than it has damaged big business. That calls for prompt correction.

"It is clear that our first task is to repair the damage done during this New Deal depression. The number of new enterprises started in 1939 fell below the average of the 1920s by 21 per cent. In 1937 there were still 42 thousand less manufacturing companies in this country than there were in 1929.

"What does this kind of thing mean in terms of jobs? There were still 1,618,000 less jobs in factories in 1937 than there were in 1929.

"Where is the greatest proportionate deficiency of jobs? It is in the small businesses. The working forces of the biggest corporations—those with sales of over a million dollars a year—were less than 2 per cent smaller than in 1929. But the working forces of the business concerns with a sales volume of from five to twenty thousand dollars a year were over 20 per cent less than in 1929. That calls for prompt correction.

Great from Small.

"Small enterprises are the beginnings from which great institutions grow. They are the nourishing feeders of our whole economy. A normal government, pursuing healthful policies, would foster the growth of such enterprises rather than restrain and destroy them.

"The small business men of this country ask no special favors from government. They ask only that the government work for the welfare of the whole country.

"They ask that this new administration shall believe in the continued progress of the people of the United States. They ask that the administration bend every effort to encourage enterprise. They demand that it unwind the red tape which shackles commercial ventures. They demand that it revise the New Deal legislation which hampers business expansion.

"In such an atmosphere small business enterprises could once more flourish. It is necessary that they should flourish, for they are the very roots of our prosperity. No little business, no new business. No new business, no new jobs. No new jobs, no hope for the future for our young men and women."

ELDER EXPLAINS RACE FOR BENCH: HE SEEKS TO BARE COURT EVILS

Edgar B. Elder, Republican nominee for the Municipal court vacancy, explained last night why he will not withdraw from the contest to eliminate the need for a special election June 3 at a cost of $300,000. Last week Elder agreed to let the Chicago Bar association decide whether he or his Democratic opponent, George L. Quilici, should retire from the race.

"The Democrats already have 36 of the 37 judgeships in the court," Elder said. "If they insist upon trying to get an additional place on the bench, it is clearly they who would be responsible for the spending of the money for an election.

"But there is a greater issue at stake. Going thru with the election would throw the glare of publicity on the intolerable conditions in the court. This would result in correcting those conditions to some extent and produce an eventual economy. If the election is not held, the court situation will be lost sight of in the fall campaign, when 12 judges are to be elected."

New York's Little Hatch Act Signed by Lehman

Albany, N. Y., April 23 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today signed the so-called little Hatch bill. It prohibits the use of relief funds, intimidation of relief workers, or solicitation of campaign funds from persons on relief in elections for New York state offices.

OLD MEN'S FACES ON BABIES: STORY OF ORANG-UTANS

Zoo's New Prizes Appear Almost Human.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Years ago white men exploring the wilds of the East Indies heard weird, man-like cries echoing thru the jungles. They glimpsed brown-skinned bodies flashing against the green background of the Indonesian forests.

Pursuing the cries and shadows, the explorers found themselves encircled by great, hairy beings. The creatures stood off and scrutinized the men with goblin-like expressions. One of them reached out a massive hand as if in greeting. The primitive man had been found!

Exhibited as Circus Freaks.

That was the assumption of the early hunters who came across the orang-utan, one of the four great apes of the animal kingdom. The men were quick to make money on their discovery. Several of the man-like apes were captured, and old time circus goers will remember seeing in side shows the "Wild Man from Borneo."

Visitors to the Lincoln Park zoo, where the youngest pair of orang-utans in captivity in this country were housed yesterday, will understand the explorers' mistaken judgment. These animals, with their baby bodies and old men's faces, act almost human.

With soft, quizzical eyes the two orangs, a male and female, stared at yesterday's visitors. They clung to the arms of Floyd S. Young, director of the zoo, and quieted under his gentle commands. The male orang-utan reached out and shook hands with a man next to him.

Complete 15,000 Mile Trip.

The animals will become more tame as they become accustomed to their new home. Yesterday they were shy because they had just completed a 15,000 mile journey from the Island of Sumatra. It also had been a long and tedious trip for Arthur Foehl, famed animal collector, who tended these delicate animals personally. He had watched over their health for more than a month.

Captured in Bengkoeloe on the west coast of Sumatra, the orang-utans were shipped from the port of Belawan-Deli and across the Indian ocean to Cape Town, Africa. The trip from Cape Town to New York lasted 35 days. They arrived in Williamstown, N. J., last Thursday.

To preserve their present health, they were flown by THE TRIBUNE'S plane to Chicago.

The purchase of the animals entailed a special permit from the Dutch government which had placed an embargo on their export.

The embargo was ordered at the request of Sumatra natives who are fond of the animals. Collectors had been ruthlessly killing old orang-utans to capture young ones.

Suckled by Native Woman.

The zoo's new female orang-utan was purchased from a native woman by Mr. Foehl. The native had suckled the animal for two years. It now weighs 20 pounds. The male, 35 pounds, was bagged with a special net by the animal collector. He had routed a colony of orangs from their jungle haunt and in the uproar of the escape the young male had been left behind.

"Orang-utan" means in the Malayan tongue, "the wild man of the woods." These red-haired, long-armed, funny-faced creatures are found in Borneo and Sumatra. They are distinguished from African apes by their long, coarse hair.

Agile in their native jungles, they rock themselves to sleep each evening by grasping branches of trees. They construct tree beds, 30 feet up from the jungle floor, and sleep in them only a few nights in succession. When one bed sags, they make another.

They're Great Fighters.

Thirst brings them down from the jungle vines and branches. But even then they keep keen eyes open for their two great enemies, the crocodile and the python. If they meet these stealthy antagonists, however, they do not turn and run. They stay and fight, usually victorious. Orang-utans are strict vegetarians. They do not prey on smaller animals but search the forest daily for fresh fruits, eggs, fleshy leaves, and bamboo shoots.

In captivity they are fed on milk, eggs, lettuce, and all varieties of fruits and vegetables. They can be taught to eat at a table with knives and forks. Tia, the 18 year old female orang-utan at Brookfield zoo, is a fastidious eater. She punches a neat hole in her daily egg and sucks the contents delicately.

Great care must be taken with orang-utans away from their native tropical climate. Susceptible to lung diseases, they often fall victims of tuberculosis. There are at present approximately six full grown members of the species in the United States. Only one born in captivity [at St. Louis, Mo.] has lived. Nancy, who died two years ago at Lincoln park zoo, gave birth to two babies, but could not nurse them.

Late Barney One of Oldest.

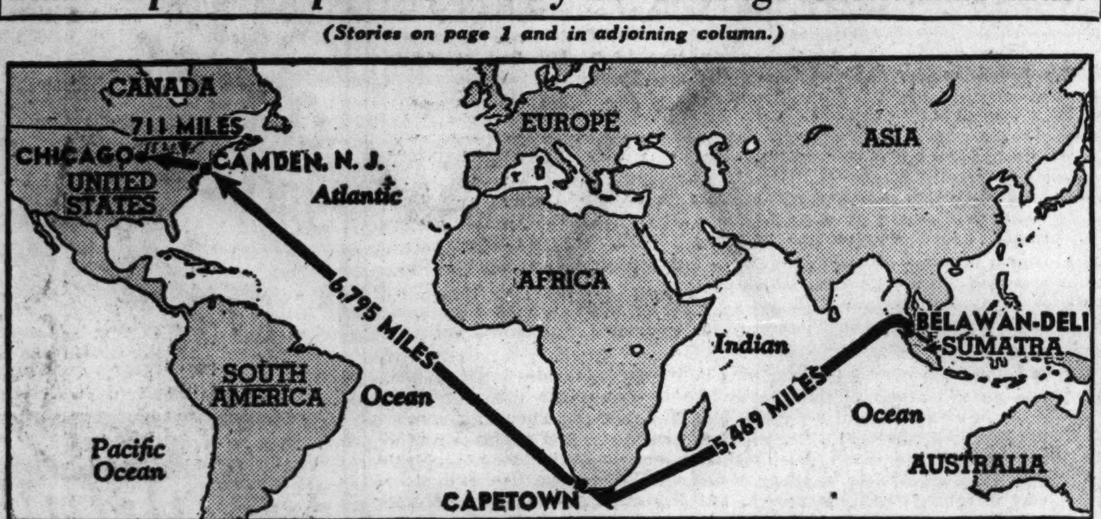
Barney, the 20 year old Borneo orang-utan who died last February at Lincoln park, was one of the oldest and largest in this country. At one time he weighed 360 pounds, and his arm reach was over 8 feet. In Sumatra and Borneo the animals grow to weigh 250 and 400 pounds and reach maturity at 16 years. Rarely do they live more than 25 years.

Under Mr. Young, Lincoln park zoo has been famous for its care of anthropoids. Sunny, a Borneo orang-utan, lived to be 14 years old, and Jiggs, of the Sumatra species, was nursed for years thru tuberculosis. Jiggs died two and a half years ago.

The glassed-in cage of the two newcomers will be heated to the temperature of their native forests and only the freshiest of fruits and vegetables will make up their daily diet.

Rare Apes Complete Journey to Chicago from Far East

(Stories on page 1 and in adjoining column.)



Heavy black line marks route of journey made by two rare and youthful orang-utans from the port of Belawan-deli in Sumatra to Chicago. The beasts made the last leg of the journey from Camden, N. J., to Chicago airport in the Tribune airplane (below). They were then taken to Lincoln park zoo.

EX-PROSECUTORS GET 14 MONTHS EACH IN FIX CASE

Two former assistant United States district attorneys and an alcohol peddler were sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone to 14 months in Leavenworth penitentiary. They are Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, the former prosecutors, and Louis Kaplan. They had been found guilty of conspiracy to fix bootleg cases.

Two co-defendants escaped with lesser sentences. Attorney Alfred Roth, following a tearful plea to the bench, was fined $500, and Anthony Horton, colored, a bond runner, got a suspended sentence of one year and a day and was placed on two years' probation.

Before passing sentence Judge Stone denied the motion for a new trial, and read a statement in which he stressed the importance of keeping justice "pure and untarnished" if government is to remain stable.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorneys Martin Ward and Francis McGreal. The jury deliberated nearly 16 hours before reaching a verdict March 8.

LABORER STABBED IN FIGHT.

Estawilas Gomez, 44 years old, 840 West 14th street, a laborer, was stabbed in the abdomen yesterday in a fight at Roosevelt road and Ashland avenue. He is in serious condition in county hospital.

10 TAKEN BEFORE GRAND JURY IN VICE SQUAD QUIZ

James A. Brown, assistant state's attorney, yesterday brought 10 witnesses before the April grand jury in connection with the recent inquiry into activities of four members of the police vice squad at the 1st district. Disclosures made by Capt. John I. Howe of the police commissioner's office brought the dismissal of Policemen William J. Karney, Elmer Johnson, Francis O'Malley, and Edward Hickey. The investigation followed charges of police shakedowns and solicitation for attorneys.

Brothers Fight Over War; One Shot Dead; Other Held

Huntington, W. Va., April 23 (AP).—An argument between two brothers over the war in Europe ended tonight in the death of Carlos A. Morrison, 26 years old, and the arrest of his brother Clyde, 40, on a murder charge. The shooting, which occurred in front of the Morrison store at Winslow, resulted from a dispute over whether the English or German army was the strongest. Carlos Morrison received a master of science degree from the University of Notre Dame.

WHAT'S AHEAD IN RADIO (1)

By CALEB

BACK in 1918, the present head of our radio section was getting the feel of life as a wireless operator on the U.S.S. New Hampshire. What I am about to retell, in pretty much his own words, he still declares was the thrill of his young career.

"One night I was sitting at my instrument in the 'Spook Watch' . . . that long, still, dead interval between midnight and 4 a. m., when the world seems friendlier to ghosts than to human beings. Suddenly, out of the silence of my headphone, I heard instead of dots and dashes a human voice! 'G three I, G three I,' it called. That was my signal, all right—but I couldn't believe in the reality of that voice!

"I decided I'd been dreaming. The voice stopped. I had been dreaming. I smiled. Minutes went by. Then, all at once, I heard it again! 'G three I, G three I.' This time I snapped on my spark transmitter, answered in wireless code—and presently we were carrying on a weird conversation indeed. Dots and dashes at one end, a human voice at the other!

"That was my first encounter with radio voice-transmission. What had happened was that our sister ship, the U. S. S. South Carolina, had beaten us into Norfolk, had had a 112-meter radiophone put on board, and my wireless pal had tried it out on me—in the eery hours of the 'Spook Watch'!"

Radio, as he reminded me, began in the Navy; wireless telegraphy—in the purely humanitarian role of life-saving medium for ships in distress. Its familiar SOS was the dramatic means to many a timely rescue. Then, around 1920, came the first primitive attempts at commercialization . . . with hundreds of households gathered breathless at kitchen tables, while someone listening through the earphones caught faint, uncanny vocal or musical emanations from KDKA. The crystal set! Remember?

After that frail beginning, the next dozen years brought some pretty rapid strides. The loudspeaker arrived, bringing increased power that gave greater volume at greater distance. Next came the cabinet radio, and shortly after, about 1927, we were able to use light-socket operation. Then in 1928 the dynamic speaker made its appearance, and we got fuller, deeper tone. With 1932 came the revolutionary "superheterodyne circuit," invented by Maj. Edwin H. Armstrong, and along with it a second stride: "short wave" for foreign reception. . . . It would seem that, technically, Radio had reached its goal—but there is more to the story than that. Much more. Word-of-mouth and printed page, for example, are now juggling the mystic phrase, Frequency Modulation. The public is asking questions—and factual answers are in order, which we shall presently supply.

M. L. ANNENBERG PLEADS GUILTY OF TAX EVASION

Admits 1 Income Charge; Sentence Delayed.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Moses L. Annenberg of Philadelphia, newspaper publisher who is reputed to have one of the largest incomes in the country, stepped out of a crowd of co-defendants and lawyers yesterday before Judge James H. Wilkerson in federal District court and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with evading payment of $1,217,296 in income taxes for 1936.

He announced, thru his attorney, Weymouth Kirkland, that he is prepared to settle all income tax claims the government has against him for the years 1933 to 1936, inclusive.

The government places his personal liability for these years at $5,548,384, including interest and penalties, and estimates another $3,500,000 as taxes due on corporations he controls—a total of more than $9,000,000.

Co-Defendant Pleads Guilty.

Joseph Hafner, another defendant, pleaded guilty of aiding and abetting Annenberg on the 1936 income count. Eleven other defendants, including Annenberg's son, Walter H., said they were not guilty on this count. The 13 entered pleas of not guilty on five remaining counts in this indictment. These 13 and four others also pleaded not guilty on five other income tax indictments, in which varying numbers of them are named.

Annenberg and Hafner will be sentenced May 23 on their guilty pleas. They face a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, or both. United States Attorney William J. Campbell said all other income charges against these two would be dismissed. What will happen to the other defendants has not been determined, but the government is prepared to go to trial May 23 on one indictment naming seven of them.

End of First Chapter.

Thus, in a quietly dramatic manner, was written the end of one chapter in the government's long fight against Annenberg and the tremendous racing information empire he created. The next chapter will be the conferences to settle the income tax claims and to determine what action the prosecutors will take on three other indictments, two of them involving lottery charges against Annenberg and the racing information service.

The courtroom was packed yesterday morning when the Annenberg cases were called. District Attorney Campbell, two of his assistants, Auston Hall and William Crilly, and Elmer L. Irey, chief of the intelligence unit of the treasury department, sat at one table. Kirkland and other defense counsel, including Francis X. Busch, representing Hafner, sat at another. The defendants milled before the bench.

First Indictment Called.

The first indictment was called. It charged aiding, assisting, and counseling in the preparation of false and fraudulent income tax returns. The defendants were the Annenbergs, father and son, and Hafner and Arnold W. Kruse, both officials of the Cecelia company, top holding firm for the Annenberg enterprises.

Annenberg, who is 63 years old and is tall, thin, and graying, came forward. He wore a dark suit, a blue shirt, and a blue tie.

"Not guilty," he said. His son, shorter and stockier, said likewise, as did Hafner and Kruse.

The next case involved the Consensus Publishing company, which put out racing rundown sheets for bookmakers.

Eight Defendants Named.

Here the defendants were the senior Annenberg, Kruse, the latter's son, Lester K.; Jules Taylor, former confidential secretary to Annenberg; James M. Ragen Jr., and James M. Ragen Sr. of the Nationwide News Service [key Annenberg service for supplying horse race results to bookies, which has been dissolved], William Molasky, head of the consensus company, and Herbert S. Kamin, general counsel for the Annenberg subsidiaries.

The charge was the evasion of $52,995 in income taxes on the Consensus company for the years 1933 to 1936, inclusive. The defendants pleaded not guilty.

The third indictment named 13 defendants. They were both the Annenbergs, both the Ragens, the senior Kruse, Hafner, Kamin, Taylor, Charles W. Bidwill of the Bentley Murray Publishing company, and Harry Friedman, L. Stanley Kahn, Aaron Trosch, and Julius J. Smith, other employés and associates of Annenberg. This indictment contained five counts, listing tax evasions for the years 1933 to 1936, inclusive, and a sixth count of conspiracy.

Attorneys Enter Pleas.

Annenberg and Hafner came forward, ranging themselves next to Attorneys Kirkland and Busch.

"In this matter," said Kirkland, "I would like to enter a plea of guilty to the fifth count [involving the year 1936] for Moses L. Annenberg."

"I enter a similar plea for Hafner," said Busch.

"A year and a half ago," Kirkland continued, "Mr. Annenberg and I, as his counsel, on more than one occasion stated to the department of justice our desire for an opportunity to discuss any taxes he might owe the government.

"Because of the rule of the department of justice not to discuss the settlement of any income tax case until it is disposed of in court, I am now assured, thru this plea, that we will be given the earliest opportunity to sit down and discuss settlement of the taxes due from Annenberg for any of the corporations in which he is interested.

Wish for Settlement Told.

"A settlement has always been Mr. Annenberg's desire. Before sentence is passed I wish to show mitigating circumstances and a lack of moral turpitude by Mr. Annenberg."

In a supplemental written statement, Kirkland said: "Mr. Annenberg was influenced by the fact that any alternative would involve years of trying and expensive litigation. At the same time, he hopes to dispose of the civil claims for taxes that have been and will be made against him and the companies in which he is interested. He further hopes that by taking the responsibility upon himself, so far as he can, this will be taken into consideration by the government and the court in connection with the charges pending against his associates and employés.

"We feel confident that the absence of any serious charge of moral turpitude will appear, and Mr. Annenberg asks that judgment be reserved on this."

Other Charges Dismissed.

Campbell then announced the dismissal of the other income tax charges against Annenberg and Hafner and said there has been no agreement by the government as to sentences to be imposed. The eleven other defendants in this indictment pleaded not guilty and they and Annenberg and Hafner made similar pleas to the other five counts in the indictment.

The fourth indictment accused the elder Kruse of evading $61,052 in income taxes for the years 1933 to 1936, inclusive, and the fifth charged the senior Ragen with evasion of $288,481 in taxes for the same years. Both pleaded not guilty.

The sixth indictment charged evasion of $14,874 in income taxes for the years 1931 to 1937, inclusive, by the Min-Haf Publishing company, distributor of run down sheets. Defendants were the elder Annenberg, Hafner, Taylor, the elder Ragen, and Fred W. Minicus and Ernest B. Fischer, officials of Min-Haf. All pleaded not guilty.

Three Indictments Not Called.

Three other indictments were not called. They do not involve income taxes. Two of them charge operation of a lottery in the distribution of rundown sheets and the workings of Nationwide News Service. Defendants in both are the elder Annenberg, the elder Ragen, and Bidwill. The other indictment charges an attempt to bribe a federal grand jury witness during the investigation of the Annenberg empire.

After the court hearing, District Attorney Campbell said he had informed the attorney general's office in Washington, D. C., of Annenberg's plea of guilty. Campbell said he expects to confer with the attorney general and treasury officials in Washington next week concerning disposition of all the cases.

Campbell said he also will seek to determine whether Annenberg owes any income taxes for the years 1937 and 1938.

"The defendants who pleaded not guilty certainly will not be discharged," Campbell said. "But, in view of Annenberg's guilty plea, the whole matter will be reconsidered."

VICTIM WHO GOT AWAY RISES UP TO PLAGUE KLAN

Unscathed by Flogging Crew, He Tells Jury.

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., April 23.—The Ku Klux Klan, in its nocturnal pursuit of what it euphemistically called justice, occasionally lost a victim. Such was the fate of James W. Wilkes, a young truck driver, who, cornered by the klan's flogging detail in 1938, managed to break away unscathed.

Henry Cauthon.

Wilkes told his experiences to a jury in Superior court here during the trial of Henry Cauthon, leader of the klan's whipping crew, on charges of assault and battery.

Today, however, his ex-wife took the stand in Cauthon's defense to tell the jury what a "bad, bad" reputation her former husband had. Personally, she assured them with a righteous, bright smile, she wouldn't believe him under oath.

Wife Denies Calling Floggers.

Mrs. Wilkes, whose maiden name was Iwana Camp, was tight lipped self-assured, and rather grim about it all. She denied under crossexamination that she had asked the Klan to flog her husband, but she admitted that she made no complaint, besought no aid, when he was jerked from their home into the night.

She also denied that her father, J. W. Camp, is a member of the Klan. Later she must have chewed her finger nails in chagrin, for Camp, also brought by the defense to tell of the villainous reputation of his former son-in-law, was forced to admit he was a klansman.

Camp, a WPA carpenter, was coy about it. When Solicitor General John A. Boykin, fortified with the East Point [Ga.] Klan roster of 300 members, read off various names to him, Camp denied knowing each man.

Of Cauthon he said: "I might have seen him." Similarly with W. W. Scarborough, exalted cyclops.

Later, forced to admit he had been a klansman—["But I haven't been there since February"] he added of Cauthon: "I said I didn't know him personally."

Leader of Klan Parade.

Delmar Evans, a mechanic who worked for Cauthon in his garage, definitely placed him in the society of klansmen and of the 15 other men who face flogging indictments. A list from the klan roster was read to him, too, and to each name Evans responded: "Well, I seen him at Henry's place."

"Did you ever see Henry in a klan parade?" Defense Attorney Reuben Garland continued.

"Yes, sir," Evans replied promptly.

"Where was he?" asked the attorney.

"He was leading the parade," Evans replied innocently.

The general contention of the defense, as it goes into its second day, seems to be that maybe men were flogged down in East Point, but if so, they deserved it, being nefarious characters.

Deacon's a Drinker, Too.

Several Baptist deacons popped up today to chat [from the witness chair] about Oscar Conkle, flogged with his son, Levi. Oscar, it seemed, was a heavy drinker, but so, it developed from the stand, was the Baptist deacon, John Milam, and his son, Ralph. The latter had been arrested for inebriation.

The deacon didn't think Oscar had been flogged, anyway, he said, for just the next week he got Oscar to help him build a privy he was giving to the Stockbridge, Ga., Baptist church, where he helps take up the money every Sunday.

Similarly with Tom Parker, now on the chain gang for wife-beating. Parker took a day off last week to testify for the state as to how he was flogged. He has no charge against Cauthon, but three men, one of them his father-in-law, came to court today to tell of Parker's bad character. "Spats with his wife and drinks whisky," one said. "That's what they say."

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 30.

1. Moss usually grows on which side of a tree trunk north south east west.
2. Neptune, mythical god of the sea, is usually pictured holding a mermaid scythe swan trident.
3. Students of a rival college recently smeared red paint over the stone monuments of a midwestern university. Their behavior is usually called communism anarchy vandalism sabotage.
4. Which of the following sought the fountain of youth Cortez Methuselah Ponce de Leon Ricardo.
5. If you overheard a workman say, "I'll fix it as soon as I get my dolly," he would most likely be a carpenter machinist farmer painter.
6. A widely advertised lecturer was delivering an address about his trip to the arctic circle. He vividly described the blizzards and dangers which he and his party had encountered. Then he showed his audience some pelts and souvenirs which he had personally collected near the north pole, included among which were a polar bear skin, a seal skin, a penguin, and an Eskimo dog. The audience was delighted with his speech, but the chairman of the meeting refused to pay the speaker, alleging that he was a fraud. On what did he base this charge of fraud?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

DEATH PENALTY DEMANDED FOR KILLER OF GIRL

Crawfordsville, Ind., April 23 [Special].—Death in the electric chair was asked today for Thomas A. Boys, former groundskeeper at a golf club in Attica, when presentation of evidence was begun in his trial for the sex slaying of a farm girl 11 years old.

Thomas A. Boys.

Boys has entered two pleas—not guilty and not guilty because of unsound mind. He is charged with first degree murder in the rape, beating, and strangling of Elizabeth De Bruicker, a pretty Fountain county girl, last July 21. Police said Boys confessed the slaying but denied he raped the girl.

The death penalty was demanded by Roy C. Fenters, Fountain county prosecutor, who described the slaying as a horrible crime.

Boys is 28 years old, married, and the father of three small children. He was fined and given a suspended sentence in 1935 for molesting a 9 year old girl.

CENSUS TAKER, WIFE OF ACCUSED THIEF, WINS BAIL

Mrs. Antoinette Zeschke, 2408 Whipple street, appeared yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of violating her oath as a census enumerator. She was freed on $500 bond pending arraignment next Tuesday. Her husband, Edwin, was seized by police Saturday after he allegedly robbed the home of Mrs. Barbara Yazuniz, 2840 South Christiana avenue, April 13, while posing as an enumerator. Mrs. Zeschke is accused of having permitted him to use her credentials. Zeschke is said to have taken two rings worth $25.

Girl, 3, Severely Scalded as She Upsets Percolator

Jennie Nichols, 3 years old, 2512 West 69th street, was a visitor Monday evening in the home of L. H. Edwards at 218 West 59th street. Seizing the end of a tablecloth, the child pulled at it, overturning a percolator and scalding herself with boiling coffee. Yesterday she was reported in a serious condition at the Woodlawn hospital.

DOOMED SLAYER INSANE, ALIENIST TELLS JURORS

Dr. Alexander S. Hershfield, former state alienist, yesterday testified before Judge John F. Bolton in Criminal court that three examinations had convinced him Victor Nukowski, 24 years old, a condemned slayer, is insane.

Nukowski is being given a sanity hearing before a mixed jury. He and Henry Drewek, 22, and Frank Michalowski, 25, are under sentence of death for the fatal shooting of Viggo P. Peterson, 64, during a tavern holdup Oct. 13 at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue.

Nukowski's death date is set for Friday. The others recently were granted reprieves to May 17. Dr. Hershfield said yesterday that Nukowski suffered from delusions and could not control his emotions. He stated that Nukowski described the visits to his cell of imaginary women, and that, on occasion, he chased imaginary mice. Nukowski wore shoes and socks yesterday. The day before he sat barefooted at the hearing.

Three Youths Sentenced for Holdup at Elkhart

Elkhart, Ind., April 23 [Special].—Pleading guilty to felonious assault and automobile banditry, Raymond Kelly, 21 years old, and William Mahoney, 24, were sentenced today to 15 years in the penitentiary, and William Kelley, 17, an accomplice, was sentenced to 10 years. They were caught after being routed as they attempted to hold up Joseph Levin, Main street merchant, who threw a tray of fish hooks at them.

CARROZZO LABOR COERCION CHARGE PROBED BY G-MEN

Files of Paving Concerns Studied in Inquiry.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Officials of Chicago paving companies revealed last night that treasury agents are investigating charges that Mike Carrozzo, rich czar of 25 street and construction unions, forced contributions of labor and materials in the construction of his two Indiana estates. The officials admitted that federal agents working on Carrozzo's income taxes have gone thru their books for records of such transactions.

Carrozzo, who began his Chicago career as a bodyguard for Big Jim Colosimo, vice lord, has two estates. One, at Long Beach, Ind., is called the Villa C. and is appraised at $75,000. The other is a costly, barricaded retreat near Hobart, Ind., in Lake county. This place is called Superior Farms.

Proof of Work Sought.

G-men, it is reported, are seeking proof that companies which Carrozzo can ruin with his unions built a swimming pool, a tennis court, giant silos and barns, and did paving and miscellaneous concrete jobs on the estates and weren't paid for materials or labor.

Federal agents heard that one construction company laid concrete floors for Mike's fancy chicken coops, built three big silos on the Hobart farm, and paved roads for the 840 acre estate. The work cost the company $20,000, according to the report under investigation.

Nathan Biederman, president of the Arcole Construction company and its subsidiary, the Midwest Construction company, said last night that the government has had agents in the offices of his companies seeking proof of work done for Carrozzo.

Books Open, Says Officer.

"I have nothing to hide," said Biederman. "The books are available for all to see. Carrozzo never asked us to work on his estates."

Sam Naninni, president of the Rock Road Construction company, 5915 Rogers avenue, said his company had built a patented multicolored tennis court at Carrozzo's Villa C. He said Carrozzo paid for the job.

"There is no truth to reports that we did $20,000 worth of work at Villa C without being paid," Naninni said. "Government agents have gone thru my records. I have had only one city contract for asphalt mixture in several years."

Describes Scrutiny of Books.

Arthur O'Connor, assistant sales manager of the Material Service company, which sells the bulk of the street construction supplies used in Cook county, said government officials have been studying his company's books in connection with reports that gifts of materials had been made to Carrozzo.

"We never at any time have given or sold materials to Carrozzo," O'Connor said. "Our business is selling to contractors, and we don't give materials away."

Carrozzo, whose 15,000 union members pay dues of $2 a month, acquired his first estate, Villa C, in 1934. The house, two and a half stories, overlooks a private beach. Carrozzo had the house and a caretaker's cottage renovated and added a rock garden, a tennis court, and a sturdy fence, which, according to neighbors, can be electrified.

Barn Nearly 300 Feet Long.

Superior Farms lies along highway No. 6, about 50 miles from Chicago. A visitor drives nearly a mile between high steel fences before reaching the main buildings, and then a heavy, iron barred gate blocks the way.

Behind the gate is a white pillared framehouse, three enormous silos, and a barn, nearly 300 feet long, said to be one of the largest in the middle west. Here Mike keeps his blooded stock, including horses which have taken blue ribbons at the Lake county, Ind., fair.

News that Carrozzo had spent a huge sum on his farms interested the federal government, and an investigation of his income and his relations with contractors and materials men is going on.

HOLD SALESMAN ON CHARGE OF STEALING $8,000

George P. Granberry, a salesman for the wholesale grocery firm of Sprague Warner & Co., was arrested last night on his employers' complaint that he had embezzled $8,000 in company funds. The company charged that he collected old accounts and failed to report the collections. Granberry is 40 years old. He lives with his wife and two children at 512 Walker street, Michigan City. The salesman was questioned by Policemen Cornelius Moynahan and Leo Hemrick and locked up at the East Chicago avenue station.

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?

Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing

"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do.

Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use.

Stir a little STERA-KLEEN in water, put in your plate or bridge for a few minutes. Rinse, and it is ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30¢ a package at any drug store.

URGES EFFORTS TO REHABILITATE MEN IN PRISON

Justice Paul Farthing of the Illinois Supreme court last night asserted that the state's parole problem could be solved only by a systematic attempt to begin the rehabilitation of offenders while they are prisoners. He spoke at the banquet of the seventh annual convention of the Central States Probation and Parole association in the Hotel Sherman.

Justice Farthing.

"Our problem is the more complicated," he said, "because in comparison with other countries, our prison enforcement too slow. In 1930 all prisoners sentenced to convict prisons in England numbered 536, whereas in the United States a single state will send 1,000 men a month to prison."

Justice Farthing suggested the extension of prison industries to provide craft training and the segregation of prisoners who could be rehabilitated from hardened offenders.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy reviewed his attempt to eradicate slot machines from the state. He said that two years ago 15,000, returning a gross revenue of $15,000,000 a year, were operating with the toleration of local officials, but that the state government had "removed this racket."

The present requirement in the state parole law that prisoners about to be paroled must be assured of employment was attacked by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, chief justice of the Cook county Circuit court.

He asserted the employment rule is responsible for false guarantees of jobs by sponsors of parolees and that in some cases it means the dismissal of innocent jobholders without criminal records to make room for men paroled from prisons.

"I am of the opinion," Judge Harrington said, "that some legislative steps should be taken to correct the absurdity that exists in our law with reference to employment of a parolee."

EXPECT SCALISE WILL BE INDICTED BY TOMORROW

Jury Sifts Million Dollar Racket Charges.

New York, April 23 [Special].—One of the most comprehensive indictments ever returned by a grand jury here is expected Thursday against union leaders said to be involved in a million dollar racket in the building service field.

Altho attorneys refused to discuss the case, it was reported reliably today that the indictment would contain from 20 to 25 counts and that those named in it would include George Scalise, ex-convict president of the Building Service Employés' international union; Isidore Schwartz, official eastern representative of the international, and his brother, Louis Schwartz, president of the union's local 32-J.

200 Year Sentence Possible.

If Scalise is named and convicted under the expected indictment, it was reported that he could, as a second offender, be sentenced to a maximum of 200 years in prison.

Scalise appeared today before Judge Jacob Schurman Jr., in General Sessions court under the complaint of extortion on which he was arrested Sunday. Judge Schurman, sitting as a magistrate, postponed the hearing until Friday. Nathaniel Kaplan, assistant district attorney, announced that the sitting grand jury would have ended its investigation by then and returned an indictment superseding the extortion charges.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, campaigning in Los Angeles, telephoned that Scalise was to be arrested and he later added specific instruction that an investigation be made into the method of raising the money for $60,000 given as bail. Scalise's bond was for $40,000, and for his confidential secretary, Miss Ann Kaye, material witness, $20,000.

Union Posts Cash.

Today in Chicago, the executive committee of the international adopted a resolution authorizing the deposit of $30,000 in place of the checks given by John Kadel, Scalise's attorney, in raising the bail. The committee also guaranteed in its resolution that Scalise would not become a fugitive from justice.

Kadel also said he had offered to produce Scalise in the district attorney's office any time he was wanted.

3,500 Delegates Expected at Midwest Safety Parley

The 18th annual Midwest Safety conference will open Tuesday in the Sherman hotel. It will continue three days. More than 3,500 delegates from 20 states, Canada, and Hawaii will attend. The meeting was announced by George G. Traver, manager of the Greater Chicago Safety council, conference sponsors.

WORKERS ARE BEATEN AND STRIKER IS SHOT IN MT. VERNON FIGHTS

Mt. Vernon, Ill., April 23 [Special].—A striker was shot and five workmen were beaten last night and today in violences at the plant of the Mt. Vernon Car Manufacturing company, which has been closed by a strike since Feb. 5. It was the first bloodshed since the strike began.

Charges were filed today against two Negroes held in the city jail in connection with the shooting last night of Kelly Rector, a striker. He was shot in his left leg in front of his home when he fought with the two colored men who were on their way home from work in the plant.

Charles Warfield, 65 years old, a company employé, was beaten severely on a downtown street.

Clinton McCabe said 50 men were in the group that assaulted him when he went to the plant this morning to go to work. Bus Moss, colored, was beaten on his way home last night and two unidentified photographers also were beaten.

CHICAGO CYCLE POLICE BRANDED SPEED TRAPPERS

Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] told the city council traffic committee yesterday that city motorcycle police are turning thru streets into speed traps.

Ald. Cowhey.

"They lurk around corners and behind bushes," Cowhey said. "Then, when they see a motorist going 40 miles an hour, they shoot out after him—and they go 50 or 60 miles an hour. That does not create safe streets and it makes a bad impression on motorists."

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the police traffic division, told the committee the motorcycle patrolmen sometimes pulled to one side to rest, but said they are not supposed to create traps.

Cowhey also suggested to the committee that the traffic motorcycles be painted white so they could be seen more easily by motorists. Capt. Flynn promised to discuss the suggestion with Commissioner Allman.

SHOP OWNER ROBBED OF $280.

Joseph Wronkiewicz, 44 years old, of 1109 North Sacramento avenue, owner of two butcher shops, was robbed of $280 yesterday by two men who forced him into an alley as he was walking from the Main State bank, 1965 Milwaukee avenue, to his parked car.

RESUME 'OR ELSE' UNION INJUNCTION SUIT TOMORROW

Master in Chancery John J. Kelly yesterday continued until tomorrow the case in which the Metropolitan Hand Laundry Owners' association is seeking an injunction to restrain the Laundry Workers' International union, local 46, from threatening the members of the association. Attorney Morris K. Levinson, representing the association, said some of his witnesses could not appear because of the Jewish Passover holiday.

Kelly criticized Attorney Levinson for not asking for the continuance until an hour before the hearing was to begin. The master said no more delays in the case will be granted under any circumstances. Levinson said that he would be able to finish his case between 4 and 9 p. m. tomorrow.

Two laundry owners testified at previous hearings that they had been warned to sign up with the union "or else." Definition of the phrase is expected before the hearings end.

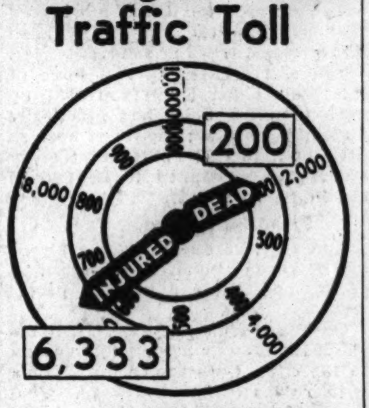
DRIVER, IN COURT 3D TIME, FINED $45 AND JAILED

Nathaniel Black, 25 years old, colored, 2962 Ellis avenue, appeared in Safety court yesterday for the third time since last October. Judge Frank M. Padden sentenced him to five days in the Bridewell for reckless driving and ordered him to pay fines of $25 for driving without license plates, $10 for lacking a city safety sticker, and $10 for resisting an officer.

Black's auto struck another car Monday at 29th street and Wabash avenue and Black fought with police who tried to arrest him. He was fined in October for speeding and was sentenced to five days in the Bridewell on March 22 for reckless driving. Judge Padden ordered him not to drive for six months.

Ike Arnold, 44, of 2823 East 79th street, was sent to the County jail for five days for reckless driving. His license was suspended for 30 days.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1940 Traffic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

John Reddington, 43 years old, 6231 South Richmond street, a watchman employed by the department of public works, was killed yesterday when his automobile and a street car collided in front of 653 West Chicago avenue. Edward Morrison, 25, of 6447 South Mozart street, a passenger with Reddington, was slightly hurt.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 267 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 200 were killed in Chicago, where 6,333 were injured during the same period.

2 Year Jail Term Started by North Shore Burglar

George Lill, 19 years old, 1129 Sherman avenue, Evanston, yesterday started a two-year term in the County jail for petty larceny. Lill was found guilty of two petty larceny charges Monday by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. Evanston police said Lill admitted six burglaries on the north shore.

RADIO WORKER DIES.

Tuscola, Ill., April 23 [Special].—Fred Day, 55 years old, a bookkeeper for radio station WDZ in Tuscola, died last night. He formerly was in business in Peoria.

MOTORIST FACES COURT TODAY FOR FLEEING CRASH

Harry Bohne, 23 years old, 2606 West 82d street, will appear in Safety court today on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Bohne, who is free on $150 bond, was arrested in his home Monday after being traced thru the last three numbers of his auto license. He is accused of being the driver of a car which ran down Lloyd Murlin, 31, of 5421 South Claremont avenue, last Friday at Halsted and 55th streets. The driver took him home and disappeared.

RUSSIANS BRING DESOLATION TO CITY IN POLAND

Witness Describes What Happened in Lvov.

(This is the third of a series of five articles on Russian seized Poland as told by a man who lived there until a short time ago.)

BY PAUL GREVE.

[Copyright by Press Alliance, Inc.]

LONDON, April 23.—As soon as I saw the Russians establish themselves in Lvov, I tried to get a permit to leave the country. I did not know at the time, but this task was to prove very difficult.

My wish to leave the country came as a surprise to the Russians. Apparently it is quite unheard of for any private individual to wish to leave the bolshevik paradise. So when they set up various departments in Lvov it did not enter any one's head to set up an office for issuing exit permits.

However, we foreign nationals in Lvov kept on bothering the authorities until we achieved quite a high nuisance value, and in the end an office was opened. It was in the hands of the GPU, a name which filled us with sinister forebodings.

Turns to Embassy.

For two months I called on the GPU once every day. Each time I crossed the threshold it was in high hopes of getting a permit. But each day I was sent away with empty hands, without even any reason for the delay.

In the end I decided to get help from our British embassy in Moscow. Letters proved useless because of the poor postal service, so I turned to the telephone.

This was a real trial of patience, for to get a connection with Moscow took me an average of five days, on each day hanging about the postoffice for several hours. Sometimes the soviet postal authorities excused themselves by saying the line was out of order, at other times they said the line was taken up for important official conversations.

Some Speed.

Once they did get a move on; I got thru in three days. But to make up for it the next call took nine days. Even when one got thru the line was so poor that half the time was wasted in shouting hello.

In the end contact was established with our embassy and to the delight of the British subjects, early in January two men came from Moscow to take up the cudgels on our behalf with the local GPU in Lvov.

Thanks to their energetic efforts we at last got our exit permits. But to make sure that there was no last minute change of mind our diplomatic friends did not leave until they had seen us off from Lvov station in the train for Sniatyn, the Russian frontier station with Rumania.

The journey to Sniatyn was cold and uncomfortable, altho we had tickets in the "soft class" [as against the hard class, which had uncushioned seats].

A Careful Search.

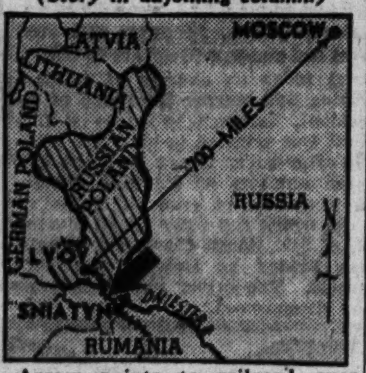
We reached Sniatyn soon after 2 p. m., but we were kept until the next morning before the customs officials were ready to examine us and our luggage. The night was spent either on hard and uncovered benches in a station waiting room or on the hard benches of an old railway coach. Nevertheless all 15 of us passed this night in good spirits.

If the Russians had been casual about many things in Lvov, their customs men proved extremely thoro. Every piece of clothing was searched and shaken separately. Every seam was carefully examined. They found no hidden treasure among our party.

We were asked to declare our money and were promptly relieved of all rubles and zlotys and of all foreign currency. All we were allowed to keep was £1 [about $4] per person.

Exit from Poland

(Story in adjoining column.)



Arrow points to railroad over which Paul Greve, British business man, left Lvov in Russian Poland and reached Rumania. Greve had difficulty telephoning from Lvov to Moscow. Once he got Moscow in three days, his best time.

Some Protest.

Some of the bolder spirits protested loudly against this confiscation. My wife was one. At last the customs men seized her left hand, on which she wore a diamond ring and her wedding ring.

"You should be glad," he said, "that I have left you BOTH these rings. My orders are to pass only one ring per person."

Soldiers with rifles and fixed bayonets and GPU men guarded us in the train of the engine and one carriage that carried us to the frontier, which is formed by a river the railway crosses. The soldiers got out on the Russian side of the bridge, but the other watchdogs stayed with us right into Rumania.

Our relief at being again in a free country made us almost speechless. The Rumanian officials received us in a very friendly manner and a representative of the nearest British consulate was also there to help us.

And indeed we needed help. My wife and I had lost practically everything we had in the world. All that was left to us were the clothes we stood in, £1 each, and my wife's two rings.

Different with Poles.

But at least we had freedom and some hope for the future. Far different was the case of the wretched Poles we had left behind. If you now ask me to look back and consider what was my worst time in all those months under the bolsheviks, I should say without hesitation that it was the Black Christmas. It began with the nationalization of the shops.

This bolshevik procedure began in October. Before the middle of December the last of the shops were taken over by the soviet state. So many a trader was made a pauper without warning or redress.

And what change came over the city! Lvov had a population of 300,000. There were excellent shops to supply necessaries and luxuries to the prosperous people of the city and the surrounding district. Happy shopping parties filled the streets, a moving pageant of color. Then came the Russians and nationalization. Lvov became a city of desolation. Whole streets were shuttered and barred, with not a living soul to be seen in them.

Foodshops Stay Open.

The only places open were shops dealing in foodstuffs. But you cannot break the spirit of an entire city. As Christmas approached, the people of Lvov seemed to be feeling some fresh hope; some new and bright spirit seemed to enter into their drab existence under the bolshevik heel. A few shops contrived to make a show of Christmas fare, wines, nuts, fruit. Even small Christmas trees appeared in the streets and were eagerly bought.

Then came the mightiest blow from the sardonic despot of the Kremlin. On Dec. 20 all these Christmas hopes were shattered for it was announced that as from the next day Polish money would cease to be legal tender.

You will realize the full force of this blow when I tell you that up until then the Poles had practically no Russian money; there had been so little of it in Red Poland that every transaction continued to be carried out in Polish zlotys.

Bread for the Lucky Few.

And now, at one blow, the means of existence of hundreds of thousands of unsuspecting and helpless people were shattered.

On the morning of Dec. 21, not a single zloty was accepted anywhere in the city. Only the fortunate ones with rubles could buy bread. That was a Christmas of suicides in Lvov; hopeless gloom settled on the city.

At that time the value of the pound was about 150 rubles; but by the time I left you could get 940 rubles for the pound.

This rapid depreciation of the currency stopped almost entirely the supply of all kinds of foodstuffs. For the peasants had lost faith in the ruble and would not sell anything for money. It was the same with fuel; there was no official supply or rationing of wood, and people were dependent entirely on what they could get from the peasants. A warm room became a rare and wonderful thing, with the thermometer at 55 degrees below freezing.

Bread—black rye bread—was the only food sold regularly. But some official found that this was too simple. So, from Jan. 1 it was decided that the sale of bread would be limited to officially recognized coöperative shops.

Officials Do Not Mind.

The result was complete chaos. In fact, from Jan. 1 to Jan. 4, no bread at all could be bought in the city. And afterwards only by way of long waits in queues a quarter of a mile long.

This was a senseless regulation; but, of course, the military and the commissars did not have to wait in queues. So they did not mind.

Restaurants and hotels shared the same fate as the shops. They were gradually closed or nationalized. By the end of January there were only two places left in the whole of Lvov that still could be called restaurants.

Only one hotel was allowed to take in private guests, and even there the menu was standardized. It was chopped meat with mashed potatoes—or nothing.

There was no fuel for the hotel's central heating plant. Guests wore their fur coats and caps indoors both during the day and at night. You will understand now, perhaps, something of our feelings when we crossed the frontier into Rumania. We were broke, but we were free. And in those long months, I learned that freedom is priceless.

POLICE OF PARIS FIND EX-AID OF PILSUDSKI WITH THROAT SLASHED

PARIS, April 23 (AP).—Tabeuz Swiecicki, former Polish minister of information and former general manager of the Polish telegraphic agency, and his wife and sister were found today with their throats slashed in their Paris apartment. Both women were in a serious condition but Swiecicki's injury was less grave.

Police said they had placed Swiecicki under surveillance. Friends said he had been brooding over the fate of his country. When taken to the hospital, he exclaimed "there had to be a victim." Authorities said he was crying out patriotic Polish slogans when the three were found.

Swiecicki was attached to Marshal Pilsudski's general staff in 1920 and was minister of information in 1929.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU can figure it out for yourself from what you see in daily traffic and what you hear when the talk turns to automobiles.

Buick's pacing the pack. Has been for several years.

It called this year's style turn a year ago. It set current performance standards in '38 with its Dynaflash engine. It still leads the crowd for riding qualities with its BuiCoil Springing, now in its third year.

So where's a more logical place to look for next year's "big news" than in this year's big and roomy Buick?

It may be smoother engines. Buick is the only car that now balances power plants after assembly, and clothes their velocity in velvet.

Coil springs all around may come. Buick's never need lubrication, are practically indestructible, and even cut down skid-risks.

Maybe it'll be heavier frames—Buick has the heaviest of any car of its price. Or maybe many of the "extra touches" Buick so freely applies—safety-latches on rear doors, gas tanks locked against pilferage, Sealed Beam Headlights out of the way of bumps, Two-Way Direction Signals with automatic cut-off.

You get all of these things now in Buick.

Get them with the plus of Buick quality of materials and workmanship—at a price that suggests a six instead of an eight.

Just go try a Buick. Look it over, inside and out. And get the prices.

Even if you've been buying in the lowest-price field you'll find it takes less than you think to step up to a Buick. Prices begin at $895 ★delivered at Flint, Mich.; transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

You get a "Good Deal" from Your Buick Dealer

Look at Buick First . . . you can afford it and you can't know what your 1940 money ought to buy until you've seen this really modern automobile.

Try it Yourself!

Just how good is Buick? You'll really never know until you try it for yourself! A demonstration is yours for the asking without the slightest obligation. See any dealer listed below.

BRITAIN'S BUDGET NEAR 10 BILLION; TAX LOAD GROWS

Expect War Costs to Hit $7,000,000,000 a Year.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 23.—Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, presented the house of commons today with one of the biggest budgets in history. The burden of taxation, which is the highest per capita in the world, was increased.

Sir John Simon.

Despite this the national debt for the last fiscal year, which closed on March 31, hit a new high at 8,931,000,000 pounds [about $31,459,447,000 with the pound worth $3.5225, as quoted today in New York]. On top of this, the estimated borrowings for the fiscal year 1940-'41 were expected to increase this by 1,433,000,000 pounds [about $5,047,742,000].

Simon showed that in the last fiscal year Britain spent 1,817,000,000 pounds [about $6,406,382,000] and revenue reached 1,049,000,000 pounds [about $3,695,102,000]. The deficit of 768,000,000 pounds [about $2,705,280,000] was covered by borrowing.

Huge Borrowing Necessary.

Expenditures for the coming year were estimated at 2,667,000,000 pounds [about $9,394,507,000]. Of this amount, Simon said, he expected 1,433,000,000 pounds [about $5,047,742,000] to be obtained thru borrowing with revenue sources, yielding 1,234,000,000 pounds [about $4,346,765,000].

Among methods to be used to increase income, Simon announced a new sales tax on all goods except raw materials, food, drink, or other articles already heavily taxed. Parliament must approve these items, which are expected to be chiefly luxury goods and possibly finished goods.

Minimum inland and imperial letter rates are increased from 3 half pence [about 2.19 cents] to 2 pence half penny [about 3.65 cents], while foreign rates are raised 20 per cent to 3 pence [about 4.38 cents]. Telephone charges were increased 15 per cent and basic charges for telegrams 50 per cent.

Beer Will Cost More.

Other items included a beer tax increase of 1 penny [about 1.46 cents] a pint, meaning that a glass of beer will cost 7 cents instead of 6; spirits, an additional tax of 1 shilling 9 pence [about 30.75 cents] a bottle; tobacco, an increase of 3 pence an ounce [about 4.38 cents], raising cigarets from 7 pence [about 10.22 cents] to 8½ pence [about 12.41 cents] for 10; and a tax on matches.

The standard rate of the income tax had been increased from 7 shillings [about $1.23] to 7 shillings 6 pence [about $1.32] in each pound, or the equivalent of a total tax of 37½ per cent. The maximum rate of taxation, including the income levy and surtax, Simon pointed out, now stands at 17 shillings [about $2.99] in each pound. The surtax hereafter will apply to incomes of 1,500 pounds [about $5,283] or more. It formerly was applied to incomes of 2,000 pounds [about $7,045] or more.

Tax Exemptions Cut.

Simon also will increase revenue by reducing exemptions on income taxes. Children's allowances were cut from 60 pounds [about $211] to 50 pounds [about $166] yearly.

Analyzing the figures in Simon's budget, statisticians estimated that the average middle class family in Britain will have to pay nearly 18 pounds [about $63.40] more taxes each year.

Simon said all his estimates were tentative, since government expenditures were increasing and were expected to continue to do so.

The first seven months of the war, he said, cost 905,000,000 pounds [about $3,187,862,000] and he expected this to be raised to 2,000,000,000 pounds [about $7,045,000,000] in 12 months. This brings war costs in the neighborhood of 5,500,000 pounds daily [about $19,373,750], a figure he said will be greatly increased.

CIRCUS TO PICK QUEEN TO REIGN AT SHOW DANCE

The loveliest performer in the Greater Olympic circus, now playing in the Chicago Stadium, will be crowned circus beauty queen during the second week of the show. The circus opened Friday.

She will be selected by Frank Buck, whose Malay village is a feature of the circus, Maurice Seymour, Chicago photographer, and Griff Williams, Stevens hotel orchestra leader, from among five finalists.

Entries in the preliminary voting include beauties from China, Italy, Denmark, France, Spain, Manchuria, Egypt, and a redhead from Brooklyn. Eddie Allen, ringmaster, is in charge of the balloting.

"WRECK A-SHO-O-RE!"
"I WISH I HAD NOT MADE HIM LOVE ME..."

LOXI: She had stolen the most eligible bachelor in Charleston. Could she confess herself a heartless flirt who had tricked him for her own ends?...The central figure of this new novel is a vibrant creature in Key West, daughter of a wrecker, but moving in two worlds—the sea, to which she was born, and the society that life forced upon her.

A hurricane was raging on the Florida Keys. The full-rigged ship Jubilee was in the grip of the deadly reefs. A whole town echoed and re-echoed to the battle cry, "Wreck a-sho-o-re!" And aboard was one man destined to play a strange part in the tempestuous life of Loxi Claiborne.

Here is a novel seething with drama and danger, wreckers and piracy, and through its pages runs the romance of Loxi, whose flashing charm brought to her feet two men from opposite ends of the world. (Hollywood has already bought Miss Strabel's colorful novel for the screen.) First of six installments in the Post out today.

ROGGE'S MOVING IN.

O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general who moved in on Louisiana when it was discovered that the president of the state university and the Huey Long politicians were using the school bonds for speculation, says that he and his investigators have had their eyes on Michigan, Georgia, and Arkansas. Rogge was still in New Orleans when he named the states of the new graft hunt. He was evasive when he was asked what had attracted the attention of the department of justice to them, but said that other states shouldn't get the false notion that they were in the clear and without scandal.

Two months ago, when he said that the Louisiana cleanup would be followed by investigation elsewhere, his mail brought him letters from nearly every state in the Union. Apparently all of them expected to be next. The Illinois New Dealers promptly took steps to keep Mr. Rogge out of their territory by announcing that they loved Mr. Roosevelt as dearly as they loved their country and would have no other candidate. That was satisfactory proof of rectitude here. The Illinois example could be a guide to other states which otherwise might attract the attention of the department of justice and its agents. Mr. Rogge is well satisfied with what was done in Louisiana, and he said that he was now convinced that the people of Louisiana could handle their own problems. He has given the state back to them.

Mr. Rogge is one of the strange figures arising on the scene of American political action. There have been many strange figures in recent years, but none whose appearance is of greater portent or of more expressive meaning. In the eyes of the startled state politicians who wonder what he will be about next he must appear as a veritable Himmler. By an ingenious construction of the postal laws he and his investigators can take a hand in any scandal the politicos of a state are trying to keep under cover.

The use of the mails to defraud had once a simple and plain meaning. If a crook beguiled a victim by letter and transacted his swindling business thru the mails, the postal inspectors got him and the federal government had jurisdiction. The Rogge device is covered by the phrase, "using the mails in a fraud." The New Orleans politicians, without thinking of the consequences, paid off by checks when they divided up the booty. The crime was against the state, but Mr. Rogge could step in. The looters hadn't thought that the mails played any part in their transactions.

Everywhere in the country the politicians who have taken a slice of public money may have communicated with each other by mail, and if they have that gives Mr. Rogge a chance to take over. They have warning now, but in many instances it may be too late. The inducement to get right immediately for the Chicago convention of the Democratic party has deeply personal motives. New Deal politicians who are trying to remember what letters they wrote and to whom must be in a panicky state of enthusiasm for the third term. And it is probable that many of them are throwing their postage stamps out of the window and vowing that they never again will buy any one of Mr. Farley's 222 issues.

The philatelists say that Mr. Farley's commemorative issue racket is a national scandal, but they don't know the half of it. A three-cent picture of Frances Willard, Washington Irving, or the old capitol building of Iowa may be a one-way ticket to Atlanta, Leavenworth, or Alcatraz.

THOES HOO WISH TU SPEL.

Undeterred by war, censorship, black nights, and bacon rationing, Mr. B. Wrenick of Ashley Rise, Walton-on-Thames, England, writes THE TRIBUNE to discuss the difficulties of the English language and to forward a pamphlet, entitled "Our Wonderful Spelling," suggesting possible remedies. Mr. Wrenick says he is informed THE TRIBUNE has been interested in taking some of the kinks out of the language and might, therefore, like to see the results of other experiments.

Anybody would be encouraged by proof that primary interests do not give way to such episodic disturbances as world war, but may be serenely pursued, even when madness raves if it does not reign. The English language is still more important than Mr. Hitler to our Ashley Rise correspondent. A friendly wish is that his sense of values may be preserved for better times to come.

The English spelling reformers, it appears, are divided, generally, into two groups. One favors what is called Natural spelling and the other a modification known as the Ideal derived from the Anglic. Both systems are immeasurably advanced beyond anything THE TRIBUNE has undertaken. Both are recommended by the Simplified Spelling Society of Great Britain. The Natural system was evolved by Mr. Walter Ripman, chief inspector to the University of London, and the Anglic by a Swedish professor who taught English in the University of Upsala in Sweden. There is enough surface similarity, altho a phonetic dissimilarity, to lead a careless reader to believe that the Swedish teacher of English evolved all three in his struggles with our mother tongue—as the following examples might indicate:

The Natural: Thair iz no desyr on the part of thoes interested in the subjekt tu impoez simplifyd speling on the naishun. Thoes hoo wish tu spel in the prezent wai, wuud be at fuul liberti tu doo so, but it iz sujested that the aulternativ methud of speling foenetikali, which aims at simplisiti and euniformiti, shuud be rekognysd and enkuraijd, so az tu maik English speling eesi for our children and for thoes hoo wish tu lern our langwij.

The Ideal: Thaer iz noe desir on the part of thoez interested in the subjekt tu impoez simplified speling on the naeshun. Thoez hoo wish tuu spel in the prezent wae wuud be at fuul liberti tuu doo so, but it iz sujested that the aulternativ methud of speling foenetikali, which aems at simplisiti and ueniformiti, shuud be rekogniesd and enkuraejd, so az to maek English speling eesi for our children and for thoez hoo wish tuu lern our langwij.

Many thanks to Mr. Wrenick. Any time THE TRIBUNE is requested by a million or so of its in excess of one million circulation, the adoption of either the Natural or the Ideal spelling for our composing room will be considered.

WILLIE BIOFF'S BOSS.

Willie Bioff is in the Bridewell, which is where he belongs. He will be there six months unless he is sprung sooner by Counselor Abe Marovitz. Meanwhile he has a soft job as receiving clerk, which will do less damage to his waistline than labor in the brickyard or the quarry. Any friend of Abe Marovitz is a friend of Warden Denemark.

Six months isn't a long time, but it about fits Willie's status 18 years ago, which was that of a sweet smelling business agent for the inmates of a Halsted street brothel. The chances are that it will be more than six months before Willie gets back to his more imposing tasks as business agent, backed by Chicago guns, for the Hollywood movie workers. The treasury department wants to know where Willie got $100,000 about the time he called off a movie strike; more particularly, why he didn't pay income tax on it.

Willie may be in bad with the county of Cook and the federal government, but he still seems to get along all right with his boss. His boss, in name at least, is George E. Browne, international president of the Stage Hand and Motion Picture Operators' union, who sits in the inner councils of the American Federation of Labor as one of its vice presidents.

Browne seems to have a penchant for appointing dubious assistants. One of Willie Bioff's associates as international representative of the union is Nick Circella, better known in Chicago night club circles as Nick Dean. Nick went in for somewhat more manly crimes than Willie. He did four years in Pontiac for assault to commit murder, and charges of robbery were stricken off when he pleaded guilty to the lesser crime.

Another international officer is John P. Nick of St. Louis. Nick held the motion picture operators' union in that city under gangster control until a civil court ousted him. The same court recently found that he had extorted $10,000 from theater owners, and ordered him to pay that and other sums to the union treasury. When the honest unionists in St. Louis were trying to get rid of Nick, Browne backed Nick. So did President William Green of the A. F. of L.

Browne's own record is clear so far as police files go, but his rise to power over Chicago locals of the union was accompanied by some fortuitous cases of lead poisoning. Tommy Maloy, whose reign of the Chicago motion picture operators had been maintained by several murders and innumerable bombings of theaters, ran into a lot of shotgun slugs one day in February, 1935, on the Outer drive. Browne, as international president, promptly took over the local union, Nick Dean runs it.

Louie Alterie, a loud mouthed gangster who controled the Theatrical Janitors' union, came back to town soon afterward and began talking in grandiose fashion of expanding his activities. Some one poked a rifle out of a window and filled Louie with bullets. Clyde Osterberg, who had been a rebel against Maloy, got a charter for a rival motion picture operators' union. He was murdered on May 13, 1935.

At the inquest over Osterberg his friend, George Hall, charged that a short time before, in Browne's office, Willie Bioff had told Osterberg, "Start a new union and we'll make an example of you." All that followed this disclosure was that Hall was arrested soon afterward and sent to prison on the charge of bombing the school for operators conducted by Browne's union. Strangely enough, the authorities were never able to arrest any one for the scores of bombings during the Maloy régime.

If George Browne has ever told William Green, behind the doors of the A. F. of L. executive council, that he would like some help in cleaning up his union the public has never heard of it. If Mr. Green has ever asked Mr. Browne whether he wouldn't like some A. F. of L. help in getting out from under the Bioffs, and Deans, and Nicks—not to mention the Nittis and Capones—that also has remained a secret between the two labor statesmen. Mr. Green, however, resents deeply any hint that there are gangsters in A. F. of L. unions.

Editorial of the Day

[Providence, R. I., Bulletin.]

Former Gov. Louis J. Brann of Maine has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate, for which high post he was defeated when he last ran.

Stating his qualifications, the Democratic state committee emphasized this:

"Former Gov. Brann's experience and ability have equipped him to render a very definite service to this state in the way of federal benefits. During his four years as chief executive of our state, former Gov. Brann secured for the state in excess of $150,000,000 from the federal government."

This was the appeal Mr. Brann made to the voters when he previously ran for United States senator—and he was defeated. It should cause his defeat this time. There have been few things more sinister in the New Deal than the political use of federal funds. The cynicism of asking the voters to elect a man because he has exploited the federal treasury supposedly for state benefit needs no laboring.

If the voters will only see the obvious, they will ask: Who will pay for these federal benefits for the state? And if they are honest, they will answer: They will come out of our own pockets. For the money does not grow on trees. It must come from somewhere and somebody, and everybody in Maine must pay. There is a rule in life that everybody sooner of later learns, and it is a rule as fixed as the laws of the Medes and the Persians—and it says: You cannot get something for nothing.

The hard headed citizens of Maine ought to know that above all other people.

One may hear a good deal of talk about Chicago in this study of sinister capitalism, somewhere near Mobile, Ala. Chicago seems to be the city of the villainess' dreams; and when she arrived here with her loot, about 1900, we think we know what she did, but we can tell it only in whispers.

The Fountain of Youth.

Regarding the "have a drink" girl in Lincoln park [April 11]:

She is known as the Fountain Girl, not the Frances Willard girl. The erroneous legend has sprung up that she was intended as a memorial to the great W. C. T. U. leader. She was unveiled on April 17, 1895, in front of the old Woman's Christian Temperance Union's temple at La Salle and Monroe streets. Frances Willard did not die until several years after this.

The fountain was erected in the name of the Loyal Temperance Legion of Boys and Girls of the World, and was dedicated to Youth and its friend, The Dog. George E. Wade of London, England, was the sculptor. The money came from the penny contributions of youngsters in 57 countries.

When the Chicago temple was torn down, the Fountain Girl was moved to the northwest corner of North avenue and Lake Shore drive in Lincoln park on June 24, 1921, and was used primarily as a horse trough.

In order that she might not be damaged when the park district started work a year and a half ago on the extension of La Salle street and the development of facilities at North avenue, she was packed away in the park district's north storehouse [Fullerton avenue and Lake Shore drive].

Her third debut finds her by the subway for pedestrians and horses at Dearborn parkway and La Salle street. Bunny Daniels McCoy.

POOR NUTRITION MAY WEAKEN EYESIGHT.

THERE was a time when we considered that each article of food furnished but one variety of nutriment. The dish in question was tasty and good to eat and that was all there was to it. Centuries later—with more knowledge of the chemistry of living things—we came to realize that meat differed decidedly from potatoes. Both were suitable for human consumption but the former supplied proteins, the latter largely starch. Still later it was found that feeding these comestibles—plus fats—would satisfy hunger and maintain vigor but only when adequate minerals were included. Then came an understanding of the vital rôle of vitamins—and the end is not yet. Each year witnesses a better appreciation of the principles of nutrition.

We have learned that in the presence of a deficiency of almost any type, body functions may be disabled, causing injury to health. For example, one may be just as strong, be able to lift as much—or to run as fast—with meals that are short in vitamin A. The only symptom that may be observed is that the person concerned is not able to see clearly in twilight [night blindness].

But this is not the only effect upon the orbs. A perusal of old medical records reveals numerous comments on the development of sore eyes during periods of drouth, wherein the failure of an important crop interfered markedly with the food supply of a great number of people. Diseases of the optics—with faulty vision—were common during the Irish potato famine of many years ago. Only now do we know the explanation—absence of essential vitamins. Many a patient has consulted a specialist because of trouble with sight—only to have his malady recognized as due to an improper or an out of balance diet.

One reason why we insist that every one should obtain sufficient A is that this factor is necessary for the manufacture of visual purple in the retina. But it must be replenished constantly because when light strikes this substance it is converted to visual yellow. Place the patient in the dark and provide rest and the substance reforms. This may be likened to the recharging of a battery—and whether the purple will be restored or not depends upon the availability of A. If it cannot be rushed to the ocular regions the one afflicted will find that he cannot see well in dimly lighted places.

Another food lack is responsible for the development of redness and swelling, possibly with ulcers of the cornea. Here B must be at hand if we are to relieve what may be a serious lesion. The usual custom is to make certain that generous quantities of cod liver oil, as well as B complex, are taken.

In one of our large clinics an inflammatory condition puzzled the physicians in the eye department. In fact, a tentative diagnosis laid the blame on tuberculosis, as some of the patients were suffering from this disease. About that time a grant of funds enabled the institution to dispense fresh milk to all comers and lo and behold! the ailment disappeared. Infection was not the culprit. It was merely that the victims were not receiving wholesome rations.

It is now believed that cataracts—which we look upon as the result of degenerative processes—may be encouraged to form by administering huge doses of sugar, such as galactose [from lactose]. This is another manifestation that indicates the relationship of nourishment to body behavior. Now, none of us obtain in an ordinary menu too much milk sugar. But when the chemistry of digestion is upset it is entirely possible that a surplus is produced because the digestive machine is not running smoothly.

No doubt this is what happens with our elderly friends who, as a rule, do not require nearly as many calories as during the period of full activity. Nevertheless they do need just as many minerals and basic elements as when they were younger. The only difference is that their demand for energy generating edibles—fats, sugars, and starches—is far less.

HIGH HEELS.

M. O. writes: Will wearing high heels cause stomach trouble?

REPLY.

No. Even walking on stilts will not disturb the gastric pouch. There are many objections to these lofty elevations, however, as posture is unnatural—making stumbling more likely. Then it is that the contents of the abdomen may be given a forcible wrench.

NOT GAINING.

C. D. writes: What is wrong with a healthy, 5 year old child whose weight has not changed for a year?

REPLY.

Probably some digestive or glandular imbalance. An examination is in order.

KNEE-JERK.

T. P. writes: Why does a doctor tap or strike a patient's knee during a physical examination?

REPLY.

To determine the presence or absence of an important reflex, called the knee-jerk.

AFTER A STROKE.

B. H. writes: Is there ever complete recovery from a stroke?

REPLY.

Yes. It all depends upon the extent of the hemorrhage.

THE VOTERS' PREFERENCE.

Milford, Ill., April 21.—I have been wondering just how much consideration will be given by the delegates to the national Republican convention to the voice of the people as expressed in states where preferential primaries are held. It appears there is an attempt to smother the candidacy of Thomas E. Dewey and thus ignore the wishes of a large percentage of Republican voters in states where Mr. Dewey entered the primaries. One of the other leading candidates for the nomination, who has declined to enter the primaries against Mr. Dewey, is claiming several hundred delegates quietly lined up. Nearly all of them are from states in the South, which do not have a Chinaman's chance of putting a single vote in the electoral college. Mr. Dewey is showing uniform strength in every primary with his name on the ballot, and in all parts of the country which he visits. If the Republicans are to win in November, the delegates to the national convention will be wise to heed the primary results whether or not they are legally bound to do so. HARRY C. ROSE.

HITLER'S PLAN INTERPRETED.

Moville, Ia., April 18.—Hitler's main purpose in invading Norwegian territory is to annex the southern tip of that part of Norway which lies to the east of Oslo-fjord. Here he expects to locate a permanent northern Gibraltar from which he can definitely control the entrance to the Baltic—a step which may not be [ultimately] aimed only at the allied powers. The work of fortifying this point is undoubtedly already well under way. The Germans are not advancing north from Oslo any great distance, but east to the Swedish border to cut off any possible threat of land forces advancing from the north to harass the work of preparing the fortifications. After the fact is accomplished Germany may even intend to offer Norway a tidy indemnity for this bit of strategic territory.

Trondheim and Bergen were occupied for the purpose of preventing allied landing forces from joining Norwegian forces in a push from inland. The air field at Stavanger was occupied to serve as a base from which allied intervention by air can be prevented from reaching the site of the proposed fortifications, while still vulnerable. The occupation of Narvik far to the north may have had for its main purpose to lead a considerable part of allied naval strength on a wild goose chase and keep it occupied there while large guns can be brought from Germany into positions in the new Gibraltar.

Germany does not intend to bring any more ore down the coast of Norway from Narvik this spring anyway. Soon the ice will go out of the Gulf of Bothnia, and it is for the immediate purpose of safeguarding this summer route for ore shipments down the Baltic that the Germans needed and planned their new Gibraltar of the north.

TELEVISION AND THE BUROCRATS.

Chicago, April 20.—A recent editorial of the day argued that present restrictions on sale of television receiving sets are unwise because similar restrictions would have retarded the development of the automobile industry. This ignores the distinction that while a one lung auto could still be used after 4 cylinder rivals were on the road, a television set would not work at all after a comparatively slight change in the broadcasting system. Hence the presence of sets in purchasers' hands would tend to freeze television altho the sale of early autos did not freeze that industry.

THE MAILS TO GERMANY.

Chicago, April 20.—Lord Lothian calls upon Americans to take a lenient view toward the British seizure of mails since it is "a vital part of the British economic warfare."

What do we, Americans, care for their economic warfare, when it interferes with our economic interests and represents a violation of international law? When we order some kinds of cameras, lenses, drugs, books, magazines, etc., from Germany, it is because we need them and nobody else can supply us with them. Why penalize us and detain all our mail from and to Germany and neutral countries? We are not sending any munitions to Germany by mail.

If any one of us wants to send money to Germany he may do so by cable thru any American bank and the British are unable to interfere. So why should they seize our mails? Our government should retaliate at once and detain the outgoing mail to Great Britain. Mr. Farley did a great favor to the allies already by forbidding parcel post to Germany instead of protecting the rights of American citizens. In spite of that the allies continue to pilfer our mail. DISGUSTED.

MATERNAL INSTINCT.

Chicago, April 4.—One of the executives of our office brought his young son to the office with him this morning. In the course of time the child made his way to the stenographic section where some 40 women are employed. He was an appealing, curly headed little tyke and soon became the center of an admiring throng. As I watched I saw a pitiful and heartrending scene as these apparently self-sufficient women clustered around the youngster in an eager attempt to borrow for a few moments a little of the joy that they had renounced in favor of independence.

As I looked into their faces I found not one whose eyes did not express a longing and a sorrow that told of regret at a bad bargain and I felt at that moment that each of them would gladly have exchanged her much prized freedom for the restraining ties of those soft, clinging childish hands. But the boy went back to his father and the women returned to their typewriters, and their lips settled into hard, tight lines as eyes became dull and empty.

TODAY IN HISTORY

April 24, 1704

The Boston News Letter, recognized as the first newspaper in the United States, inaugurated. John Campbell, Boston postmaster, had been writing letters of information to various colonial governors, and on this date began having them printed and issued regularly. The "Letter" continued, under various publishers, until the Declaration of Independence. The first New York paper, the Gazette, was begun in 1725, and the Pennsylvania Gazette, first in Philadelphia, was launched in 1728.

CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, April 15 [Friend of the People].—In 1915 I married an alien, thereby losing my citizenship. How can I regain my citizenship? N. A. C.

If the inquirer was a citizen and married an alien in 1915, as stated, she lost her citizenship by such marriage, under the laws then in effect. She does not state how her citizenship originated in the first place. If she was born in the United States and lost her citizenship by the marriage as noted above, she may regain her citizenship by applying for final papers without a declaration of intention [first paper]. No proof of residence in the United States would be required in such a case. For fur information and proper application blank, it is suggested that she may call at this office, Room 718, New Postoffice building, Chicago.

EMPIRES PLACE SWEDEN AS NO. 1 OF DANGER SPOTS

Ready to Act There and in Jugo-Slavia.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 23.—Attention in France tonight turned to the danger of the war spreading to Sweden following a meeting of the Franco-British supreme war council here which took what were described as significant and far reaching decisions.

During the two day session of the council, which was joined for the first time by representatives of Norway and Poland, the council drew up plans "for the common defense of their interests against any and every adverse initiative."

French observers interpreted the action as meaning that when and if Germany stages another surprise party, wherever it may be, the French and British would react promptly and vigorously. Sweden, however, is conceded to be the No. 1 danger spot.

Invasion Feared Near.

Highlighting the interest on the Swedish situation, a French radio commentator, speaking from government controled stations, said, "It seems, according to the latest dispatches received from Sweden, that Germany is preparing for the invasion of that country." He indicated the situation in Scandinavia is being watched attentively because "the menace [in Sweden] is becoming more precise."

Other observers today said the council turned its attention to another danger spot in Europe—Jugo-Slavia. The general tendency is to watch Sweden and Jugo-Slavia and be ready to act in the event of aggression in either country, it was explained.

Sweden's Fears Aroused.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 23.—As sounds of fighting were heard today along Sweden's west coast, interest in the country was centered on the efforts of Britain and France to cut off the German army in Norway from its home base, and the fear that extension of the war to Sweden would become more likely if the German sea communications were cut or seriously endangered. It was reasoned that then Germany might seek an alternative route thru Sweden.

Reports from Berlin that today's Boersen Zeitung and the Nachtausgabe had begun a campaign similar to that which aroused apprehension during the Russo-Finnish war aroused keen interest in Sweden. The Berlin papers complained about publication in Sweden of reports of machine gunning of civilians in Norway by the Germans. The German papers said the Swedish government tolerated such publication and that it must cease before it was too late.

Recall Other Press Campaigns.

Recalling such German press campaigns in connection with the invasions of Czecho-Slovakia and Poland, observers here wondered whether this one foreshadowed some demand on Sweden which might jeopardize her neutrality, especially in view of reports that German ships filled with troops at Stettin, Memel, and East Prussia were being augmented by new arrivals of men and supplies.

Several Swedish ports are reported filled with German ships, but it was said most of them brought coal.

While, it is understood, the German government has expressed regret at German bombers' flights over southern and central Sweden, the Swedish government has asked that measures be taken to prevent a repetition. Despite the fact that no official explanation has been made of the flights the Swedes say those over the eastern coast and the central region would hardly have been mistakes.

As Sweden today extended the blackout which now covers most of southern Sweden, a German trade delegation arrived in Stockholm and it was expected that the Swedish government would announce a special defense loan of $125,000,000 on Sunday.

German Minesweepers Ordered Out.

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—Five German minesweepers were asked to leave Swedish territorial waters today by ships of the Swedish neutrality patrol, the British news agency, Reuters, reported. The minesweepers were active along the Skagerrak. They immediately complied.

War Deprives French of 2 Popular Holidays in May

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 23.—Because of the war 40 million Frenchmen will be deprived of two popular holidays next month, namely, Ascension day on May 2 and Whit Monday on May 13. The ministry of labor tonight announced that the rule of "business as usual" would be enforced on those dates.

Jugo-Slavia May Curb Its Exports of Eggs and Meat

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 23.—Jugo-Slavia soon will ban exports of eggs, meat, and game except in exchange for free currency, it was reported tonight. Most of these exports have been sent to Germany on a clearing system.

OSLO, Norway, April 23 (AP).—British and French residents of this German occupied city today were ordered to obtain control cards which must be stamped several times a day by police.

Ordered to Give Up Arms.

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—The German controled radio at Oslo today was quoted by Reuters [British news agency] as saying that all Norwegians and foreigners in German occupied areas in Norway must surrender their arms by Sunday or face the death penalty.

Thieves Steal Fur Coats of Women at Jewish Church

Thieves who have been stealing from checkrooms at banquets and church parties last night stole two fur coats from the checkroom of Congregation B'nai Israel of Austin, 5433 Jackson boulevard, while 150 members of the congregation were attending the passover feast. A $400 Persian lamb coat belonging to Mrs. Tillie Miller, 29 North Long avenue, and a $650 Persian lamb coat belonging to Mrs. Evelyn Grill, 5671 Washington boulevard, were taken. An attendant said that Mrs. Miller's coat was claimed by a man who had no check, but identified himself as her husband.

3 Norse Run Buses Filled with Nazi Soldiers Off Cliffs

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 24, Wednesday (AP).—Three fiercely patriotic Norwegian bus drivers, impressed to transport German troops, raced their buses over precipices, losing their own lives but killing most of their 180 passengers, a traveler from Norway reported here today. The traveler, Reidar Haanes of the Norwegian newspaper Arbeiderbladet, said despite German patrols around captured Oslo, active and passive resistance persisted, and machine gun fire had been heard in Oslo suburbs.

Last of Chamberlain Pilots on Peace Flights Is Killed

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—The last of three pilots who flew Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to Germany in 1938 to seek peace from Adolf Hitler, is dead. He was Capt. D. S. King, who was killed with two other flyers in the crash of an air liner last night near Loch Lomond, Scotland. The two other flyers who flew Chamberlain to Germany were E. G. L. Robison, who was killed in an air accident two months later, and Flying Officer S. D. Slocum, recently killed in war.

GERMANY SEEKS DANUBE MERGER TO RUSH SUPPLIES

Hopes to Unite 9 Big Navigation Lines.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 23 (AP).—A German plan to combine nine of the largest Danubian navigation companies was disclosed today as German agents sought to speed shipments of war materials from southeastern Europe.

Southeastern European governments are said to be cool to the plan. The companies, which control 75 per cent of Danube shipping, would be united by the scheme in an organization known as Danubian Lloyds, which would have at its disposal 1,035 tugs, barges, and tankers.

Directed by German experts, the combine would cut loading times and speed traffic.

Belgrade Stirs Nazi Ire.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 23 (AP).—The Jugo-Slav government declared today that the arrest and internment of former Premier Milan Stoyadanovich was prompted "as an internal matter to defend the security of the state" and was not "due to foreign political reasons."

Political circles said the government statement was prompted by Germany, which was displeased by reports in Belgrade that the action was due to a plot to overthrow the Jugo-Slav government with German aid.

German Support "Probable."

Vice Premier Vladimir Macek said he believed Stoyadanovich probably had German support but that he had no direct knowledge of it.

"I do know that Stoyadanovich circulated anonymous leaflets attacking the government," Macek said. "He should have had the courage to sign his name to them."

The government pressed its campaign against associates of the former premier, restricting Milan Acimovic, former minister of the interior, to his residence. Acimovic is expected to be taken under guard to a village in southeastern Bosnia. Stoyadanovich is interned in a mountain hamlet.

SIX CRATES OF CHICKENS STOLEN.

Six crates of dressed chickens, valued at $96, were taken yesterday from a truck parked in front of the Wilson & Co. packing plant at 4100 South Ashland avenue.

EMPIRE AIR TRAINING PROGRAM IN CANADA TO BE REORGANIZED

OTTAWA, Ont., April 23 (AP).—Reorganization of the British commonwealth air training plan concentrated in Canada was announced today. The purpose, said the department of national defense, will be to establish closer supervision and save time and expense. The plan will be organized in four training commands instead of four training groups and two maintenance groups under the jurisdiction of two training commands. Intermediate headquarters will be eliminated. Headquarters of the four training commands are at Toronto, Winnipeg, Montreal, and Regina.

German Envoy to Rome Reaches Berlin for Visit

BERLIN, April 23 (AP).—Hans Georg-Viktor von Mackensen, German ambassador to Italy, arrived in Berlin today for a brief visit. Dienst aus Deutschland, well informed commentary, described the visit as "normal diplomatic routine serving the discussion of current affairs." Reports of an impending visit of Premier Mussolini of Italy to Berlin were discounted.

British to Let Norse Sail 32 Ships from Hongkong

HONGKONG, April 23 (AP).—Thirty-two Norwegian merchant ships in Hongkong today were granted permission to sail from the British colony under certain restrictions. The details were not disclosed.

DEMANDS BRITAIN SMASH GERMAN PEOPLE IN BATTLE

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—War to the death against the whole German people and not merely against the Nazi régime was urged today by Alfred Duff Cooper, former first lord of the British admiralty.

Duff Cooper, speaking before the Royal Society of St. George, said German attacks upon Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Denmark, and Norway were not the "crimes" of one man or a group of criminals but the crimes of a whole people.

Duff Cooper declared that "Germany has assumed many ugly shapes in her past, but never has the face of Germany assumed so villainous and vile an aspect as under leadership of this little gang of blood-stained, money-making murderers."

"Hitler says the entire German people is behind him," he said. "I, for one, am prepared to take him at his word. . . . We must defeat the German people in battle."

Heads of Rival Nazi Groups Duel in Hungary; 1 Slashed

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 23 (AP).—Kalman Ratz and Lajos Szechenyi, leaders of rival Nazi factions in Hungary, fought a duel with sabres today. Szechenyi, slashed across the face, was declared unfit to continue.

GERMANS MOVE TO TRAP BRITISH ARMY IN NORWAY

Battle to Dislodge Foe from Country.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 23.—A German offensive to oust British and French forces from their positions in central Norway and, if possible, to encircle and annihilate them is in full swing, the German high command announced today.

British and French troops, it was admitted, are located north and south of Trondheim, an Atlantic port which is in possession of the Germans.

In an attempt to forestall attacks on Trondheim, German troops were said to have advanced northeast of Trondheim along the banks of Trondheim fjord. Sixty miles northeast of the port, the war communique said, the Germans contacted the enemy which was "driven back."

Block Avenues of Approach.

The communique said that after this advance the Germans blocked all avenues of approach leading from the British stronghold of Namsos southward to Trondheim. The railway station at Grong, east of Namsos, and the railroad linking Namsos with Grong were bombed by German flyers, the communique added.

In reporting today's activities of the German air force DNB, official German news agency, said British troops were targets of Nazi airmen with towns in British occupied regions "bombed and destroyed."

In the drive to dislodge allied troops from Andalsnes, south of Trondheim, strong German forces were reported to be fighting their way up the Gudbrandsdal valley which leads to Andalsnes. An engagement was said to be in progress north of Lillehammer.

It was understood the Germans were using crack mountain divisions in that sector. The army's communique announced that the strategic railway junction at Dombas was bombed yesterday.

Battle Rages in Valley.

At this point the railroad running up the Gudbrandsdal valley branches. One line continues along the valley to Andalsnes. The other travels northward to Trondheim.

Fierce fighting was reported in the Osterdal valley. A railroad connecting the Oslo region with Trondheim is located in the valley. The Germans were meeting resistance near Aamot, which is about 20 miles north of Elverum.

The iron ore port of Narvik, Nazis said, was being shelled daily by British warships.

There were indications that Norwegian resistance in southern Norway was breaking down. It was reported that the greater part of a Norwegian division surrendered today southeast of the port of Stavanger after heavy fighting in mountainous country.

DNB said two British bombers were shot down at Stavanger airport yesterday during a British raid.

Two British transports were reported to have been struck by heavy aerial bombs today before reaching the Norwegian coast.

Details of Ship Bombings.

Details of yesterday's bombing of Andalsnes by German aircraft were made public.

"The enemy was evidently completely taken by surprise in the process of disembarking troops," the Nazis said. "The strafing of Andalsnes lasted all day, wave after wave of German bombers attacking at short intervals."

One British destroyer was reported to have been sunk by an aerial bomb while another was hit by a medium sized bomb.

The Germans also claimed that one troopship was sunk and another, displacing 5,000 tons, was destroyed by fire. Storehouses were set afire, according to the German reports, and the railway line "made unfit for use for a long time to come."

The sinking in the Kattegat of a British submarine yesterday—the 12th since the Norwegian campaign started—was announced. It was said a German U-boat torpedoed a British 6,000 ton supply ship bound for Norway off Stadtland in Norwegian waters.

Battle for Gateway to Oslo

Battlegrounds of central and southern Norway. Empire and German troops apparently are waging a bitter fight for Lillehammer, the "gate" to Oslo. At the former city the railroad emerges from the mountain to wind down to Oslo on the plain. The black areas are those in possession of the Germans.

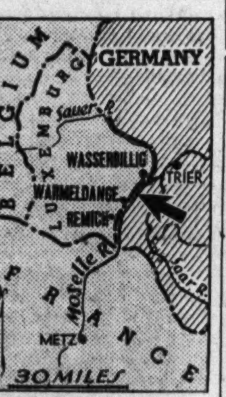
LUXEMBURG PUTS UP TANK TRAPS; FEARS GERMANS

Nazis Build Bridges Across Moselle.

LUXEMBURG, Grand Duchy of Luxemburg, April 23 (AP).—Ominous preparations across the German frontier of this tiny grand duchy, wedged between Germany and France on the western front, gave Luxemburgers fresh cause for anxiety tonight.



Arrow locates region where Nazis are building bridges across Moselle.

Thirteen German bridges are under construction on the Moselle river between Wasserbillig and Warmeldange and several of them extend to midriver.

The Luxemburgers hastily have begun to build tank traps on the banks opposite the bridges which they regard as most menacing.

German Troops Visible.

On the German side of the Moselle and in an area farther north, along the Sauer river, large numbers of German troops are visible, some of them working barebacked in the fields and others patroling the river banks.

Fully uniformed guards peer thru field glasses at all automobiles passing on the Luxemburg side.

This area, from which civilians once had fled, at least has its farming population back, for no farm was left untilled—even those within range of France's big guns.

Watch War Across Valley.

From Remich, near the southern tip of Luxemburg, one can watch the war between the Germans and French across the valley of the Moselle.

There is intermittent booming of distant guns and occasional bursts of action as scouting planes draw fire from their enemy.

BRITISH VESSEL SUNK BY MINE NEAR ENGLAND

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—The 1,969 ton British steamer Lolworth struck a mine and sank off the southeast coast of England tonight. Her engineer and second mate were killed and eight other crewmen injured. Coastal lifeboats went to aid another unidentified vessel reported in distress nearby.

Italian Steamer Attacked.

GIBRALTAR, April 23 (AP).—The Italian steamer Italo Balbo was reported here tonight to have been mined, and then to have been machinegunned by a German plane on April 20 off the southeast coast of England.

BRITISH CLAIM 30,000 TONS OF NAZI SHIPS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—The British submarines Sea Lion, Sunfish, and Snapper, operating in the narrow waters of the Skagerrak, were said today to have sunk nine and possibly ten German merchantmen, five of them in convoy—a total tonnage of 30,000, according to naval sources. Eight German ships of 53,108 tons were announced to have been sunk at Narvik on April 9, the small ship Rhein captured on April 20, and the 4,465 ton Torgen Fritzen reported sunk south of Stockholm, "possibly by a mine."

London claimed a steady drop in British sea losses. Three British ships, the Swainby, Mersey, and Hawnby, went down last week, bringing the British figured total of war losses to 672,778 tons. British shipping experts complacently compared this figure with the German total of 451,000 tons which they computed as lost, and said the smaller German merchant fleet was far less able to stand such losses than the British.

100,000 WORKMEN GOING TO FRANCE FROM COLONIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 23.—Indo-China and France's African empire will send 100,000 workmen to France this year to take places in factory and field vacated by men at the front, Labor Minister Charles Pomaret announced today. One-fourth already are in France, along with 80,000 North Africans who work here in peace time. Mobilization of the colonial labor supply has proved a complicated task. An organization has been set up to provide camps and hygienic service for the colonials. For the time being they are being lodged in camps at Marseilles and Bordeaux. Other camps are being established, mostly in southern France where the climate is most like that of their homelands.

[ADVERTISMENT]

If you SNARLED
At Breakfast
This Morning

—your acid disposition may come from too much acid in your bladder, a condition which may be due to your kidneys being sluggish. Are you failing to eliminate at least two quarts a day? Were you forced to get up last night? Are you suffering from backaches, back pains, headaches, itching, burning passages? Then here may be the explanation for your outburst at the breakfast table—

Your kidneys are sluggish! Because of that, those acids and by-products of metabolism (which are expelled thru the bladder) are not being sufficiently diluted. They are reaching your bladder in such a highly concentrated acid condition that they are literally torturing your bladder linings and causing those discomforts. For such a condition—

Start taking FOLEY PILLS at once. They will stimulate those sluggish kidneys, dilute and neutralize the over-acid contents of your bladder. What is more, they will transform those over-acid contents into a bland fluid which will soothe those bladder linings whose irritations may be causing those "overwhelming" urges, backaches, getting up nights, burning, etc.

Make amends to those whom your irritability wounded this morning. Start taking FOLEY PILLS at once. You must notice results in 3 hours, satisfactory improvement in 24 or your money back. At your druggist.

REPORT U. S. HAS HARBOR SET FOR MOVING TROOPS

New York, April 23 (AP).—A witness testifying at an Interstate Commerce commission hearing disclosed today that the war department has set up plans for the possible transportation of troops in New York harbor.

The witness, George C. Randall, head of port traffic committee of the Association of American Railroads, made the disclosure during a discussion of harbor congestion.

John J. Hickey, counsel for New Jersey, asked if the world war harbor jams were not caused by the transportation of 2,000,000 American troops abroad.

"Plans at present are set up—" Randall began.

"For the possible transportation of troops?" Hickey asked.

"Yes," Randall replied.

The subject was quickly dropped.

5 NEWEST BRITISH BATTLESHIPS GO ON TRIAL RUNS

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—Five new 35,000 ton British battleships which First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill said last February soon would join the fleet, were reported today to be undergoing their trial runs.

The King George V., Prince of Wales, Duke of York, Jellicoe and Beatty were described by Hector C. Bywater, naval authority, in a London newspaper as "floating fortresses" which approach the "unsinkable" battleship ideal more nearly than any ship yet built. "They are the largest battleships ever built in this country," said Bywater, "and are exceeded in size only by the Lion and Temeraire and two others not yet named which still are under construction and will displace at least 40,000 tons."

Giving the most exact description yet published of the new ships, Bywater said they mount 10 14-inch guns, 16 5.25-inch guns and many smaller guns, will have a speed of 30 knots and carry 1,500 men and officers.

History Plays Role in Two Fine Novels

"Oh, Promised Land," by James Street. (Dial, 816 pages, $3.) Published last Friday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

The lustiest, most roistering, most violent of all the historical sagas which have come out this year is this vast tale of thunder across the Mississippi wilderness from 1794 to 1817. Its hero is Big Sam Dabney, giant in stature, afraid of neither man nor the devil. The devil, incidentally, is incarnate in his sister, the beautiful vixen, Honoria, in whom honor is a part of her name, but not of her nature. "Old man Dabney's brats" they were called in Georgia where, at their parents' death, they pledged themselves to stand together against the world.

It takes 816 fast moving, violent pages for Honoria to get her deserts, and most of them for Sam to realize the true nature of his sister. In those 816 pages is recorded the hard living history of the human derelicts who seeped out of Georgia into Mississippi, battling one another for advantage as they tricked and were tricked by their fellow men, red, white, and black. Even the gentlest of them, Sam's ailing wife, Donna, was lashed by the passion of hatred.

Every emotion in these pages is at fever heat, every action blazing with passion, every event epic. This is a historical thriller with the authentic tempo of excitement lashing thru its pages. It has the thrill of a fantastically spinning top whose momentum never stops.

James Street.

Like its hero, everything about "Oh, Promised Land" is gigantic and supernormal, and it is as destined for a "supercolossal" film spectacle as if it had been written for that purpose, altho as yet no deal has been announced.

"Oh, Promised Land" is not literature, but it is a whopping good yarn, one of the best of many a day. James Street has written enough factual history into it and peopled it with enough real characters and events to give it authority, and from there on he has let nature take its course in the marriage of rascality with frontier opportunity. "Oh, Promised Land" will certainly be one of the year's best sellers.

Feuchtwanger Story

"Paris Gazette," by Lion Feuchtwanger. [Viking, 860 pages, $3.] Published Monday.

Books, like the days, are growing longer. This week just between two, "Oh, Promised Land" and "Paris Gazette," I have read 1,676 pages—enough for five normal sized novels! "Oh, Promised Land" might have been shorter, altho its tempo is so swift that its length is not oppressive. But "Paris Gazette" couldn't have been and that despite its leisurely tempo.

Indeed, there seems no reason for "Paris Gazette" stopping when it does. It is like the Jules Romains "Men of Good Will" series—it is as full of characters as life itself and it goes on and on, never relaxing its grip on the reader, rarely tightening it. Its peaks of drama are restrained. Its valleys of every day happenings are so raised above the every day that the result is like a mesa, every moment high above the commonplace.

The Paris Gazette is a German language anti-Nazi newspaper run by a group of German exiles in Paris, some of them Jews, some political and religious refugees. Touching it either directly or on the periphery of its influence is the whole German refugee group and its sympathizers, as well as Nazi officials in Paris. With the arrest in Germany of one of its writers, a series of events is set in motion which is like one of the webs which industrious spiders build at dusk—each of its threads fragile but the whole intricate weaving tenacious with the sum of infinitesimal strengths.

How the Paris Gazette is sold out by its owner to the Nazis in exchange for what proves to be only precarious safety for his daughter, how the official Nazis use the Gazette and their influence in Paris, and how the journalists finally start their own opposition paper, the Parisian German News, is the spine of the novel's skeleton plot. But it is only the spine, for the political machinations are far from all of the book's living and breathing reality.

The minutest event, the least important character are by Mr. Feuchtwanger's fine skill made memorable, and it is the precarious, tragic life of his fellow refugees which he makes his readers remember more vividly even than the Nazis' subtleties of intrigue or torture.

"Paris Gazette" is a novel in the manner of Lion Feuchtwanger's greatest success, "Power" ["Jew Suss"], and like "Power" might be listed as a historical novel also, since the life of 1935 seems already historically remote from today. Nothing makes one realize more readily how swiftly history is being made than such a novel about the immediate past in Europe.

Chicago Writer

Sophia Engstrand, Chicago author of "Miss Munday," reviewed below.

"Miss Munday," by Sophia Engstrand. [Dial, $2.50.] Published Monday.

Last spring the Dial Press offered a $1,000 prize, plus the usual author's royalties, for a novel by a school teacher with teaching as a background. The publishers received 481 manuscripts. This one, written by a Chicagoan, was the unanimous choice of the judges.

Sophia Engstrand's "Miss Munday" is an honest, appealing novel about the lives of the women high school teachers in a midwestern town, too small to provide the freedom of a city, too large to accept the school teachers as visitors from the more fortunate outside world, just large enough for gossip to be breathed in with the town's clear air, and to be exuded by the town's dragons.

Miss Munday has been teaching 10 years when the dramatic months of her 31st year change the pattern of her life in River Port, Wis. "Dramatic" to Helen Munday the months are, tho they would seem something less than high adventure to most of her readers, but therein lies the author's skill and honesty.

Sophia Engstrand has succeeded so well in depicting the drabness of the life of a school teacher in a small town, her utter subservience of all personal desires to the code of her profession, that Helen's innocent love affair and her one public revolt seem high drama in comparison. She speaks out for the only time in an otherwise meek career. But her revolt is not so sturdy a thing as she thought it, for she finds eventually that teaching is as much a part of her blood as its clamoring corpuscles.

The author has written touchingly, but in no wise sentimentally, about the life of the young women school teachers, clustering about a boarding house radio, dancing together, whistling to keep up their courage in a world where their contemporaries look upon them only as guardians of the young and the young see them as their natural enemies, as remote as their own parents in years. They are young, eager for life, but denied even innocent pleasures.

But do not get the idea that this is a gloomy book. It has the sparkle of a freshly washed pane of glass which, even if it looks out upon a drab day, reflects refreshing clarity. F. B.

Envoy Reviews Events Leading Hitler Into War

"Failure of a Mission," by Sir Nevile Henderson. [Putnam's, $3.] Published last Friday. May choice of the Book of the Month club.

BY GEORGE SCHARSCHUG.

On Jan. 13, 1939, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and other American newspapers, as well as the German press, printed the story of the marriage of Field Marshal von Blomberg and Eva Gruhn. Adolf Hitler, who had looked upon Blomberg as one of his closest friends, and Goering, Hitler's No. 1 man, were the sole witnesses.

In a few hours high German army men learned that the bride was described in Himmler's secret police records as "an attractive lady but of lighter virtues."

The scandal cost Blomberg his job. Gen. von Fritsch, the commander in chief of the army, who led in the demands for the removal of Blomberg, also was fired. Hitler assumed supreme command of Germany's armed forces and Goering was made a field marshal.

In this social scandal, at which, no doubt, most of the world chuckled or looked upon it as a fine example of Prussian snobbery, Sir Nevile Henderson, who was then British ambassador to Berlin, sees the beginning of the tragedy that plunged Germany, France, and England into war. He voices suspicion that perhaps the Blomberg affair was a deeply laid plot of Himmler and his secret police.

Just a love affair or a plot, nevertheless the astute British diplomat insists that "it has been necessary to lay great stress on the incident of the Blomberg marriage."

"Not only did it cause Hitler his first brainstorm of the year, but there is good reason to believe that it altered his entire outlook on life," Henderson continues. "Thenceforward he became less human; and his fits of rage, real or simulated, more frequent. His faith in the fidelity of his followers was gravely shaken and his inaccessibility became greatly accentuated."

From that day, as Henderson sees it, Hitler became more susceptible to voices of the firebrands.

With all the color of an ancient Greek tragedy, Henderson tells a dramatic story of the fateful, nerve racking days which ended in Hitler's invasion of Poland and the decision of Great Britain and France to go to war against Germany.

Henderson was a close witness to the occupation of Austria, the Chamberlain-Hitler talks at Berchtesgaden and Godesberg, the Munich conference, and of the destruction of Czecho-Slovakia. Vividly he tells of his talks with Hitler, Goering, and Von Ribbentrop, whose appointment as foreign minister to succeed the more "respectable and conservative" Von Neurath he calls a "major disaster."

The author's character sketches of these German leaders are trenchant. Simply and clearly he knits together the history making events. It is a factual story, and yet as fascinating as a novel.

"Our Nazi ambassador at Berlin," as Henderson was dubbed in prewar days by many Britons, makes out a good case for Prime Minister Chamberlain, the British government, and himself in the story he tells of their struggle to appease Hitler and to prevent the war, which has already engulfed a large part of Europe.

Latin Americans' Books on Exhibit; Authors to Speak

An exhibit of books, periodicals, and official documents of Latin American countries is on view this week at 86 East Randolph street. The exhibit from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. under the auspices of the Pan-American Council of Chicago.

Gregor Ziemer, father of Patsy Ziemer, author of "2,010 Days of Hitler," will speak on that subject at the Northwestern University club, 1704 Hinman avenue, Evanston, at 6:30 p. m. Saturday.

Langston Hughes, noted Negro poet, will review Richard Wright's "Native Son" and read some of his own poems at a literary tea sponsored by the Chicago Public Library Employés union at the Skyline Athletic club at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Authors and Their Work

Osa Johnson's autobiography, "I Married Adventure" [Lippincott, $3.50], the June selection of the Book of the Month club, out May 17, is to be printed in braille under the supervision of the director of the project for Books for the Adult Blind.

Richard Wright, author of the country's best seller, "Native Son" [Harpers, $2.50], has taken a house in Cuernavaca, Mexico, to escape the American literary furor.

John Steinbeck's "The Grapes of Wrath" [Viking, $2.75] celebrated its first anniversary this month with a total printing of 480,000.

JONATHAN LATIMER —adds to his great reputation with a big success in a new field. A powerful story of undisciplined emotions in the Belgian Congo . . . of a beautiful married woman who joined a gorilla-hunting expedition, and the conflicts she aroused. Moves with Hemingway terseness to a thrilling climax.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

POLITICAL RALLY SOUTH OF BORDER MUCH LIKE OURS

Mexico Will Elect a New President in July.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

URUAPAN, Mexico [By Mail].—Mexico, like the United States, is engaged this year in a hot political campaign.

In the United States the voters will elect a president in November. In this country the electing will be done in July.

North of the border the choice will lie between the candidates of the two major parties. South of the border it will lie between the two leading personalities.

Those two are Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan and Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho.

Like to Pick Successors.

In this campaign President Lazaro Cardenas' choice is Gen. Camacho. Gen. Almazan has the backing of most of the elements opposed to Cardenas' policies.

There wasn't much else to do here in Uruapan the other night, and so this correspondent attended a political rally. [This being a column devoted to travel, with politics barred, we won't specify in whose behalf the rally was held.]

In the United States the audience sits thru the speeches. Here it stands. Otherwise the thing that impressed this observer most was the remarkable similarity between the methods employed by the campaign managers in both countries.

A loud speaker on a truck was used to drum up the crowd. The meeting was held in the city park, and the speakers did their speaking from the bandstand.

Words Have Familiar Ring.

Without knowing more than fifteen or twenty words of Spanish, we could make out enough of the speeches to understand that the voters were being promised "order, liberty, and justice." If this particular candidate wins out, there will be "efficiency and economy" in office. The words had a familiar ring.

Several of the appeals were to the emotions. The stolid, serape-clad Indians, in from the farms for an evening of information, remained stolid. So did most of the townsfolk and students. But whenever there was a dramatic pause the claquers supplied the expected applause.

In between the talks there was music. Singers wearing sombreros and colorful costumes, and banging away at guitars, delivered parodies directed against the opposition.

Latin Eloquence Manifested.

The talks soared to heights of Latin eloquence. They were greeted by some nods of approval, an occasional laugh, and two or three hisses. There were a few hecklers. Once somebody yelled the Mexican equivalent of "louder."

Across the street the vendors of native foods did a land office business.

The meeting broke up in a burst of verbal fireworks. There was a smattering of applause. Then the voters, no longer impassive, went to work. They took up the gage of battle, and, breaking up into little groups, sought to convince one another of the eternal rightness of this or that plank or platform. Far into the night the argument continued. It had all the sprightliness of—and much more fervor than—the Sunday evening soapbox sessions in London's Hyde park.

Modern Mexico was working out its destiny.

FESTIVAL TIME IS OPENING IN NORTH CAROLINA

Raleigh, N. C., April 23 [Special].—This is festival time in North Carolina.

The season was opened with the tulip fête last week in the town of Washington. The sixth annual "Gallopade" will be held May 1, 2, and 3 in Rocky Mount, and the opening feature will be a square dance with 5,000 participants—probably the largest affair of its kind in this country.

From May 17 to 25 Charlotte will observe Cotton week, and from May 19 to 23 it will pay homage to the men who signed the Mecklenburg declaration of independence.

Wallace's strawberry festival is to be held May 25, and Gastonia's cotton fête June 10 to 15. This year's dates for the rhododendron festival at Asheville are June 16 to 22; for the mimosa celebration at Morganton June 19 to 21, and for the gladiolus affair at Beaufort June 28 to 30.

Series of 12 'Land Cruises' Planned for This Summer

A series of 12 summer "land cruises" to the American west, the Canadian Rockies, and Alaska was announced yesterday by E. K. Hastings, Chicago manager of Raymond-Whitcomb, Inc. The tours, lasting from 21 to 38 days, will begin June 26.

W. F. McGrath Takes Post as TWA Division Manager

New York, April 23 [Special].—W. F. McGrath has resigned as general manager of the Anchor Line to become manager of the eastern division of Transcontinental and Western Air.

Ships to Call at Bermuda on Trips Across Atlantic

New York, April 23 [Special].—Beginning, June 28, the Manhattan and the Washington will call at Bermuda on both their eastbound and westbound trips between America and Italy.

OLYMPIC NATIONAL PARK IN WASHINGTON OPENS THIS SUMMER

Seattle, Wash., April 23 [Special].—Officially opened last year, the Olympic National park will begin operations this summer.

The new playground, on the Olympic peninsula, across Puget sound from this city, is one of America's last wildernesses. The authorities intend to keep it that way. So the tourist accommodations will be limited to hotels and lodges bordering the park area.

A two day drive of 350 miles over the Olympic Loop highway encircles the area. Sights on the drive include mountains and sea, giant trees a thousand years old, fishing and lumber ports, and several bathing beaches. Among the bodies of water visited are Crescent lake, Quinalt lake, Discovery bay, and Hood canal.

The MILWAUKEE ROAD

TWO ENCHANTING TOWNS IN CHILE LURE TRAVELERS

Both Abound in Scenery and Hospitality.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile [By Mail].—There are two enchanting towns worth a stopover in a tour of the Chilean lake district. One is Osorno, inland, and the other is Valdivia, a river port. Both abound in the typical pastoral scenery lying between the Andes and the Pacific and the hospitality of the German racial immigrants who have colonized that southern region.

Osorno is on the main railroad, 600 miles south of Santiago. It lies in the central Chilean valley, crowned at the flank by the first chain of volcanoes the traveler encounters in the lake land. It is built on the confluence of the Rahue and Damas rivers and is the center of the cattle and agricultural trade.

Attracts Many Tourists.

As a tourist center it is the summer gathering point of a large number of visitors from all parts of the country and abroad, especially from Argentina. At one of the hotels I found a native of New Jersey who lives there comfortably for a $1 a day—including good food, so he says—the year around.

One of the excursions from Osorno is to the lake and spring of Puyehue, 25 miles to the east of the town. There is a two hour crossing by the lake, or a much shorter automobile trip thru the virgin forest, to the Puyehue hotel, government owned.

The thermal springs, with the hotel, are about a mile from the lakeside. The waters are of all temperatures and, judging by the reports of visitors, efficacious in cases of rheumatism and nervous disorders. There are fishing on the lake and hunting by the shore.

Falls Create Mist.

Between Osorno and Lake Puyehue are the Falls of Pilmaiquen, cataracts of the river of the same name. The river course is precipitated from a height of about 100 feet. It produces a mist which gradually dissipates within a few hundred yards.

The site of the falls and the adjacent lands have been expropriated by the government and form a national tourist park.

The roads leading to this spot have been improved so that a commodious journey can be made to within a few yards of the falls. A rustic-style restaurant has been opened.

On Railroad Branch.

Valdivia is on a branch of the main railroad, not quite so far south as Osorno. It was founded by the conquistador Pedro de Valdivia at a point where two rivers, Calle-Calle and Cruces, unite to form the Valdivia, a few miles from the mouth on the Pacific ocean.

It is one of the leading towns of southern Chile. There is a swarm of rivers and channels crossing in all directions. In summer there appears to be considerable movement in this port. Steamers ply the rivers. Along the banks are "quintas"—country homes—with fine apple and plum orchards.

At the mouth of the Valdivia river is the ocean port of Corral. This place had its origin in a small fortified redoubt raised by the Spaniards in 1645.

At Corral I met a number of Americans, including two Chicagoans, who considered this the prettiest and cheapest spot in the so-called security belt of inter-American wartime travel.

Principal Commercial Port.

Corral is the principal commercial port of the south and has gained industrial interest owing to the iron industry. River travel from Valdivia to Corral takes about two hours. Expenses at a good Chilean hotel during the summer season run to about $1.50 daily.

In front of Corral is the seaside resort of Niebla, whose beach is unusually good for the west coast of South America because there is a complete absence of waves. It is an ideal spot for sea bathing. The steamers running between Valdivia and Corral call at Niebla and also go as far as Amargos, another spot of rustic beauty.

Then there is the Island of Teja, in front of Valdivia. It is admirably adapted for excursions and sports. The town of Valdivia itself has good hotels and well-paved streets. The state railways are planning a big tourist hotel, at a cost of $250,000, similar to those at Puerto Varas and Pucon.

We wish to visit Shenandoah National park in the course of our trip to Washington, D. C., this spring. How far is it from the capital? Can we drive all the way thru it? S. K.

The distance from Washington to Front Royal, Va., at the entrance to the park, is about 70 miles. The 96 mile Skyline drive, traversing the length of the park, has been completed and is now open to travel.

Where can I get detailed information about the Pan-American theater, which, I understand, gives performances in the Palacio de Bellas Artes in Mexico City? J. G.

Near Alexandria in southern Minnesota.

Please tell me something about Isle Royal. D. D.

The island, situated in Lake Superior, about 20 miles from the Canadian shore and 60 miles from the Michigan mainland, was established as a national park early this month. It is 44 miles long and nine miles wide at its broadest point. Its 133,000 acres are to be maintained in their present rugged, rocky, heavily forested state. No roads will be built and no autos allowed, so that boating and hiking are to continue to be the only means of transportation. Tourist lodges and cabins are operated at Rock Harbor and Belle Isle; limited facilities probably will be available at Washington Harbor by midsummer. The island is regarded as one of the most primitive—and therefore picturesque—in the central states.

How fast are the fastest Japanese liners? W. S.

In the course of a recent trial run the new Nitta Maru attained a high speed of 22.684 knots and maintained an average of 22.474 knots. This is believed to be the highest ever made by a Japanese oceangoing commercial vessel.

Is it true that Nova Scotia has a "Garden of Eden"? T. M. E.

Yes. The garden, with its Mount Adam and Eden lake, is situated 25 miles from New Glasgow, N. S.

LET UNCLE SAM GET YOUR GOAT! HE WILL PAY YOU WELL FOR IT

New Orleans, La., April 23 [Special].—Want to sell your goat?

Attachés of the 2d New Orleans district, United States army engineers, have advertised for bids for 6,300 goats.

Between May day and mid-June that number of ruminants are to be placed in the 3,150 acre tract near the spillway between the Airline highway and Lake Pontchartrain. The idea is to get them to clear away the underbrush, grass, and weeds in that sector.

The goats will be "set out" two to the acre. This conforms with recommendations made by the United States department of agriculture and the Louisiana State university college of agriculture. The suggestions were made after much addition, subtraction, and division.

Lieut. Col. William F. Tompkins, district engineer, hopes that the fourth branch of simple arithmetic—multiplication—will come into play within the next year or so. If it does, there may be five or six goats to the acre.

PREDICTS 1940 WILL BE GREAT TRAVELING YEAR

Reports from Resorts of America Cited.

New York, April 23 [Special].—Prediction that this will be America's greatest travel year was made today by Douglas Malcolm of the American Express travel service.

"More people will visit the national parks, in both the United States and Canada; the mountains and beaches, the ranches and recreation areas, than in any previous year," Malcolm forecast.

"Sectionalism will decline while merchants and hotel keepers from the Yukon to the Amazon, from Panama to Punta Arenas ring up added sales," he said. "The $250,000,000 we used to spend for travel overseas will add to the trade balance nearer home."

Malcolm based his prediction on reports from Florida, California, the southwest, Mexico, and the snow resorts. Nearly all of these told of the most profitable winter season in years.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO SPONSOR TOUR OF SO. AMERICA

A good neighbor tour of South America, lasting 52 days and calling for more than 13,000 miles of travel, will be made this year under the sponsorship of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Following the close of the federation's general council meetings in Milwaukee, Wis., the tourists will board the liner Santa Clara in New York on May 31, go thru the Panama canal and then down the west coast of South America. They will cross the Andes by rail from Santiago, Chile, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and then sail up the east coast on the Uruguay.

Visits will be made in the Canal Zone and the principal ports and cities of Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, and Trinidad. The return is set for July 22.

Expect Heavy Volume of Tourist Traffic to Alaska

San Francisco, Cal., April 23 [Special].—Newspaper and magazine advertising—plus the fact that the trip can be made in neutral waters under the protection of the American flag—gives promise of the heaviest volume of tourist traffic to Alaska in many years. The forecast was made today by Kenneth A. Cross, veteran director of tours in the territory.

PLAN PILGRIMAGE TO SHRINES OF NORTH AMERICA

Residents of Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Detroit, and Cincinnati will join early this summer in a tour known as a pilgrimage to the miraculous shrines of North America.

Among the places to be visited are St. Anne de Beaupre, the shrine of Catherine Tekakwitha, and the shrine of Our Lady of the Most Holy Rosary, all in the province of Quebec, and the shrine of Our Lady of the Martyrs at Auriesville, N. Y. There will be sightseeing stops at Detroit, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, and Niagara Falls.

The tourists will leave Chicago June 30 and return July 13. The trip will be conducted by the Pilgrimage society of Minneapolis, with P. W. O'Grady as director.

Summer Tour Planned to Mount Rushmore

South Dakota's Mount Rushmore, with its colossal figures of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt, is to be one of the goals of 10 tours this summer over the North Western railway. Each of the trips from Chicago to the Black Hills and the Dakota Badlands will last eight days.

Pullman Company Plans Big Advertising Campaign

American newspapers with a total circulation of 12,500,000 are to form the backbone of the Pullman company's large scale advertising program this year. George A. Kelly, vice president, says the campaign will be conducted with a view of making "the traveling public still more train minded."

YELLOWSTONE'S CENSUS SHOWS A GAIN IN ANIMALS

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., April 23 [Special].—Yellowstone's wild animals are on the increase, and have been for five years.

Census figures compiled by forest and park rangers show more than a thousand mule deer in the park. Antelope have doubled their number since 1935. A smaller gain was scored by the bighorns, or mountain sheep.

Because of weather conditions, and the fact that elk gather in small scattered bands in the wintertime, no attempt was made to take a census of that species, but rangers believe there has been a heavy increase over the 1939 total of 12,300.

Last winter was regarded as favorable to wild life, with the result that there were fewer losses than usual. A deficiency of snowfall early in the season made large areas available for grazing, and even after the heavy snow came its texture remained soft and loose, so that foraging was not greatly impeded.

World's Only Undersea Postoffice Is at Nassau

1 IN 20 LETTERS FROM GERMANY DODGES CENSORS

Cross Asia; Postal Officials Close Return Route.

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen revealed yesterday that about 1 out of every 20 letters sent from Germany to Chicago enters thru the "back door"—via Russia, Siberia, Japan, and west coast ports—to dodge the airtight British and French censorship at Gibraltar.

At the same time the postmaster disclosed that since March 13, on orders of the postmaster general, the United States has refused to send mail back to Germany over the same route, even tho it is specifically addressed via west coast ports thru Russia. Under this ruling of the United States postal authorities, mail to Germany must go east, not west, to Germany and thus encounter British censors.

Provides Only Escape.

The back door route provides the only escape from the allied censorship. All other mail to and from Germany passes thru the hands of the British censors at Gibraltar. Widespread complaints have followed the extraction of cash and money orders by the British when sent from the United States to Germany via the Gibraltar route. The British theory is that the more foreign exchange Hitler has the longer he can continue the war.

Postmaster Kruetgen said that mail sent from Germany thru the back door to the United States is about eight weeks in transit, but that it comes thru without tampering, barring the off chance that a mail steamer will encounter a British patrol boat in the Pacific.

The average time for mail transmitted thru Italy from Germany to Chicago is 18 days, altho it may be as short as 14 days or as long as 28, depending on sailings and the length of time the mail is held up at the censorship base.

The Back Door Route.

The back door route is by rail from Germany to Russia, thence by the trans-Siberian railroad to Vladivostok, by ship to Japan, with most of the mail leaving Yokohama by liner for the Pacific crossing to San Francisco or other western ports.

Up to March 13 Americans citizens who wished to transmit currency or money orders to friends and relatives in Germany could feel reasonably safe that their inclosures would get to Germany safely by routing the mail from the west coast to Japan and across Russia.

The postmaster general's order ending transmission of mail to Germany by this route and sending all mail thru the British control base at Gibraltar merely explained that the service was being stopped because it resulted in undue difficulties to American postal authorities in handling mail destined for Germany.

U. S. Halts Mail to Norway; Shifts Route to Denmark

Washington, D. C., April 23.—Due to interruption of communications, all United States mail service to Norway has been suspended, but mail to Denmark is being routed by way of Italy and Germany, the postoffice department announced today. Parcel post service to Denmark, however, is suspended. Mail for Sweden, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and Russia also is being dispatched via Italy and Germany. Efforts are being made to arrange for parcel post service to those countries.

President and Prime Minister

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada chatting during latter's visit to Warm Springs, Ga., yesterday. The President authorized a statement that "no question of American or Canadian policy" was "involved" in the meeting.

CANADIAN PRIME MINISTER TALKS WITH PRESIDENT

Visit Not Significant, Reporters Warned.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., April 23.—While the world speculated on the import of the meeting here today between President Roosevelt and W. L. Mackenzie King, premier of Canada, the former shielded his guest from the press and issued a strong admonition against drawing any implications from the latter's visit.

The warning was delivered to newspaper men, who are accompanying the President on his vacation at the infantile paralysis resort he founded. The wartime head of the dominion of Canada—the first head of a government to talk face to face with Mr. Roosevelt since the war began—had scarcely exchanged greetings with his host when reporters were summoned to receive a presidential communication from William D. Hassett, acting White House secretary.

"No unwarranted conclusions, deductions or assumptions can be drawn from Mr. King's visit," Hassett relayed from the little White House.

Interview Is Denied.

He delivered this dictum as reporters were vainly demanding an interview with the Canadian leader to determine whether his talks with the President would embrace the extension of the Monroe Doctrine to include Canada, as Mr. Roosevelt indicated in an address at Kingston, Ont., Aug. 10, 1938, when he asserted the United States would not stand idly by if Canada should be attacked by a foe.

Reporters were also anxious to learn whether the visit would lead to submission of the St. Lawrence waterway power and navigation treaty to the senate at this session. The project, a pet of the President's, was revived by him early this year when he was told that the war had shifted the Canadian attitude against the treaty to its support.

Treaty negotiations were stalled by the Canadian election. It is believed that the treaty is dead as far as this session of congress is concerned because its consideration would prevent early adjournment desired by both Republicans and Democrats to permit them to campaign.

No Significance, Secretary Says.

Hassett told reporters that Mackenzie King's visit "literally means nothing."

"Mr. King and the President are very old friends and have known each other over 30 years," he said. "Every spring when the Canadian parliament is in adjournment, Mr. King takes a trip south just for a rest and a holiday, and he always comes to see the President.

"There has never been anything of political significance in these visits and there isn't in this one. It would not be good for the American position for Mr. King to give out any statement or be interviewed while he is on a purely vacation trip.

"No question of America or Canadian policy is involved in the visit."

Mackenzie King arrived at 10:15 a. m. Chicago time. He drove to the little White House and then was shown to the cottage he will occupy until he departs tomorrow afternoon.

FARLEY SLAPS THIRD TERMERS ON WAR ISSUE

New York, April 23 [Special].—Frowning on the war as a national political issue, James A. Farley, postmaster general and a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, declared here today that "no politician should attempt to gain the favor of the electorate by making believe that one can keep us out of war better than the other fellow."

His comments were taken as a direct slap at New Deal advocates of a third term who say Mr. Roosevelt must be kept in office because of the international situation.

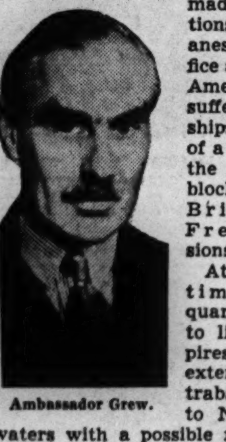
ENVOY PROTESTS JAPAN'S HARSH ACTS IN TIENTSIN

TOKIO, April 23 (AP).—American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew today made representations to the Japanese foreign office asserting that Americans were suffering hardships as a result of a tightening of the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions in Tientsin.



Ambassador Grew.

At the same time Japanese quarters sought to link the empires' desire to extend their contraband control to North Pacific waters with a possible relaxation of British and French opposition to Japan's policies in China which might result in the lifting of the Tientsin restrictions.

These Japanese sources said the British had "hinted at concessions" to win Japan's "benevolent neutrality" toward the European war which would enable the allies to plug one of the major leaks in the blockade of Germany—at Vladivostok, soviet Russia's far eastern port.

Must Bow to Sentries.

TIENTSIN, April 24, Wednesday (AP).—Americans now are required to alight from their cars and bow to the Japanese sentries who search their machines and baggage.

Guild Members Hear Plans to Share Flowers

At a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild yesterday about 150 interested members, including the presidents of 30 Illinois garden clubs, heard with enthusiasm of the work that is to be done this summer.

Starting with Lilac days, beginning late in May, members in all the suburbs will gather flowers until the end of September to ship to city hospitals and institutions and so share the beauty of their gardens with shut-ins and the underprivileged.

Miss Harriet Vittum, head resident of Northwestern University settlement; Gen. Manus McCloskey, head of Cook County hospital, Mrs. Glenford Lawrence, assistant head resident of Chicago Commons, and Miss Mabel Binner, superintendent of the Children's Memorial hospital, told the guild how much their contributions of flowers, fruits, and jellies mean to neighborhood families and patients.

Mrs. Sanley D. Grace took over as general chairman of the guild, replacing Mrs. David L. Meyers. Theodore V. Purcell, president; Mrs. George Plamondon, chairman of the executive committee; Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, new president of the Illinois Garden club, and Mrs. Ralph Roscher, publicity chairman, also spoke.

The 19th international exhibition of water colors will open with a preview at the Art institute from 8 to 10 o'clock this evening.

J. B. Harkness and Elizabeth Hays to Wed

BY JUDITH CASS.

An engagement of interest in Chicago and on the north shore was announced yesterday in St. Louis, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Hays of Webster Groves announced that their daughter, Elizabeth Anne, would marry John Barrett Harkness, son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Harkness of Winnetka, on June 22. Mr. Harkness' father, who is pastor of the Congregational church in Winnetka, will officiate at the wedding, which will be a small home one.

Miss Hays was graduated from the University of Oklahoma with Phi Beta Kappa honors and then did graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Harkness is a graduate of Northwestern university and took his doctor's degree at Harvard. He is a technologist with an oil company and is living in St. Louis. After he and his fiancée are married they will live in Webster Groves.

Dr. and Mrs. Stone to Hold Last Reception.

The annual spring reception that the Rev. and Mrs. John Timothy Stone will give today from 4:30 until 6:30 o'clock in the commons at the Presbyterian Theological seminary will be their last one of the sort, for Dr. Stone is retiring next fall as president of the seminary. Today's especial guests will be Dr. J. Harry Cotton and Mrs. Cotton of Columbus, O. Dr. Cotton will take Dr. Stone's place next autumn.

Assisting at the reception will be the professors and their wives and numerous women of the Fourth Presbyterian church parish, where Dr. Stone was pastor before he became president of the seminary. He has been there for 12 years. Pouring will be Mrs. William O. Goodman, Miss Helen Smith, Mrs. R. Douglas Stuart, Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, Miss Frances Whedon, Mrs. William H. Bush, and Mrs. Harrison Ray Anderson, whose husband now is pastor at the Fourth church.

Also Mrs. Guy A. Tawney of Urbana, Mrs. Alfred T. Sihler, Mrs. Charles L. Wishart, Mrs. Arthur T. Wirtz, Mrs. William E. Dean, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. Alvin A. Smith, Mrs. Thomas Galt, and Mrs. Frederick W. Bockemeyer.

Mrs. Horace J. Bridges to Give Tea Today.

Mrs. Horace J. Bridges is giving a tea today at her Deming place home for her son's wife, Mrs. Horace E. Bridges. Young Mr. Bridges and his bride, the former Mary Truesdale of Grinnell, Ia., have been living in Cleveland since their marriage last December, but they recently have moved to Chicago. They have taken an apartment in the Marshall Field Garden apartments, where they have as neighbors the oldest Bridges son, Leonard, and his wife and little son. The middle son, Frank, is unmarried and lives in East Orange, N. J.

The last weeks preceding the marriage of Miss Sally Hallberg and George Owen Fairweather Jr., which will take place May 4, are filled with parties for them. Dr. and Mrs. Rupert Wolfenden took them and some young friends to see "The Philadelphia Story" last night. Dancing and supper followed at the Palmer House.

Miss Frances Glore, who is to be maid of honor, is giving a dinner at home in Lake Forest on Friday night. Miss Frances and Miss Patty Kelly will give a dinner on Saturday and take their guests to see "Romeo and Juliet."

The Edward Benninghovens, who are to be matron of honor and best man, are entertaining at cocktails next Sunday. Miss Gertrude Smith will give the spinster dinner next Tuesday. The wedding rehearsal will be held on May 2, followed by the bridal dinner. Later that night Charles Rummel and Hugo Fischer will take the young people somewhere for supper and dancing.

Mr. Rummel is to be an usher. Also ushering will be the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Robert Dilley of Pittsburgh, Edward Freeman of New York, Samuel Holmes and Lee Shaw.

Winnetka Garden Club to Hear Ellen Shipman.

The Winnetka Garden club rarely has an opening meeting, but it is inviting its garden loving friends to come to a lecture by Mrs. Ellen Shipman, New York landscape architect, next Wednesday at the Winnetka Woman's club. Mrs. Shipman will illustrate her talk, "Planting and Design," with colored slides.

Mrs. Shipman has designed a num-

Telegram.

A Chicago lad was returning to college with several other boys and his mother asked him to send her a telegram upon arrival, telling her he had arrived safely. He wanted to ease her mind at the least possible expense, so he sent her a social telegram for 25 cents. It read:

Congratulations on the safe arrival of your son.

Guardianship.

Last week a woman shopper left a plant she had purchased, in a stationer's supply store on West Washington street. Yesterday a postcard was received at the store:

A volunteer stooge reports a poignant note after the cocktail party the Halliwell Hobbes—he's Capulet in Romeo and Juliet and was born at Stratford-on-Avon, by the way—gave at the Stevens last Sunday. Mrs. Hobbes addresses Raymond Johnson, who plays Peter in the play, by his cast name. The Hobbes own young son, named Peter, left the stage at the start of the war to become a gunner in an English anti-aircraft regiment. . . . Ocean Writing.

Van Heflin, the magazine writer in Philadelphia Story, was an able-bodied seaman before he became an actor, and his voyages carried him to Australia and the South Sea Islands, and Alaska and Norway. Once assigned to manage the wheel of a schooner, he recalls the comment of the captain after he had observed the ship's wake while Heflin was at the wheel.

"Heflin, I don't mind your writing your name on the ocean, but don't go back to dot the i," he shouted.

Watches Hide in Clips, Pins, Lapel Gadgets

BY REA SEEGER.

Time hides this spring under gay enamel in amusing and decorative cases. Watches doubling for clips, chest pins, and lapel gadgetry are spring favorites. A pair of juicy red strawberries covers one timepiece, a rosy red apple curves over the face of another small watch, and a pear with foliage and some cherries, also in red enamel, completes the fruit finds.

Conversation pieces worthy of any one's special attention are the clip watches in brilliant color. There's a nonchalant yellow enamel cat, a good luck black cat with whiskers, and the best looking ladybug cases ever devised to camouflage a watch face. Ladybug covers are dotted with small red and white dots against the black.

A dashing black and white enamel penguin has a watch sunk in his white middle. A modernistic gargoyle has an oblong shaped body with the round watch in the center. A tennis ball hides a neat little timepiece, a golf ball another, with leather thongs attached for pinning on lapels.

Dazzlers for any dark costume are the combination clip and watch, the outer double border of green or red rhinestones sunk in silver. Old fashioned charmers include the small fat watch with a fleur-de-lis pin or the romantic gold metal watches hanging from a bowknot pin, ready to be anchored to the shirtwaist blouse or the flap of a jacket pocket.

Fashion photograph . . . spring fabric gloves in black, white, and navy fit almost as smoothly as kidskin. A pair of decorative accents for new daytime dresses with triple cutouts held with matching grosgrain ribbon can be worn with short or long sleeves. They'll tub as easily as lingerie.

Methodist Church Opens First Session Today Since Union

Atlantic City, N. J., April 23 (AP).—Two thousand Methodist leaders from all over the world begin tomorrow morning the first general conference of the newly United Methodist church.

Included among them were 776 official delegates, chosen to represent 124 regional conferences in the United States, Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Fifty-two of the church's 58 bishops have been here a week and were busy today preparing their quadrennial "message" to the church.

Chicago Manxmen Will Hold Annual Dinner on Friday

Several tailless cats and tailless chickens from the Isle of Man will be displayed at the annual dinner and meeting of the Chicago Manx society Friday evening [April 26] at the Auditorium hotel. Lewis Bernays, British consul in Chicago, will be the principal speaker.

According to officers of the society, most of its 200 members have relatives engaged in the British fighting services in the present war. The Isle of Man, covering an area of 227 square miles in the Irish sea, has about 2,000 men in service out of a population of approximately 40,000, they said.

Legends.

New York, April 23.—At the Four A's banquet a legend came to life over the footlights. John Barrymore reached back into memory and did a scene from Hamlet. . . . Perhaps some of those in the Waldorf grand ballroom had heard Barrymore's Hamlet when it excited world comment, but to most of us it was something that was to be examined only as a relic in a theatrical museum; something that had once happened and never would occur again. . . . Then, abruptly, a figure in the museum stirred to life, and Barrymore, standing on a brilliantly lighted stage, was showing the youngsters what once he must have been. . . . It was as electrifying as though Babe Ruth tomorrow were to pinch hit for Joe Di Maggio and belt the first pitched ball over the center field fence.

Barrymore as Hamlet was magnificent . . . here was no careless or reckless veteran inviting the town to laugh at his antics . . . here instead was a fine artist, more impressive than Gielgud . . . here indeed was a Barrymore . . . sans stage effects, sans lighting effects. He just stood there and so gripped the audience that you heard nothing but his voice, a voice that had anguish and revenge in it as he planned to prove his father-in-law's guilt as a murderer by employing the strolling players to reenact the crime. . . . Legends usually are far more satisfactory than the real thing, but the legend of Barrymore's Hamlet was not half so impressive as the actual performance. . . . If nothing else occurs on this trip east, this wonderful treat was worth all of it.

In upholding one of this department's personal legends, Barrymore destroyed another that could stand destruction. . . . Time and again this column has quoted Shakespeare's "the play's the thing" under the mistaken impression that it meant exactly that . . . when a good picture was successful, or a performer clicked in a well written part, I'd say, "well, it proves that the play's the thing" . . . but when Barrymore read the line, it carried no such implication. . . . Hamlet, suddenly conceiving the idea of trapping his father-in-law thru the employment of a play reënacting the murder, says: "The play's the thing," meaning that the play is the thing to reveal the crime. . . . For years I've prided myself on a passing knowledge of Shakespeare, but Barrymore proved that I've been a dope, if that needed proof.

Standing backstage with Barrymore, I asked him about his "Hamlet." . . . "There are all sorts of approaches to the character," he commented . . . "I conceived him to be a red blooded, lusty and lustful man, not saddled with any strange or queer obsessions. I was convinced of that because he was a great swordsman, and to be a great fencer YOU MUST be a wonderfully strong and quick athlete. I found that out when I started taking fencing lessons for the part. I disagree completely with those who believed Hamlet was a twisted creature with a father-complex. He had about as much of a father-complex as Harry Greb had when he was light heavyweight champion." . . . Most unusual experience he had while playing Hamlet, recalled Barrymore, happened in London. . . . In the middle of the famous soliloquy he heard the audience snickering and then the whole house started to chuckle . . . a cat had walked on stage and was sitting near his feet, staring up at him. . . . "I picked him up," grinned Barrymore, "and continued the soliloquy to him, and the London papers gave it a terrific press."

Other legends have not fared so

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Dunham dreams of marrying her lovely daughter, Millicent, off to some one like Dick Shard, who is kind, distinguished, and rich. Dick had visited the Dunham's home in Kansas, and, when her husband died, he got Mrs. Dunham a job selling for a New York firm. On her visit to the city he has asked her to dinner and the theater. She finds he has also invited another couple, Constance and Alex Stewart. Alex is an invalid and Mrs. Dunham senses that Dick is in love with Constance.

INSTALMENT III.

TRAGIC SACRIFICE.

Mrs. Dunham wondered if she had heard an appointment for that night—or for the luncheon the next day. . . . Mrs. Stewart held out her hand for a cigaret and Shard gave her one from his case—then reaching into his pocket produced another of a cheaper brand for himself. So he carried her cigarets for her, did he? Well, well!

Mrs. Stewart asked her to luncheon the next day. So the appointment was for that night. Mrs. Dunham thought: "What a wicked woman—to keep a man like Shard from the normal happiness of a married life and children—a man who ought to have children—such a joy to him ——"

She wasn't narrow, she said to herself, but any one who had been happily married understood that no illicit love affair however romantic could make up for the solid human joys and sorrows of a home and children. If she only knew him well enough to tell him so. She smiled to herself. She knew how he would, in Millicent's lingo, "slap her down" if she did.

The disadvantage of very good seats at the theater is that after the performance is over they make their owners late comers to the door, especially on a rainy night. By the time Shard's party had wedged their way out, Shard's chauffeur, who, Mrs. Stewart explained, was always at the head of the line, must have been forced away by the combined efforts of mounted police and taxis. He was nowhere to be seen. ["Heaven knows when we'll get him now," Mrs. Stewart said, rather desperately.] Mrs. Dunham felt guilty—she had delayed them a little getting into her coat, and not knowing how to push her way against the crowd. She saw Shard glance apologetically at Mrs. Stewart, and then he turned up the collar of his overcoat and plunged into the traffic. Mrs. Stewart and her husband stepped back into the lobby out of the draft.

"There's nothing to do but wait," she said.

But Mrs. Dunham didn't agree to this. Why couldn't she help? Perhaps the car would come while Shard was looking somewhere else for it. She knew the car well—it had been sent to meet her on her arrival, and Briggs, the chauffeur, had been kind and helpful about her luggage. She pretended she hadn't heard Mrs. Stewart and followed Shard out to the sidewalk.

It was cold and confusing. She couldn't even see Shard any more. People jostled her and didn't apologize. The lights went out over the marquee. The rain had stopped now, but the air was colder than before. She shivered. "I hope I shan't get pneumonia," she thought. "Only my life and work between Millicent and ——"

She suddenly saw the car—far down to the right; she saw it only because the chauffeur was standing on the step craning his neck. He was about to be driven away again by a policeman on a plunging horse. She waved wildly to him, but he didn't see her. He was looking only for his employer, or for Mrs. Stewart in her orange velvet. Looking about, Mrs. Dunham saw Shard right in front of her in the street, threading his way back thru the stalled traffic. She called to him, but she couldn't make her voice heard above the noise. She ran out, stepping off the curb. "Mr. Shard."

This time he did hear her and turned, just as the traffic started with a rush. A huge van like a railroad train was at his elbow. She gave a wild scream and grabbed at his arm, whirled him about, shoved him down out of harm's way, and losing her own balance fell under the great wheels.

The Stewarts, waiting far back in the lobby away from drafts, didn't know what had happened. Didn't know that anything had happened until they heard a man telling another that there seemed to have been an accident. Some old woman run over by a truck.

"O, dear," Constance murmured. "Did you hear? I suppose we'll never get away now. Are you very tired, Aleck?"

He shook his head. "But it's so much better to take the first taxi on a night like this. Even Briggs can't do the impossible."

They heard the clang of an ambulance bell at last and then the crowd began to thin. Going out among the last they found Briggs waiting with the car at the curb. They heard the truth from him.

"Mrs. Dunham? O, Briggs, how horrible—was she killed?"

"No, madam, the policeman said that she was alive when they took her away, but she looked to be badly injured."

"And Mr. Shard went with her, I suppose?"

"Yes, riding in the ambulance."

As they drove home Constance said to her husband, "I wish I had asked which hospital they took her to. I think I ought to go there."

But he discouraged the idea: "What could you do? She certainly doesn't want you, and you'd only be in Dick's way. How do you suppose she managed to fall under a truck, poor woman? I'm sure she enjoyed life."

But Constance could think of no one but Shard. How dreadful for him to be obliged to go thru this horror, to want to give pleasure and then to have his party end in death. If the old woman had only been content to stay quietly in the lobby with them. The poor thing—she had said she had a daughter. Now Dick would feel he had the daughter on his hands. He'd have to find her a job. Really rich people lived lives of extraordinary responsibilities. Poor Dick. He had an important meeting early the next day. He'd be in no condition to go to it after a night like this.

Aleck went at once to bed, but she sat up. She knew Shard would telephone to her at the first possible moment. Never once had he failed to show her that consideration—rare enough among friends—that consists in admitting that you know your friend is worrying about you. Other people talked glibly about the tragedy of her life, but only he seemed to understand it.

Twenty years before when she was a girl of 20 she had married Aleck Stewart just before he sailed with his regiment for France. They had been deeply in love. Two years later he had come back to her a complete wreck—hardly recognizable as the handsome blond boy who had gone away so gaily. The doctors had said that he had at the most a year to live. She had turned herself into a nurse, taking him from Arizona to California in search of a cure. They hadn't found a cure, and yet somehow he had lived on—year after year he had lived. She was a hard woman without sentiment, but not without tenderness. She had done her job magnificently.

Some 12 years ago she had seen Shard for the first time. He was a young man—almost a boy in her estimation, for he was three years younger than she. He had just inherited a modest manufacturing business from his father. Constance knew it was something that was used in the making of automobiles and now more generally in airplanes and required a lot of copper. Shard had come to Arizona to look over a second class copper mine that might cheapen his costs.

His first interest had been in Aleck. Too young to go to war himself, he had a boy's respect and enthusiasm for those who had. They had spent a month camping in the desert and riding in the hills. Almost at once Constance had know that he had fallen in love with her—that he worshiped her and would never say so. She thought him a virile, clever boy—a little too unsophisticated and small town to be dangerous to her peace of mind. After that they hadn't met for several years, tho she had had letters from him—not often answered.

Then a few years before he had come to New York to establish the head office of his great business. The situation was now different. He was rich, successful, run-after—an equal—Constance would never admit any one as superior. His vitality and his money and affection did much to alleviate Aleck's sufferings. She, on her side, taught him a great deal—drew him up into her own highly organized social life.

She let him admit that he loved her—of course he also admitted that her life was dedicated. The world believed them to be lovers. Constance didn't mind—her world was not censorious of any woman in her position. She had no scruples at all about taking his devotion on these unequal terms. She needed him and he was hers—besides she gave him something that every one required—a high ideal of suffering and romance.

She looked at the little jeweled clock he had given her for Christmas—2 o'clock. What could be keeping him? Surely he might have slipped away to a telephone a few moments. . . . Nearly 3! Then the telephone at her elbow jingled loudly in the silent apartment. She caught it up.

"Yes, Dick."

"Were you asleep?"

"O, no. I was waiting to hear from you."

"It's all over—she died a few minutes ago."

"I'm so sorry, Dick—the poor woman."

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

well. . . . There was the legend of Jeanne Eagel's performance as "Sadie Thompson" in "Rain." . . . I'd never seen her in it, so when Tallulah Bankhead played in a revival, this department hurried to the theater. . . . The play was dated. . . . Tallulah was not very impressive. . . . Then there was the matter of "Hunchback of Notre Dame" as Lon Chaney Sr. made it memorable. . . . Charles Laughton's performance in the revival was second rate stuff and completely incredible. . . . In both cases, probably the anticipation was greater than any performance could have been. . . . The amazing thing about "Gone with the Wind" is that it not only measured up to the book but satisfied the expectations of those who had been given a two-year build-up.

Still other legends have proved unfounded. . . . There was the legend of Ty Cobb's gruffness when the Detroit star was at the peak of his fame. . . . Sent to interview the great man, I went to the Hotel Alamac and learned that Cobb was having dinner. . . . Fearfully, I sent in a message to him explaining that the boss had given an assignment. . . . Napkin in hand, Cobb came to the dining room entrance immediately and proved the most charming person and most helpful person I'd ever met.

As a kid in high school, I'd heard so much of Columbia President Nicholas Murray Butler that he was a legendary character. . . . Then one afternoon he played golf at the Apawamis club and I caddied for him. . . . He proved to be only a human being, as nervous and irritable as any other dub. . . . That experience did more to uproot faith in human nature than any other. . . . Even now when I read his name in the papers, the recollection of that round of golf returns and if he ran for President I'd have to vote against him.

Few people are big enough to live up to the legends they inspire. . . . On the coast, Clark Gable is a legend-filler but there are not many of them equal to the task. . . . Katharine Hepburn is as exciting and stimulating as you expect her to be. . . . Gene Tunney always fell below the legends. . . . Jack Dempsey, of course, is everything you expect him to be, if you except that high tenor voice. . . . Dempsey, however, lives up to every other expectation. . . . Crowds still gang around him and cheer for him. . . . To the legend-nursers he's just what the legend ordered.

ber of gardens in the Chicago area, among them those of Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, Mrs. Alfred Gross, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Mrs. Vaughan Spalding, Mrs. Austin Niblack, and Mrs. Kent S. Clow. Mrs. Harry C. Edmonds, 670 Blackthorn road, Winnetka, is in charge of tickets for the lecture. They are $1 each.

The Oliver Morton Knodes had a telephone call from Springfield, Mass., yesterday telling them of the arrival of a granddaughter, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Knode Jr. [Patricia Nash], who live in Longmeadow, Mass. Mother and baby are doing well in the Wesson Memorial hospital. The former Betty Nash, now Mrs. E. Webb Harrison of New York, is in Springfield with her sister. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Nash of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Drake [Alice Bremner] are being congratulated on the birth of their second daughter on Monday at Passavant hospital. The baby, a granddaughter of the Dimmick Drakes of New York and of the David Bremners of Chicago, has a sister, Nancy, who is 5 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Vanzwoll of Chicago just have returned from Pennsylvania where they met their new grandchild, the son born on April 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Leonard Skoglund of Swathmore. The baby has been named Palmer Jr. Mrs. Skoglund is the former Miss Julianna Holmes, daughter of Mrs. Vanzwoll and of the late Woodward Holmes.

Jean Bartelme Brew was a month old yesterday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hosmer Brew of Winnetka and was born on her mother's birthday at the Evanston hospital. She is a great-grandchild of Mrs. Ferdinand E. Bartelme of Hubbard Woods.

Another baby who this week celebrated her first month anniversary is little Barbara Husted Lucas, who was born on March 21 at the Evanston hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lucas. The baby is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Husted.

The first recipe needed for tomorrow's set of menus is one for bran waffles. A waffle breakfast is pretty filling, as a rule, and it isn't necessary to serve eggs or bacon with it.

Bran Waffles.

[Six 7-inch Waffles.]

2 eggs
1½ cups milk
¾ cup bran
1½ cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup melted butter

Beat egg yolks slightly, add milk and bran, and let soak while sifting dry ingredients. Stir sifted dry ingredients into the liquids. Add melted butter and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a hot waffle iron.

Caramel cornstarch pudding, tomorrow's luncheon dessert, is one of the easiest to prepare of all desserts. It takes more sugar than plain corn starch pudding, because the sugar is to be caramelized, but otherwise the recipe does not vary from the standard one.

Caramel Cornstarch Pudding.

2 cups scalded milk
½ cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

While milk is scalding in the top compartment of a double boiler, melt sugar in a heavy skillet over moderate heat, stirring constantly. When it is golden and sirupy, pour it into the scalded milk. It will harden into lumps, but don't be discouraged. Stir away until all the lumps have melted. Then add cornstarch mixed to a paste with cold water, and cook over hot water until thickened and smooth. Cover and cook 20 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add vanilla and salt, pour into molds or sherbert glasses, and chill. Serve with cream.

TO PREPARE SWEETBREADS.

Sweetbreads do not keep well, so if they are purchased today for tomorrow's dinner, they should be precooked. Soak them for half an hour in cold water. Remove membrane. Simmer, don't boil, for 15 minutes in a quart of water to which 1 teaspoon of salt and 1 tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice have been added. Drain and drop into cold water. Now they are ready to broil.

To broil sweetbreads, dip them into melted butter and let them brown on all sides under moderate heat. The pre-cooking thoroly cooks them. Broiling is just to improve appearance and add flavor.

Applesauce cake, moist and delicious, may be served with a soft confectioners' sugar icing or with a sauce.

Applesauce Cake.

[8-inch square pan.]

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup butter, margarine or vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup canned applesauce
1 cup raisins

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt, and spices. Cream butter and sugar together thoroly. Alternately add dry ingredients and applesauce, beating batter until smooth after each addition. Add raisins. Bake in a loaf at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes. Cool and frost with mocha, lemon, or orange confectioners' sugar frosting.

April 24, 1940.

Those born on this date have a vocational urge along practical lines. They ought to succeed in real estate, banking, small businesses, hotel work, and the domestic arts. The desire to create order and harmony is strong as also is the domestic urge. Educational work is very suitable. Those born today may have some adjustments to make this year. Emphasis is on the home. It is a good year in which to marry.

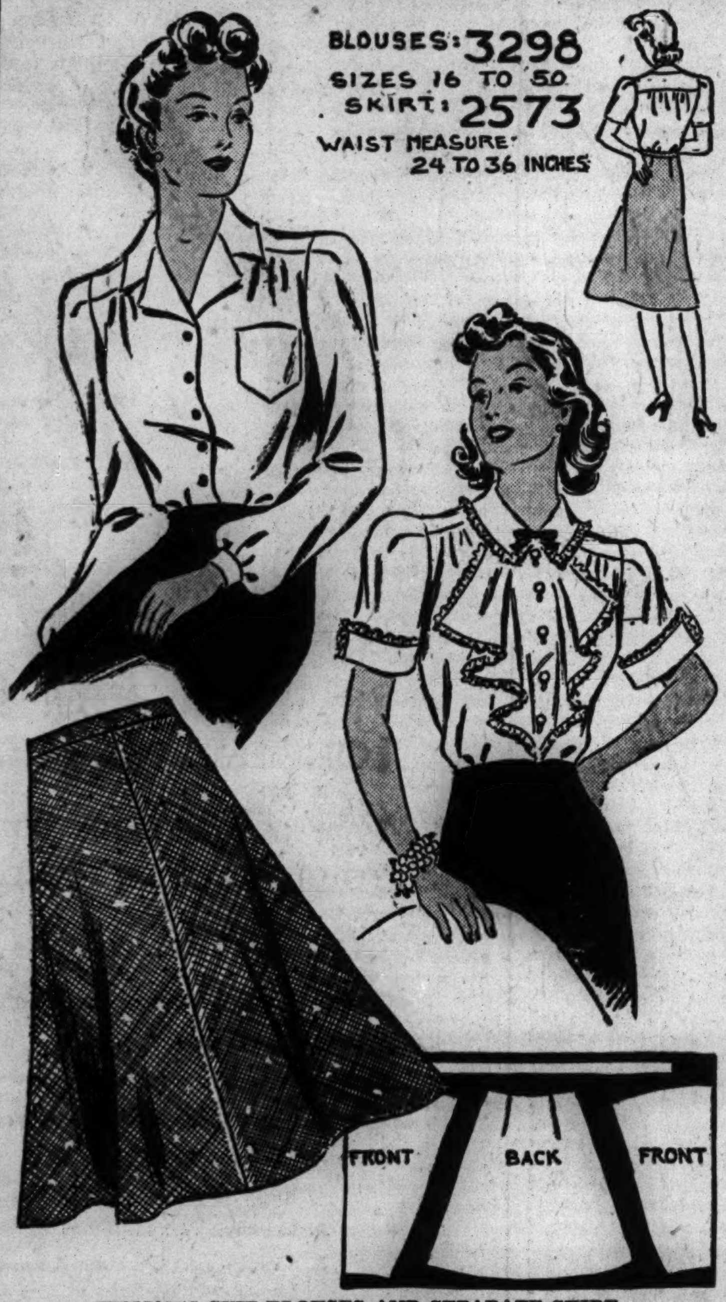
Blouses for Mature Figures



WOMAN'S SUIT BLOUSES AND SEPARATE SKIRT.

A suit is one of the most flattering costumes a heavy woman can wear, but too often she has the problem of finding blouses to use with it. Either the models offered are too frilly and girlish, or simply aren't available in the larger sizes she requires. To meet this problem we've designed two blouses especially for the woman who needs larger size blouses.

Left, a shirtwaist with softened lines, ideal in silk or cotton. It has stud buttons down the front, an opened rever collar line, and full sleeves caught into wristbands.

A skirt to wear with these, in case you need a separate skirt, may be made of woolen or silk.

Style No. 3298 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved blouse, with 3 yards of edging; 2¼ yards for long sleeved tailored blouse.

Style No. 2573 is designed for waist sizes 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, and 36. Size 28 requires 1 yard of 54 inch material.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

If you asked the average bridge player, "What is the worst mistake you can make at bridge?" he probably would reply, "To trump your partner's ace." It must be admitted that it is rarely a good play, but it can be. It may be vital to get the lead at just that time.

Today's hand is not quite as spectacular, but illustrates a similar situation which is much commoner. East could see that his partner's opening lead would probably win the trick, yet he should have overtaken.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	2 hearts
Pass	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

South knew when he bid four spades that his king of hearts was almost certainly worthless. But with an almost solid seven card major suit and an honor in his partner's suit, he was confident he would have a fair play for game.

West opened the queen of diamonds and declarer studied the dummy for a second or two. The lead marked East with the king of diamonds. To win with dummy's ace and take the spade finesse would almost surely lose. For West was a very fine player and if he held the king of spades [as was most probable] he would lead a low diamond to force East to win the second round of that suit with the king. The marked heart return then would defeat the contract.

But East was not a good player. So South played a small diamond at the first trick, hoping that East would not think of overtaking with his king. East did not overtake! A diamond continuation was taken by dummy's ace, and since East could never thereafter gain the lead, South was able to draw trumps and obtain discards on the clubs without danger of a heart lead thru the king.

Had East overtaken the queen of diamonds with his king, a heart return would have made it easy to defeat the contract.

Paderewski Thanks Chicago Leader for Polish Relief

Gen. Robert E. Wood, midwestern chairman of the Paderewski fund for Polish relief, received a letter yesterday from Ignace Jan Paderewski, famous pianist and first premier of Poland, thanking him for his efforts. Paderewski wrote from his home in Switzerland. Gen. Wood has set a quota of $100,000 for Chicago. The money will be turned over to the Commission for Polish Relief to purchase food and other supplies which will be shipped to Poland via Italy.

All Children Like to Laugh; Encourage It

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

She's in her middle years. She's had great trouble recently, yet she always is a welcome visitor in our house, as far as the young people are concerned. This is partly because she can laugh. She is the rare possessor of both a sense of humor and a sense of fun. There's always a little bubble of one or the other ready to rise to the surface on the slightest provocation.

Children dearly love to laugh.

You know this? So do we all. But there are lots of things we know about of which we don't make use. The teacher who has a sense of fun herself has an advantage, and the one who gives her class a chance for a hearty laugh once in a while is clever. The children go back to their spelling or geography refreshed after the cobwebs and restraint have been swept away by a gale of mirth.

Mothers also are clever who use this bit of knowledge. Some women are naturally jolly and easy going about the ever present routines that are so much a part of the lives of small children and their parents. Other women have a sense of fun, too, but they are not so easy going, and so the sense of fun gets submerged by all they have to do. They become so terribly businesslike that the children get decidedly bored. This often is followed by a lackadaisical attitude toward washing and dressing and other routine matters, or by actual disobedience.

And this, in turn, is likely to lead to friction of some sort, such as a mother's arguing, nagging, or scolding. And how all this can spoil a woman's pleasure in her children and take the joy out of life for the children themselves!

A funny little word here or there will evoke a gurgle or an outright laugh. A "let's do it together attitude" will result in a chummy feeling. An impromptu story about a baby rabbit or a kitty whose mother taught it to wash its face will invest face washing or the lathering of chubby hands with a new interest.

"Living With Our In-Betweens—the Children from Six to Twelve" is a booklet of interest to parents and teachers. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Freda Trepel's Piano Debut Is Notably Alive

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Freda Trepel, pianist, gave a successful debut recital in Curtiss hall last night. She played an exacting program which ranged in time from Bach to Shostakovich and in character from the severely classical to the tempestuously modern. The recital's distinguishing characteristic was its consistent aliveness. Miss Trepel felt her music deeply and projected it excitingly.

She has at her command a tone which was gentle and liquid in such things as the Chopin E-flat minor etude, sonorous to the instrument's limits in the Bach-Busoni chaconne. She possesses also a dexterity which was quite equal both to the purling passage work of a Mozart sonata and the headlong, dizzying tunes of Infante's "El Vito." A gift for vigorous, forward marching rhythms did not detract at all from the effectiveness of the last named piece.

Miss Trepel displayed an excellent musical intelligence. Her work was well thought out, yet it was warm and immediate and did not suggest mere cold calculation. Her faults are not of great importance. First night nerves produced a certain stiffness occasionally, and youthful exuberance often led her to hit the piano too hard.

W. C. T. U. to Meet Here for First Time in 16 Years

For the first time in 16 years the National Woman's Christian Temperance union will convene in Chicago. Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, national president, anounced at headquarters in Evanston yesterday that the 66th annual meeting will be held here from Aug. 9 to 14. Three thousand delegates and visitors will attend, she estimated.

[ADVERTISMENT]

HAVE YOU TRIED TOLL HOUSE COOKIES?

They are so easy to make and your first bite will convince you that Toll House Cookies are delightfully different. You'll taste a creamy bit of rich Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a crunch of walnut in every bite. Truly a perfect combination of flavors. Try this delicious recipe tomorrow.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

This unusual recipe and many others can be found in Mrs. Ruth Wakefield's Cook Book—"Toll House Tried and True Recipes," on sale at all book stores.

Crocheted Bathroom Ensemble

Knees Offer New Challenge to Loveliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Don't think for a moment that your exercise burden is lightening any. What do you think they're concentrating on now? Your knees, madame, your knees!

We sat in at a fashionable showing of bare knee fashions recently. They were thought up and designed for sports and country wear, a boon to golfers, especially. It was ruled that slacks are too conspicuous, that dresses with skirts wide enough to let one move freely are likely to flutter just as you prepare to make the shot to change history. For bowling, too, which more and more women are taking up seriously, the new bare knee fashion is recommended.

The costume is no problem. But the knees! That's where you come in with your exercises! The show spoken of was done in collaboration with the head of one of the top-ranking cosmetic houses, who apparently never misses a bet on what's right around the corner. So a couple of her salon models showed the audience how to do the "Happy Frog," the "Tired Knee Bend," the "Chair Sit Step," and the "Chair Knee Bend"—exercises designed to convert knees into genuine beauty props.

Not since Ann Pennington's have knees been thought of in such terms, but from now on, it would seem, they'll be important beauty factors. For the cosmetician has devised a knee makeup kit to match your bare knee costume. It looks like a little flannel purse, but it contains, besides your hanky and "mad money," a small tube of cream for the roughened knees, a tube of film nicknamed "liquid stockings" because it flatters the legs and goes on easily.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

We were interested in reading that war, with its brutal fangs digging into many parts of the world, will not stop women warworkers from using cosmetics—in London, at least. It is true that they may dispense with some of the evening makeup, but women have become so conscientious about their appearance that they will present themselves at their best during the daytime hours.

The same war that curtails the supply of many things also becomes the mother of invention in the makeup field. In Great Britain there's a popular demand for the type of cosmetics that will achieve a quick makeup—preparations that perform a double duty and are easy to use, such as powder creams and cosmetics in pad form. Preparations packaged in tube form are favored because they are easy to carry around.

Another item says that luminous lipsticks to be used in the blackout were first suggested as a joke. It develops that it was a joke with a foundation and not nearly so funny as it sounded at first. A way has been found to manufacture lipsticks that satisfactorily meet the requirements and soon the lips can light up in the dark.

The new lipstick shades are to be keyed to the fashionable color, which is military red. This means that the rest of them will not be in the pink. And with eyes on the khaki and the blue of the royal air force, one house has brought out two shades of face powder to harmonize with these colors. FLORENCE MURDOCH.

Audience, Told Hat Is Amusing, Dares to Laugh

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Every one in the Esquire theater laughed at the hat worn by Mrs. Charles F. Glore in the contest there yesterday, for they had been told by Announcer Mrs. Frank Hibbard that it was supposed to be amusing. But no one paid the slightest attention to it as Mrs. Glore strolled along Michigan avenue after the contest, for it did not look unusual to any one accustomed to this year's spring headgear.

It was a tiny straw pancake, worn at an angle, and trimmed with real parsley, rhubarb, asparagus, and a little life size yellow canary. It was stunning and did not look unlike the model Mrs. Glore has been wearing recently, the only difference being that her susual bonnet has flowers on it instead of vegetables. It has the bird, however.

Mrs. Glore and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham, wearing a vegetable trimmed turban made by Mrs. Laurence Robbins, tied for first prize in the featured section of the contest planned to benefit Children's Memorial hospital. Mrs. Robbins had used parsley, radishes, and a white turnip carved into a rose, and the band that held it to Mrs. Winterbotham's pretty head was made of lemon peel. Mrs. Glore won the prize in a draw.

Mrs. Percy Ames in a white gardenia confection that cost $.65; Mrs. William O. Hinkley in a pancaked swirl of pale blue feathers that cost $65; Mrs. William B. Greenlee, president of the women's board, in a luxuriant chapeau of fresh pansies; Mrs. Loyal Davis, in a creation of fresh red carnations and mother-in-law's tongue; Miss Marjorie Kimball in a perky affair made of clothespins, and Mrs. William De Riemer in the straw base of a Chianti bottle also appeared in the feature parade of hats.

These hats designed to make the audience laugh were really no sillier than most of those worn by the contestants in the contest proper [and by most of the audience, it might be added]. After the contest a notice was flashed on the screen that Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster had been circulating among the women in the theater to choose a prize winner from the audience. They had decided that Frank Hibbard's brown fedora deserved the prize, but since the prize was a red alligator bag Mrs. Brewster announced that she thought her co-judge should have it. Mrs. Thorne's hat was a lovely and smart one and the red bag will go perfectly with it. It was black with white wings tipped with red that made it exactly what Mrs. Brewster called it, a Chanticler hat.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf were the judges in the contest proper in which about 30 women participated, and of which Mrs. Eugene Howard was the winner.

The contest was the highlight of the afternoon's entertainment, arranged to replenish the stock of the White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 East Ohio street. Mrs. Hibbard was chairman of the large committee that worked to make the party the great success it was.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Steven E. Chapin of River Forest announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Gordon S. Sargent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Sargent of Rogers Park. Both Miss Chapin and her fiancé are graduates of Northwestern university.

From the east comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Barbara Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Nelle Barnes of New Haven and Westport, Conn., and of Claire L. Barnes of Detroit, to James Haig. Miss Barnes was graduated from Kemper Hall and attended Northwestern university. Her fiancé, the son of Prof. and Mrs. Robert Murray Haig of Riverdale-on-Hudson, N. Y., and of Canada, is a graduate of Rollins college in Winter Park, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Levy of 1227 Madison Park announce the engagement of their daughter, June, to Louis M. Goldman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Goldman of 4940 East End avenue. Both Miss Levy and her fiancé attended the University of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Goldenson of Pittsburgh, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Robert Foreman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Foreman of Chicago. The wedding will take place in July in Pittsburgh. Miss Goldenson is a student at Northwestern university, where her fiancé was graduated.

COLD GIVES SOX CHANCE TO REST —UNTIL TODAY

Rigney Will Oppose Tigers.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The 1940 American league season became eight days old yesterday and in that short space of time the White Sox have piled up four postponements to be played later in double headers. However, when yesterday's scheduled encounter with the Detroit Tigers was called off the Sox shed no tears, as they had in earlier freezeouts, for the vacation gave Jimmy Dykes' boys a chance to ease their taut nerves and scheme ways to resume their status as a high class ball team.

The layoff also gave Luke Appling a chance to do some healing from spike wounds accidentally inflicted by Hank Greenberg in Monday's game. Luke was at Comiskey park yesterday, ready to play if called upon. He might not have been asked to play even had the weather been all right and may even be asked to rest today. Skeeter Webb is a much better shortstop than his nervous showing Monday indicated, and he can fill in ably, especially with Luke around to hit if the spot arrives.

Dykes Changes Plans.

Yesterday's postponement caused Mr. Dykes to change his pitching plans. Bill Dietrich was to have pitched yesterday but John D. Rigney is slated for this afternoon. Johnny wasn't so hot against the Browns in St. Louis Saturday and Dykes is eager to get him in shape for a string comparable to his 11 straight last year. John lost six before he got his fine splurge under way and Boss Dykes wants no such dillydallying before this season.

There is no betting that the Tigers and Sox will meet this afternoon. It was 44 degrees at the scheduled game time yesterday and the forecast for today is cloudy and cooler. Cooler than yesterday would, indeed, be pretty cool for baseball and there's no big hurry about things, after all, what with plenty of nice, sweltering days for double headers in the not too distant offing.

They Go Away Tonight.

Game or no game today the Sox tonight will move to a sector which has a brand of weather similar to that of Chicago. Tomorrow they are slated to open a two game series in Cleveland. After the two games on the shores of Lake Erie they will come back to Lake Michigan's breezes for Saturday and Sunday games, then hie east to Boston for a road trip that will take them to the four American league eastern cities and Detroit. Thus Chicago fans, weather permitting, have three more chances to view their heroes between now and May 14, when the Sox will receive the Boston Red Sox, first of the invaders from the east.

The Sox to date have won one game, a seven hit success by Ted Lyons and have blown three, one to each of their colleagues in the western end of the American league. They have a team batting average of .237, despite their contribution to Bob Feller's no-hitter fame, and have one .400 slugger, Taft Wright.

Ol' Debbil River Crashes Reds' Ball Park

It's Difficult to Call Turn in Drake Relays

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The prinicipal difficulty in predicting the outcome of many of the relay races in the annual Drake university games is lack of information on the makeup of the teams. Indeed, conditions on the day of the race, or perhaps the possibility of victory in another event, in which one or more runners also are entered, may cause the coach to scratch a race.

There is no team championship involved. The condition of the athletes, who are just entering a strenuous outdoor campaign, frequently upsets predictions. It isn't difficult to guess that Michigan probably has the best four mile relay team; that Indiana should excel in the distance medley; and that Michigan, Illinois, which finished in that order in the Big 9½ indoor meet, and Notre Dame, should battle for the one mile relay title, with Minnesota having an outside chance.

Upsetting the Dope.

But even these seemingly sure shots may be beaten if a No. 1 runner is not ready for this particular day, or if accident befalls. The results of the individual events are more easily predicted. Even here, it is not always the first flight star who makes the race, but the earnest effort of others to win that creates the thrill.

Fred Wolcott of Rice is the greatest hurdler in the country. He holds the National Collegiate and National A. A. U. high hurdles titles as well as the all time Drake record of :14.2 which he established in 1938. But Wolcott's defense will be of interest because Ed Smith of Wisconsin, Big 9½ indoor hurdle champion, who also trailed Wolcott in the N. C. A. A., again will be pursuing the tow headed southerner.

Boyce Gatewood of Texas, winner last week at the Kansas relays; Stan Kelley of Michigan; Ed Dreiss, Texas A. & M., who has run the high hurdles in :09.5; Bob Shurilla, Marquette; Al Kurnat, Ohio State; Bill Smutz, Nebraska; Joe Finch, Northwestern; Jack Morris, Oklahoma, and Dick Reising, of Illinois, are others who are entered against Wolcott.

Munski Two Mile Threat.

Even Ralph Schwarzkopf, Michigan's great middle distance runner, who is conceded a fine opportunity to better the record of 9:10 for two miles which Greg Rice of Notre Dame set last year, may be beaten. If John Munski of Missouri elects to run this distance, he may take the

ANGRY WATERS OF OHIO INVADE CROSLEY FIELD

Cincinnati, O., April 23 (AP).—Home plate at Crosley field slipped from sight beneath backwaters of the Ohio river tonight and for the first time in major league history a baseball game was washed out by flood. Today's game with the St. Louis Cardinals was postponed until May 13 and tomorrow's was set for May 25.

Worst Is Yet to Come.

Ival Goodman, Harry Craft, and young Mike McCormick would have needed a johnboat to shag outfield flies at game time; Ernie Lombardi would have found hip boots handy back of the plate, and Paul Derringer, scheduled to pitch against Mort Cooper, would have been something of a modern Crusoe.

With the Ohio edging to the 59 foot mark—seven above flood stage and within one foot of a predicted crest—the whole field likely will be covered by daybreak.

They'll Siphon Out Water.

General Manager Warren C. Giles inspected the park this morning, stepped gingerly over row upon row of lower tier seats to avoid a knee-deep ducking, and gave up hope of playing before Saturday. The Pirates have asked that the Saturday and Sunday games be transferred to Pittsburgh. Giles said tonight the games would be played in Cincinnati.

Once the stream becomes stationary or starts falling a giant siphon, fashioned from fire hose, will be connected to field drains. Five inches of sand were dumped onto the diamond proper to protect the surface after the inundation.

Radio Criticism Draws Hutchins' First 'Comment'

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, yesterday deemed the statement of a radio commentator that the Western conference directors of athletics had scheduled the Maroons in basketball under the Chicago threat "to blow the lid off if booted out," as being too undignified to answer. Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the conference, entered emphatic denial.

This recognition by President Hutchins, however, was unusual, for Dr. Hutchins did not deign to notice published reports last December attributed to him which criticized the Big 9½ more severely.

Finns Finally Decide to Call Off Olympics

HELSINGFORS, April 23 (AP).—The 1940 Olympic games were officially canceled today at a joint meeting of the organizing committee and the permanent Finnish Olympic committee.

The two committees decided the international crisis made it impossible to stage the games this summer. Finland, however, will petition the international Olympic committee for permission to arrange the Olympics immediately after European hostilities cease.

Decision Not Unexpected.

This decision had been expected for some time tho there was some hope the games might be held after Russia and Finland signed their peace treaty.

The games were the first to be canceled since Berlin had to give up the 1916 Olympiad because of the world war. The 1940 games originally were awarded to Tokio, but Japan forfeited them because of her war with China. Finland agreed in July, 1938, to take them over.

Japan at the same time gave up the winter games. They were awarded to Garmich-Partenkirchen, Germany, scene of the 1936 winter games, but Germany canceled them several months ago.

NEED SPECIAL RULING.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the American Olympic committee, indicated yesterday there was only an outside chance that the Olympic games could be held before 1944.

He pointed out that the international Olympic committee would have to make a special ruling in order to hold the Olympics earlier.

"However, every nation has a friendly feeling for Finland," Brundage said, "and I think most of them would do anything that could be done legitimately to help the Finns run off the Olympics as planned."

He estimated the government and private interests in Finland had spent $10,000,000 making preparations for the games.

SIROCCO NEEDS WORK TO BECOME THREAT IN DERBY

Trainer Smith Hopes to Race Him Once.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 23.—Sirocco, one of the most dangerous of the Kentucky Derby dark horses, galloped smoothly around the mile track at Dixiana farm this morning while his trainer, Jimmy Smith, watched every move with care. A damp wind, blowing across miles and miles of fresh grass and clover, carried a threat of more rain.

"He's in great shape—but he needs more racing," Smith said, while his discerning blue eyes took in every detail of the horse's performance. "I wanted to run him last week, but the race didn't fill. Now I'd like him to go Thursday, but if this weather keeps up maybe that race won't fill either. In that case we can't send him out before the Derby trial Tuesday."

He's Well Liked.

Those are a few of the worries of a trainer who is trying to bring his horse up to the Derby with a definite chance of winning. Sirocco is one of the few thorobreds which are taken seriously as rivals of Edward R. Bradley's Bimelech in the big race a week from Saturday at Churchill Downs.

"I'm anxious to see how he goes against Bimelech in the trial next Tuesday," Smith continued. "If he does all right, we'll start him in the Derby whether Bimelech is in the field or not. You can never tell what's going to happen in a big race."

Tho Sirocco is not eligible for the Blue Grass stakes, which will be run Thursday at Keeneland, it seems quite likely that he'll get a chance to try conclusions with Bimelech in the Derby trial at Churchill Downs because the Bradley color bearer needs racing, too.

Mud Will Stop Him.

While Sirocco continued his gallop, some frisky foals less than a month old, stopped their frolicking in a grassy paddock and stood with their long legs braced rigidly, watching the Derby horse go by. They'll have their turn sometime, maybe. In response to questions, Smith continued his appraisal.

"He has plenty of staying power. He showed he was a good route runner by the way he went when he won the Walden Stakes at a mile and a sixteenth at Pimlico last fall. He doesn't like the mud very well, tho. That doesn't mean we'd keep him out of the Derby if the track was only a bit wet, but if there's real mud, it might take too much out of him. We can't run the risk of tearing down a good horse like him if he hasn't got a clear chance of winning."

Some pretty good horses were behind Sirocco when he won the Walden. William Woodward's Fenelon was eighth and J. Yancey Christmas' Rough Pass was third. The latter had finished second to Bimelech in the Pimlico Futurity the preceding week.

Finishes Third in Sprint.

Sirocco has made one start this year, finishing third in a six furlong dash on the second day of the Keeneland meeting. No particular significance was attached to this defeat because it was his first time out and the distance was short. On the contrary he showed just what his handlers were looking for. After coming from seventh place at the head of the stretch he was getting to Town Boy and Inscolad at every stride. In preparation for a mile and a quarter race like the Derby, trainers aren't particularly interested in the sprinting ability of their horses. They want to know what they're likely to do when the real running begins in the last half mile.

That one race at Keeneland nearly resulted in catastrophe for Sirocco. The doors of the starting gate failed to function smoothly and he crashed into one of them as he came out. The edge of the door struck him less than two inches above his right eye, giving him a cut that required five

DALLESSANDRO, STURGEON, AND RUSSELL OUT

Pirate Rally in Ninth Beats French, 3-2.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 23.—Paul Waner, the little man whom age can't wither, stepped between the Cubs and a budding victory today. He's done it before, but this time he was in the rôle of a pinch hitter. Summoned in the ninth when the bases were filled and Vance Page was trying to solve a problem willed him by Larry French, the elder of the Waner brothers slashed a single into right, two runs came home, and the Pirates triumphed by 3 to 2.

Gabby Hartnett.

Phil Cavarretta.

It marked the third successive beating for the Chicagoans and tonight Manager Gabby Hartnett stormed into action, announcing the benching of three of his regulars for tomorrow's game with the Pirates. Bill Nicholson will be installed in right field, which he occupied during the late portion of the 1939 season. Augie Galan will shift from center to left field and Hank Leiber will take over center, which he played last season. Bob Mattick will return to shortstop and Phil Cavarretta will occupy first base, the post he once held regularly.

Dallessandro a Disappointment.

Gone from the scene, maybe temporarily, will be the two rookies who had been counted upon to produce. One is Dominic Dallessandro, reputedly a slugging outfielder. The other is Bob Sturgeon, whose work at shortstop during spring barnstorming indicated he could field. Dallessandro has notched three hits in 24 times at bat, failing 14 times when there were one or more on the bases. Sturgeon has made seven errors in as many games. Glen [Rip] Russell has hit fairly well but his defensive work at first base has been below the standard he maintained as a freshman last season.

There was a little bit more than those two knockout runs to the finish that for eight innings didn't seem possible because of French's brilliance. The second of the two decisive runs had to come sliding into the plate just as Catcher Al Todd was taking Leiber's perfect throw in. When Umpire Tom Dunn ruled the runner safe Todd flew into a rage. First he heaved the ball clear over the grandstand roof. Then he turned to Dunn, shook his fists and ranted, but finally everybody walked away peaceably.

French Fades in Ninth.

Budge Has Easy Time in U. S. Open Tourney

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 23 (AP).—It was just an easy warmup today for California's Don Budge as he disposed of Byrne Bauer of White Sulphur Springs, one of the four unranked amateurs in the fourth United States Open tennis tourney, 6-0, 6-1, 6-0. The going was not so easy for Richard Skeen of California, defending champion and seeded No. 2. Skeen took his first set from Carl Bowyer of White Sulphur Springs, 6-3, but was forced to play 25 more games before finishing, 9-7, 6-3.

John Shostrom Advances in Land of Sky Tourney

Asheville, N. C., April 23 (AP).—Tom Kelly of Portland, Ore.; John Shostrom of Chicago, Jack Mahoney of New York, and C. A. Farrar of White Plains, N. Y., sidestepped showers today in qualifying for quarter-finals of the Land of the Sky invitation tennis tournament. Kelly, second seeded, and Shostrom, fourth seeded, each disposed of two local entries in straight sets. Farrar advanced on default of third seeded Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Mahoney eliminated William Coxe of Asheville, 6-1, 6-1.

AMERICAN COLLEGE WINS.

The American College of Physical Education yesterday defeated the Herzl junior college nine, 13 to 9, in Welles park. Pietrazak, the winners' catcher, made five hits in five times at bat and scored five runs. Charles Sansone and John Gilmartin held Herzl to nine hits.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Chin Music, $45.30 straight, $12.80 place, $5.90 show; Medred, $3.90 place, $2.90 show; Stinging, $3.60 show.

CHIN MUSIC broke alertly and was sent to the front. She was rated along and, when challenged in stretch, gamely stood drive to win in final stride. MEDRED moved up gamely on the outside, appeared to have race won at sixteenth pole but she weakened in closing strides. STINGING closed fast under a hard drive.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. [Claiming price, $1,500]. Four year olds and up. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 2:46. Off at 2:46½. Winner, b m., 5, Ha Ha-Faithless, by Blazes. Owner, Miss Dorothy Grace. Trainer, B. F. Christmas. Net value to winner, $700; second, $180; third, $90; fourth, $30. Time, 1:14 2-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Billy's Folly, $10.30 straight, $4.00 place, $3.40 show; Billionaire, $5.90 place, $4.40 show; Cycle, $3.80 show.

BILLY'S FOLLY broke a bit slow, but was lucky to get thru on inside around turn, ran into lead entering stretch, drew out but was doing her best to stall off the determined bid of BILLIONAIRE. The latter had good early speed, ran out around turn, but came very fast in stretch. CYCLE got away fast, showed speed, but tired badly. RED TIME came from far back.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. [Claiming price, $2,500-$2,000]. Three year olds and up. Maidens. Start good. Won easily, place same. Went to post at 3:15½. Off at 3:16½. Two dollar mutuels paid: Sun Lark, $4.20 straight, $2.80 place, $2.40 show; Wayward Knight, $3.20 place, $2.80 show; Dynamic, $3.80 show.

SUN LARK much the best. She moved up with a rush in first quarter mile, took lead passing the three furlong pole, drew out, winning nicely in hand. WAYWARD KNIGHT broke very slow, was rushed up on the outside, closed gamely but never threatened the winner. DYNAMIC broke fast but was shut off turning out of backstretch, recovered and closed gamely. BUDDY'S SISTER had plenty of speed.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. [Claiming price, $3,000.] Three year olds. Start good. Won driving, place easily. Went to post at 3:46½. Off at 3:47. NOTRE DAME NINE IS VICTOR OVER MAROONS, 9 TO 4

Irish Batter Garverick for 17 Hits.

South Bend, Ind., April 23 [Special].—Notre Dame defeated Chicago in baseball today, 9 to 4, accumulating 17 hits off Ken Garverick. It was Notre Dame's third victory.

Andy Chlebeck and Ken Oberbrunner, outfielders, led the Irish attack with three hits each in five times at bat.

Aaron Manders, right fielder, led the Maroons with two singles in four trips. Sebastian Nowicki pitched five scoreless innings for Notre Dame before yielding four runs on three walks and two hits in the sixth. He yielded four hits in all. Norvall Hunthausen, who relieved him, gave up only one hit in three innings, striking out five.

Chicago	000	004	000—4	5	6
Notre Dame	201	031	11*—9	17	0

Batteries—Garverick and Levit; Nowicki, Hunthausen and Crimmins.

PURDUE, 5; BUTLER, 4.

Lafayette, Ind., April 23 [Special].—Purdue's baseball team, rather than continue its enforced idleness as a result of snow and rain, took the field in a drizzle today to defeat Butler, 5 to 4.

Bob Bailey and John Emmert pitched for Purdue, Emmert receiving credit for the victory. Co-Capt. Felix Mackiewicz led the attack with three hits, including a home run. Butler scored all of its runs in the fourth inning when two successive errors by Mackiewicz preceded hits by Swager and Herrmann, a walk, and a wild pitch.

Butler	000	400	000—4	8	3
Purdue	002	021	00*—5	7	3

Batteries—Tex and Haack; Bailey, Emmert and Young.

N. U., 10; BRADLEY, 5.

Northwestern's baseball team hammered out 13 hits to defeat Bradley Tech, 10 to 5, yesterday on Roycemore field in Evanston. After Northwestern scored a run in the first inning George McKinnon hit a home run in the second, then Bradley tied the score in the fifth with a four run rally. The Wildcats came back in their half with three runs and made the victory secure with single tallies in the sixth and seventh.

Bill De Correvont, Purple centerfielder, halted a Bradley rally in the eighth when he made a running shoestring catch and picked a runner off first with a bullet throw for a double play. Score:

Bradley	010	040	000—	5	4	2
Northwestern	140	031	10*—	10	13	2

MICHIGAN IS BEATEN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 23 [Special].—Michigan Normal defeated a listless University of Michigan nine, 7 to 3, today. The Hurons hopped Jack Barry for four runs in the third inning and were never threatened seriously. Score:

Normal	014	001	001—	7—	12—	3

WILDCAT TENNIS TEAM WINS, 9 TO 0, OVER AUGUSTANA

Northwestern's tennis team opened its season yesterday by defeating Augustana college of Rock Island, 9 to 0, at Evanston. Seymour Greenberg, Wildcat Sophomore, was forced to come from behind to win his match from Dick Hainline, who on Monday had defeated Charles Shostrom of Chicago. Trailing, 1 to 4, Greenberg rallied to win the set, 7-5, then took the second set, 6-1. The summaries:

SINGLES.

DOUBLES.

O'Neil and Richards, Northwestern, defeated W. Freistat and R. Freistat, Augustana, 6-3, 6-2.

NATURE TOURS OPEN SATURDAY IN STATE PARK

The second annual spring nature tour will be held at Starved Rock park, Utica, Ill., on Saturday and Sunday under the direction of Dr. Donald T. Ries, state park naturalist of the department of public works and building, division of parks. The Illinois Natural History survey, Illinois Geological survey, and the Chicago Academy of Sciences will coöperate.

The meetings will start at 1:30 o'clock Saturday with conducted tours thru the park. All of these tours will start from the park naturalist's headquarters, which is located in the Starved Rock lodge.

Registration for the nature tour will take place during the morning and afternoon in the lobby of the lodge. There is no registration fee nor any charge for attending.

Spring Comes to Tam o' Shanter

Fire and Flood Give Impetus to Tam o' Shanter

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A fire and a flood, of all things, are the chief reasons for the growth and success of the Tam O' Shanter Country club, one of the most amazing developments in Chicago golf history. At least, that is what Tam O' Shanter's enthusiastic members will tell you when you ask them, "How come all the hustle and bustle out here?"

The story goes back to an April evening in 1936, the night of the club's annual spring party. The festivities were halted by the cry of "Fire," and within a few hours the clubhouse was completely destroyed.

That would have been enough to deter the memberships of most golf clubs, but the folks at Tam O'Shanter refused to be stymied by the loss of a clubhouse. They went to work with such a will that the nucleus of the present structure was completed in time for the 1937 spring opening, anniversary of the fire.

Then Comes the Flood.

Other improvements were made, not only in the clubhouse, but on the golf course as well, and the club appeared to be back on the road to prosperity, but the fire was not to be the last of their grief. On July 4, 1938, the waters of the north branch of the Chicago river, which wind thru the course, rose to flood stage and completely inundated the grounds, particularly in the vicinity of the clubhouse.

Undaunted by this new disaster, the members rolled up their sleeves and really went to work. They were led by George S. May, a dynamic native of Mattoon, Ill., who had then been a Tam member for eleven years. Mr. May, a management engineer, already had arranged for the purchase of the property, a deal which ultimately was consummated in October of 1938.

Under the May régime two corporations are involved in the conduct of the club. Mr. May and 80 members of the club form Tam O' Shanter, Inc., which has leased the property for 50 years to the Tam O' Shanter Country club. Mr. May owns 84% of the stock in Tam O' Shanter, Inc., the remainder being divided among the other 80 members. May is president of the corporation and the club.

Operates It as a Business.

The May credo of club management recognizes the social functions of a country club, but places above these his contention that the club should be operated the same as any other business. "There's no reason why a golf club should not be run successfully if it is treated as a business. You have to spend money to make money, and that is going to be our plan at Tam O'Shanter."

Most recent expenditures are for a swimming pool, 80x35 feet; a playground for children, and a paved parking space designed to accommodate 254 cars within the club property, which is located on Howard avenue at Caldwell road.

Five greens on the course have been raised. These are the first, second, third, seventh, and ninth. The elevation of the short third, about 135 yards long, makes it one of the sportiest holes in the district, flanked as it is by water, on three sides—fore, aft, and left. To the rear and right of this green is found the dam by which the club can create its own lake. This latter was frozen over for skating in connection with the club's winter program, which also includes a ski slide.

Three tees—the first, third, and fourth—also have been raised. All of this work has been done within the last year and a half under the direction of Greenkeeper Ray Didier.

Another Didier function is still in the process of completion, and probably will not be finished for more than a year. This is the walling up of the sides of the river with sections of concrete, of which 684 truckloads have been delivered for use or already used. Eventually, all of the banks will be buttressed with these cubes of concrete. The river crosses seven of the club's holes—the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 16th, 17th, and 18th—and runs parallel to three—the 7th, 9th, and 16th. Seven steel bridges are used in crossing the stream.

Gordon Has a Background.

Tam O'Shanter has one of the most complete clubhouses in the district. Harry Dunbar is entering his second year as manager of the club. There are 602 lockers—346 for men, 192 for women, and 64 in a separate section for trade and fraternal tournaments. Its dining room seats 200 guests comfortably. There are five bars, exclusive of the one in the halfway house between the ninth green and tenth tee.

Bill Gordon, a familiar figure in Illinois P. G. A. affairs for years during his stay at Rockford, also is in his second year as professional at Tam O'Shanter. A native of Hartford, Conn., Bill is the son of William Gordon Sr., a pro who was also a course architect and laid out a number of Massachusetts courses, most famous of which is Brae Burn, scene of the 1925 National open. Bill himself became a professional after he returned from the war in 1919.

SIROCCO NEEDS WORK TO BECOME THREAT IN DERBY

stitches. The injury still bothers him a bit but the cut is healing nicely.

He Is Nearly Ready.

Sirocco wintered on Dixiana farm. Early in February, systematic training began. He was first galloped over the fields, up and down hill, whenever the weather would permit. Later he was worked over the farm's private track. Smith believes that he is thoroly seasoned and needs only a little racing to put him on perfect edge for the Derby.

Sirocco was bred at Dixiana, which is owned by Charles T. Fisher of Detroit. His sire is Sweep All, which finished second to Twenty Grand in 1932 when that great runner set the Derby record of 2:00 4-5. Sirocco's dam is Miss Toro, a daughter of Toro, which ran third to Reigh Count, and Misstep in the Derby of 1928.

Smith, who was one of the country's best jockeys some years ago, is now a friendly rival of the organization for which he often rode. He piloted some of Bradley's best horses. He brought Blue Larkspur home on top in the Arlington Gold cup race and the Stars and Stripes handicap of 1930. He rode Black Helen to the first victory of her brilliant career. Due to a last minute shift of stable plans, he missed riding Burgoo King in the Kentucky Derby in 1932. That was an unlucky break, but he feels that he'll be all square with fortune if Sirocco wins this Derby.

Ah! The Angel Is Among Us; Bar the Doors

Everett Marshall, one of the most skillful heavyweight wrestlers in the game, will be a windup principal in St. Louis tonight, but he will be in a secondary position when he meets Louis Thesz in the Coliseum tomorrow. That's because Maurice Tillet, the Angel, also will appear on the Coliseum card. The Angel meets Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football player, in the main event.

Tillet was brought to this country last January by Karl Pojello, wrestling star of 15 years ago, and the chunky fellow [he is almost as wide as he is tall] became an attraction immediately. In an earlier bout in this city the Angel threw Rudy Dusek before a crowd which contributed receipts of $4,753. This gate is one of the largest in recent years.

Promoters Ed White and Fred Kohler admit the Marshall-Thesz struggle will be the most scientific in the show. They also confess that altho modern fans enjoy good, clean wrestling they prefer to watch the less skillful but more powerful, gruesome characters such as Tillet.

Harold Perry, south sectional Golden Gloves middleweight qualifier, and Reedy Evans of the west side, will meet in an amateur fight tonight in the Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street.

YANKEES FALL BEFORE DEAN OF A'S AGAIN, 3 TO 0

Southpaw Limits World Champions to 4 Hits.

New York, April 23 (AP).—Lovill [Chubby] Dean, the Philadelphia Athletics' southpaw, has the New York Yankees' number and it's zero.

He shut them out on four hits today, 3 to 0, for his second verdict of the season over the world's champions.

His first triumph over the Yanks was by 2 to 1 in the American league opener. In that game he outpitched Red Ruffing. Today he beat Bump Hadley.

Bob Johnson opened the sixth with a walk, Dick Siebert grounded to Babe Dahlgren, but Frank Crosetti dropped the ball trying for a force at second and both runners were safe. Then Frank Hayes sacrificed both runners ahead and Johnson scored on a long fly by Al Rubeling. Hadley went to pieces in the ninth and filled the bases with three walks. Marius Russo came in and after striking out Sam Chapman, Russo forced in two more runs with walks and Spud Chandler had to come in to retire the side. Score:

RED SOX, 7; SENATORS, 2.

Boston, Mass., April 23 (AP).—Mickey Harris, Queen City, N. Y., southpaw rookie, up from Scranton of the eastern league, made his major league debut today by defeating the Washington Senators, 7 to 2.

The Red Sox made only eight hits but three of them were home runs. The first homer was by Ted Williams off Emil [Dutch] Leonard in the first inning. Lou Finney belted the second homer into the right center field bull pen in the third inning, scoring a mate ahead of him. Jimmy Foxx notched the other homer in the fifth off Alejandro Carrasquel, with one man on base. Score:

Gabby Shakes Up Lineup as Cubs Lose 3d

hit performance ended he was given a lead of two runs which were unearned off Danny MacFayden in the third. Larry tottered a bit in the fifth when three hits sent the first Pirate across the plate. MacFayden went out of the game for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Three singles, loading the bags, caused the veteran southpaw to welcome assistance.

The disastrous ninth opened with a single by Bob Elliott. Arky Vaughan picked out a 3 and 1 pitch and forced Elliott. He'd have been doubled if Sturgeon had made an accurate relay to first base. Johnny Rizzo singled and Debs Garms did the running for the latter. Van Robays lifted a fly over short right center that fell safe, filling the bases. Spud Davis was sent up to bat for Fletcher, so the right handed Page was substituted for French, whereupon Paul Waner took Davis' place. The 37 year old gentleman slashed a single past Russell. Vaughan and Garms dashed home, and so did 4,138 gleeful customers.

Cubs Score a Pair.

Two were out in the third before the Cubs found a formula for run production. MacFayden made an important contribution to the discovery by plunking Stan Hack on the left ankle with a pitched ball. Billy Herman also was hit on the ankle, but by one of his own fouls, after which he singled to right. Galan bounced to short and this should have closed the inning, but Vaughan heaved the ball high over Fletcher's head, Hack scoring. Leiber then thumped a single into center, Herman going home and Galan to third. Dallessandro grounded to Vaughan, forcing Leiber.

French's run of good fortune snapped on his first pitch in the fifth. Van Robays lined the offering into center for a single. Fletcher hit a single into right, but a dumb piece of base running robbed the hit of its value. Van Robays rounded second, but when about six steps toward third decided to turn back. He was nipped, Leiber to Sturgeon to Herman. Pep Young singled to center for the third hit in succession off French, Fletcher going to third, whence he scored while Herman was throwing out Ray Mueller. MacFayden flied to Galan for the third out.

Vaughan Wastes a Triple.

Vaughan gave French a few fretful moments in the sixth. With two out the Pirate shortstop gave the ball such a terrific ride that it sailed over Galan's head and landed just short of the right center field fence, 440 feet distant. Vaughan had no trouble getting to third on his wallop, but he was stranded on Rizzo's short fly to Galan. French also had a little trouble in the seventh. Van Robays opened with a single. Fletcher got the count down to three and two and then fanned, Van Robays being doubled in an attempt to steal. Young was next, and he walked. He, too, died stealing.

The Cubs had a slim opening before them in the fourth when with one out Todd singled and reached second because Young dropped the ball in an attempted steal. No help was forthcoming from either Sturgeon or French. With one out in the fifth Herman doubled to right, but Galan and Leiber lofted to Rizzo. A double by Russell with one out in the sixth also went to waste. The next Cub base runner was Galan, who opened the eighth with a walk. He reached second on Leiber's sacrifice, but went no farther.

BILL LEE IS ILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 23.—Bill Lee may not be able to fill his pitching assignment for the Cubs tomorrow in the series final with the Pirates. Big Bill developed a stomach misery during the night and was excused from practice today. If he hasn't recovered by tomorrow morning Charley Root will sub for him.

Catcher Clyde McCulough, purchased from Kansas City, may be one of the three Cubs slated to go in the near future. However, an optional string will be attached to his services.

Higbe Walks in Run, Giants Beat Phils, 1-0

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23 (AP).—Harry Gumbert beat Kirby Higbe in a hurling duel today to bring the New York Giants their first triumph of the season, 1 to 0, over the Phillies.

Higbe, who had beaten the Giants with a three-hitter a week ago today, forced the game's only run across the plate with a base on balls in the seventh inning after a walk, a wild throw by Gus Suhr and an intentional pass had filled the bases.

Mordecai Brown's Nephew Takes ABC Lead on 742 Series

Detroit, Mich., April 24 [Special].—Ray Brown, of Terre Haute, Ind., nephew of Mordecai Brown, former Cub pitcher, practically clinched the American Bowling Congress singles championship today when he turned in a sensational 742. Brown opened with 231, followed with 278 and then closed with 233. Only a small group of fans saw the Terre Haute star hang up his sizzling series, scored on alleys No. 19 and 20 on an early shift.

Brown, who has a 189 league average, was competing in his first ABC. He opened his first game with four spares, struck in the fifth, spared in the sixth, hung up five strikes and counted seven on his last ball for 231.

He Gets Going.

He threaded eight consecutive strikes to open his second game, counted nine on his tenth shot, spared, doubled and counted nine again for 278. Opening with a spare in the final, Brown, cool and collected, doubled in the second and third, spared in the fourth, struck in the fifth, sixth and seventh, spared in the eighth, and doubled in the ninth and tenth for 233.

The total has been high enough to win 35 previous tournaments and is 12 pins higher than the count which won for Jim Danek, Forest Park, Ill., last year, the same total which John Taylor, Collingsdale, Pa., hit three weeks ago.

Just Misses Perfect Game.

Brown, with a litle luck, could have had a 300 in the second game. After his string of eight strikes, he planted one solidly in the 1-3 pocket but the No. 7 pin refused to fall. His third smash in the tenth, left the No. 10 pin on another seemingly perfect smash.

Brown, a 160 pound, wiry hook individual, seemed as calm as tho he were rolling in league competition.

"My previous high series was 692," he said, "I guess I picked a pretty good spot to score the highest series of my life."

The 16th total over the 700 mark was made shortly after Brown had gone into the lead when Willard Harlan, Niagara, Wis., rolled up 702. Harlan opened with 193 and then added 279 and 230.

Falcaro's Team Takes Third.

Joe Falcaro's Schlitz team of New York City soared into third place in the five man division tonight with a 2,993 total. The New York squad opened with 944, added 995 in the second game, and then came thru at the finish with 1,054. Falcaro, former national match champion, opened with 150 and then added 203 and 226 in the final stanzas.

championship. He has a 9:12 mark to his credit.

More to be feared, however, is Forest Efaw of Oklahoma A. & M., who has run consistently under 9:10 this spring. Gilbert Dodds, Ashland, O., who was second last year, also has a chance to win.

The pole vault and high jump, regardless of the best efforts of leading athletes which would seem to give them the victors' prizes, are wide open. Dan Canham, Michigan sophomore, hasn't recently measured up to his best marks earlier and even if he does, it will be a battle to see whether he can beat Don Boydston, Oklahoma A. & M., who high jumped 6 feet 6 inches to win in the Kansas relays.

Others Have Chance.

J. D. DeVall, Louisiana State; Ted Leonas, Notre Dame, and Walter Arrington, Michigan State, have almost equal chance to win. They are closely followed by Schnacke, Iowa State, and Smith of Northwestern.

KNOX BOUT OFF.

SIX GAMES OPEN NOVICE HANDBALL DOUBLES TONIGHT

Six first round matches will open the Central A. A. U. novice doubles handball tournament tonight at the Midwest Athletic club, 6 N. Hamlin avenue. A total of 27 teams have entered the meet which is being revived by Athletic Director Felix Kolk in an effort to find outstanding novice players who have never won a first, second, or third place award.

Among the entries is the combination of Frank [Fritz] Waskowitz and Dr. Jack Ehrlich of the home club. Waskowitz established a name for himself playing football at Lindbloom High school, then went to the University of Washington where he majored in physical education and continued playing football.

Paired with Dr. Ehrlich he meets Marvin Berg and Nate Hambounger of the Central Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

YANKEES FALL BEFORE DEAN OF A'S AGAIN, 3 TO 0

Southpaw Limits World Champions to 4 Hits.

New York, April 23 (AP).—Lovill [Chubby] Dean, the Philadelphia Athletics' southpaw, has the New York Yankees' number and it's zero.

He shut them out on four hits today, 3 to 0, for his second verdict of the season over the world's champions.

His first triumph over the Yanks was by 2 to 1 in the American league opener. In that game he outpitched Red Ruffing. Today he beat Bump Hadley.

Bob Johnson opened the sixth with a walk, Dick Siebert grounded to Babe Dahlgren, but Frank Crosetti dropped the ball trying for a force at second and both runners were safe. Then Frank Hayes sacrificed both runners ahead and Johnson scored on a long fly by Al Rubeling. Hadley went to pieces in the ninth and filled the bases with three walks. Marius Russo came in and after striking out Sam Chapman, Russo forced in two more runs with walks and Spud Chandler had to come in to retire the side. Score:

Boston, Mass., April 23 (AP).—Mickey Harris, Queen City, N. Y., southpaw rookie, up from Scranton of the eastern league, made his major league debut today by defeating the Washington Senators, 7 to 2.

The Red Sox made only eight hits but three of them were home runs. The first homer was by Ted Williams off Emil [Dutch] Leonard in the first inning. Lou Finney belted the second homer into the right center field bull pen in the third inning, scoring a mate ahead of him. Jimmy Foxx notched the other homer in the fifth off Alejandro Carrasquel, with one man on base. Score:

hit performance ended he was given a lead of two runs which were unearned off Danny MacFayden in the third. Larry tottered a bit in the fifth when three hits sent the first Pirate across the plate. MacFayden went out of the game for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Three singles, loading the bags, caused the veteran southpaw to welcome assistance.

The disastrous ninth opened with a single by Bob Elliott. Arky Vaughan picked out a 3 and 1 pitch and forced Elliott. He'd have been doubled if Sturgeon had made an accurate relay to first base. Johnny Rizzo singled and Debs Garms did the running for the latter. Van Robays lifted a fly over short right center that fell safe, filling the bases. Spud Davis was sent up to bat for Fletcher, so the right handed Page was substituted for French, whereupon Paul Waner took Davis' place. The 37 year old gentleman slashed a single past Russell. Vaughan and Garms dashed home, and so did 4,138 gleeful customers.

Cubs Score a Pair.

Two were out in the third before the Cubs found a formula for run production. MacFayden made an important contribution to the discovery by plunking Stan Hack on the left ankle with a pitched ball. Billy Herman also was hit on the ankle, but by one of his own fouls, after which he singled to right. Galan bounced to short and this should have closed the inning, but Vaughan heaved the ball high over Fletcher's head, Hack scoring. Leiber then thumped a single into center, Herman going home and Galan to third. Dallessandro grounded to Vaughan, forcing Leiber.

French's run of good fortune snapped on his first pitch in the fifth. Van Robays lined the offering into center for a single. Fletcher hit a single into right, but a dumb piece of base running robbed the hit of its value. Van Robays rounded second, but when about six steps toward third decided to turn back. He was nipped, Leiber to Sturgeon to Herman. Pep Young singled to center for the third hit in succession off French, Fletcher going to third, whence he scored while Herman was throwing out Ray Mueller. MacFayden flied to Galan for the third out.

Vaughan Wastes a Triple.

Vaughan gave French a few fretful moments in the sixth. With two out the Pirate shortstop gave the ball such a terrific ride that it sailed over Galan's head and landed just short of the right center field fence, 440 feet distant. Vaughan had no trouble getting to third on his wallop, but he was stranded on Rizzo's short fly to Galan. French also had a little trouble in the seventh. Van Robays opened with a single. Fletcher got the count down to three and two and then fanned, Van Robays being doubled in an attempt to steal. Young was next, and he walked. He, too, died stealing.

The Cubs had a slim opening before them in the fourth when with one out Todd singled and reached second because Young dropped the ball in an attempted steal. No help was forthcoming from either Sturgeon or French. With one out in the fifth Herman doubled to right, but Galan and Leiber lofted to Rizzo. A double by Russell with one out in the sixth also went to waste. The next Cub base runner was Galan, who opened the eighth with a walk. He reached second on Leiber's sacrifice, but went no farther.

BILL LEE IS ILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 23.—Bill Lee may not be able to fill his pitching assignment for the Cubs tomorrow in the series final with the Pirates. Big Bill developed a stomach misery during the night and was excused from practice today. If he hasn't recovered by tomorrow morning Charley Root will sub for him.

Catcher Clyde McCulough, purchased from Kansas City, may be one of the three Cubs slated to go in the near future. However, an optional string will be attached to his services.

Higbe Walks in Run, Giants Beat Phils, 1-0

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23 (AP).—Harry Gumbert beat Kirby Higbe in a hurling duel today to bring the New York Giants their first triumph of the season, 1 to 0, over the Phillies.

Higbe, who had beaten the Giants with a three-hitter a week ago today, forced the game's only run across the plate with a base on balls in the seventh inning after a walk, a wild throw by Gus Suhr and an intentional pass had filled the bases.

Detroit, Mich., April 24 [Special].—Ray Brown, of Terre Haute, Ind., nephew of Mordecai Brown, former Cub pitcher, practically clinched the American Bowling Congress singles championship today when he turned in a sensational 742. Brown opened with 231, followed with 278 and then closed with 233. Only a small group of fans saw the Terre Haute star hang up his sizzling series, scored on alleys No. 19 and 20 on an early shift.

Brown, who has a 189 league average, was competing in his first ABC. He opened his first game with four spares, struck in the fifth, spared in the sixth, hung up five strikes and counted seven on his last ball for 231.

He Gets Going.

He threaded eight consecutive strikes to open his second game, counted nine on his tenth shot, spared, doubled and counted nine again for 278. Opening with a spare in the final, Brown, cool and collected, doubled in the second and third, spared in the fourth, struck in the fifth, sixth and seventh, spared in the eighth, and doubled in the ninth and tenth for 233.

The total has been high enough to win 35 previous tournaments and is 12 pins higher than the count which won for Jim Danek, Forest Park, Ill., last year, the same total which John Taylor, Collingsdale, Pa., hit three weeks ago.

Just Misses Perfect Game.

Brown, with a litle luck, could have had a 300 in the second game. After his string of eight strikes, he planted one solidly in the 1-3 pocket but the No. 7 pin refused to fall. His third smash in the tenth, left the No. 10 pin on another seemingly perfect smash.

Brown, a 160 pound, wiry hook individual, seemed as calm as tho he were rolling in league competition.

"My previous high series was 692," he said, "I guess I picked a pretty good spot to score the highest series of my life."

The 16th total over the 700 mark was made shortly after Brown had gone into the lead when Willard Harlan, Niagara, Wis., rolled up 702. Harlan opened with 193 and then added 279 and 230.

Falcaro's Team Takes Third.

Joe Falcaro's Schlitz team of New York City soared into third place in the five man division tonight with a 2,993 total. The New York squad opened with 944, added 995 in the second game, and then came thru at the finish with 1,054. Falcaro, former national match champion, opened with 150 and then added 203 and 226 in the final stanzas.

NAVAL ACADEMY NAMES CAPT. KING ATHLETIC CHIEF

Annapolis, Md., April 23 (AP).—The appointment of Capt. Thomas Starr King as director of athletics at the United States Naval academy effective Thursday was announced today by Rear Admiral Wilson Brown, academy superintendent.

King, member of the class of 1911, who has been at sea recently as chief of staff to the commander of destroyers of the battle force, succeeds Capt. E. W. McKee, athletic director for three years. McKee is expected to be assigned to sea duty.

championship. He has a 9:12 mark to his credit.

More to be feared, however, is Forest Efaw of Oklahoma A. & M., who has run consistently under 9:10 this spring. Gilbert Dodds, Ashland, O., who was second last year, also has a chance to win.

The pole vault and high jump, regardless of the best efforts of leading athletes which would seem to give them the victors' prizes, are wide open. Dan Canham, Michigan sophomore, hasn't recently measured up to his best marks earlier and even if he does, it will be a battle to see whether he can beat Don Boydston, Oklahoma A. & M., who high jumped 6 feet 6 inches to win in the Kansas relays.

Others Have Chance.

J. D. DeVall, Louisiana State; Ted Leonas, Notre Dame, and Walter Arrington, Michigan State, have almost equal chance to win. They are closely followed by Schnacke, Iowa State, and Smith of Northwestern.

KNOX BOUT OFF.

SIX GAMES OPEN NOVICE HANDBALL DOUBLES TONIGHT

Six first round matches will open the Central A. A. U. novice doubles handball tournament tonight at the Midwest Athletic club, 6 N. Hamlin avenue. A total of 27 teams have entered the meet which is being revived by Athletic Director Felix Kolk in an effort to find outstanding novice players who have never won a first, second, or third place award.

Among the entries is the combination of Frank [Fritz] Waskowitz and Dr. Jack Ehrlich of the home club. Waskowitz established a name for himself playing football at Lindbloom High school, then went to the University of Washington where he majored in physical education and continued playing football.

Paired with Dr. Ehrlich he meets Marvin Berg and Nate Hambounger of the Central Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

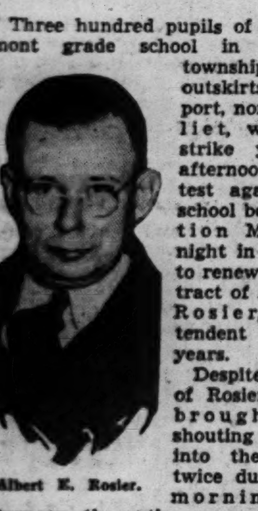
STRIKING PUPILS PROTEST FIRING OF SCHOOL HEAD

300 Walk Out in Dispute Near Lockport.



Albert E. Rosier.

Three hundred pupils of the Fairmont grade school in Lockport township, on the outskirts of Lockport, north of Joliet, went on strike yesterday afternoon in protest against the school board's action Monday night in refusing to renew the contract of Albert E. Rosier, superintendent for 10 years.

Despite efforts of Rosier, which brought the shouting pupils into the school twice during the morning and afternoon, the entire group filed out shortly after the afternoon session opened when one of their number set off the fire alarm. Many of the older pupils bore homemade signs expressing their regard for Rosier.

200 Present at Meeting.

The board voted, 4 to 2, against renewing Rosier's contract, which ends in June. Two hundred residents of the district crowded the school gymnasium during the meeting Monday night, and Arthur Confer, former board president, handed up a petition in which 433 voters urged the rehiring of Rosier. There were 628 votes cast in the last school election, on April 13.

When the result of the vote was announced a murmur of disapproval was heard and spectators subsided only when Carl Nordenburg, one of the four board members who voted against Rosier, arose to give his reasons. He said that he felt discipline in the school was poor and cited two examples:

1. A group of students who slid down bannisters after school hours.
2. A snowball fight in the school-yard.

Parents Defend Discipline.

Parents present immediately set up the cry that the discipline was, in fact, far better than at many other schools in nearby districts. Witnesses said there might have been violence except for the presence of four deputy sheriffs.

The others who voted against Rosier were William Swenson, Frank Haller, and Milton Allison. Voting for him were Victor A. Scalf and Spencer Aumiler. Board President Harry Young's vote was not needed.

Whether further action is planned has not been learned.

DR. W. K. JORDAN NAMED EDITOR OF U. OF C. PRESS

W. K. Jordan.

President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago yesterday announced the appointment of Dr. W. K. Jordan, author and historian, as general editor of the University of Chicago Press. Dr. Jordan also will become associate professor of English history.

Both appointments are effective Oct. 1, when Dr. Jordan will succeed Dr. Gordon J. Laing, professor emeritus of Latin and dean emeritus of the division of the humanities, who has been editor of the University Press since 1908.

Dr. Jordan, who is 38 years old, received his master's degree from Harvard university in 1926 and his Ph. D. in 1930, also from Harvard. He spent five years doing research work abroad and, after receiving his Ph. D., joined the Harvard faculty as a member of the history department. In 1937 he was named professor of history at Scripps and Claremont colleges, Claremont, Cal. He is the author of a four volume work on the development of religious toleration in England.

MAJ. DODD DIES OF INJURIES IN AUTO MISHAP

Maj. Patrick J. Dodd of the United States army, a former Chicago resident, died yesterday morning in Canon City, Colo., as the result of an automobile accident. He was an R. O. T. C. instructor at Canon City and coach of the R. O. T. C. national championship rifle team. He supervised CCC camps in Oregon, Utah, and Idaho prior to his appointment to the Canon City post.

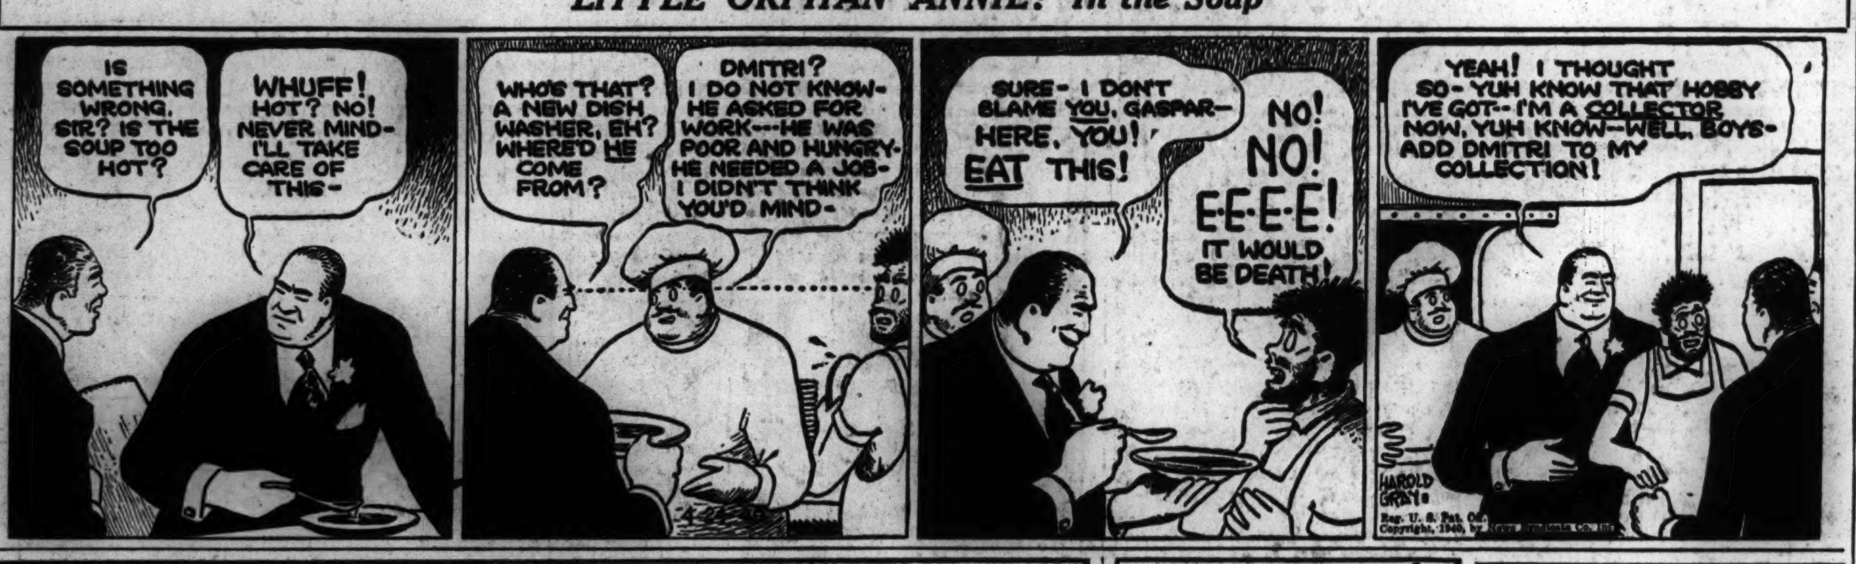
Major Dodd formerly was in command of Company D, 124th machine gun battalion of the 33d Division. A native of Ireland, he was a graduate of St. Joseph's college, Clondolkin, Dublin, Ireland.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday in St. Bernard's church, 66th street and Stewart avenue. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery. Maj. Dodd leaves his widow, Alice Dineen Dodd; his brothers, Dr. Fenton Dodd, surgeon of the Irish Republican army, and Brenden Dodd, former A. E. F. major of the 132d infantry, 33d Division, and his sister, Margaret Dodd.

Find Missing Teacher, 62, Dead in Vermilion River

Streator, Ill., April 23 (AP).—The body of Miss Mary Schofield, a former school teacher who had been missing since March 28, was found in the Vermilion river here last night near the foot of a 60 foot cliff. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: In the Soup



IS SOMETHING WRONG, SIR? IS THE SOUP TOO HOT?
WHUFF! HOT? NO! NEVER MIND—I'LL TAKE CARE OF THIS—WHO'S THAT? A NEW DISH WASHER, EH? WHERE'D HE COME FROM?
DMITRI? I DO NOT KNOW—HE ASKED FOR WORK—HE WAS POOR AND HUNGRY—HE NEEDED A JOB—I DIDN'T THINK YOU'D MIND—
SURE—I DON'T BLAME YOU, GASPAR—HERE, YOU! EAT THIS!
NO! NO! E-E-E-E! IT WOULD BE DEATH!
YEAH! I THOUGHT SO—YUH KNOW THAT HOBBY I'VE GOT—I'M A COLLECTOR NOW, YUH KNOW—WELL, BOYS—ADD DMITRI TO MY COLLECTION!

MOTHER BUTLER, CHURCH SCHOOL FOUNDER, DIES

Tarrytown, N. Y., April 23 (AP).—The Very Rev. Mother Mary Joseph Butler, 79 years old, superior general of the religious order of the Sacred Heart of Mary and one of the Catholic church's foremost educators of women, died today following a heart attack.

She was the founder of the Marymount colleges and schools in the United States and other countries—a system of education which in 30 years spread from Tarrytown to Los Angeles, Paris, and Rome. Mother Butler was the first American to be chosen superior general of the Catholic order.

She was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, and came to the United States in 1877. For 30 years she taught in the order's schools in Brooklyn. In 1907 the first Marymount school came into being thru the philanthropy of her cousin, the late James Butler.

Widow of French Novelist Daudet Dies; 90 Years Old

PARIS, April 23 (AP).—Madame Alphonse Daudet, author and widow of the celebrated French novelist, died today. She was 90 years old. Mme. Daudet was the mother of the royalist writer, Leon Daudet. Under the names "Marguerite Tournay" and "Karl Steen" she wrote several volumes of poetry, prose and literary essays. Her husband died in 1897.

Stricken Ill in Commons, Member of Parliament Dies

LONDON, April 23 (AP).—Sir Nairne Stewart-Sandeman, 63 years old, Conservative member of parliament, became ill in the house of commons today and died before reaching a hospital. He had represented the Middleton and Prestwich constituency since 1923 and was created a baronet in 1929.

Sheboygan, Wis., April 23 [Special].—Miss Clara Pomeroy, 61 years old, public school teacher for the last 41 years, died today after a long illness. Funeral services will be held Thursday.

MRS. JOY MORTON DIES; RITES TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Gray Morton, who died of a heart attack Monday night in her suite in the Drake hotel, will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow at Thornhill farm, in Lisle. She will be buried there beside her husband, Joy Morton.

The farm lies adjacent to the Morton arboretum, the world famous 400 acre park on the Du Page river which Mr. Morton founded in 1922 and endowed, naming it for his father, J. Sterling Morton, who was secretary of agriculture in President Cleveland's cabinet and the originator of the Arbor day observance.

Mr. Morton died in 1934 at the age of 78. The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard of the Episcopal church in Winnetka, who conducted his funeral rites, will officiate tomorrow at Mrs. Morton's. Mrs. Morton was 64 years old.

OBITUARIES

Arthur G. Hollingshead.

Arthur G. Hollingshead, veteran railroad supply merchant, died yesterday in University hospital. He was 77 years old. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in St. Luke's Episcopal procathedral, Evanston. Burial will be at Mount Carmel, in Wabash county. Mr. Hollingshead was the president of three railroad supply houses, the Railroad Equipment, the Viloco Machine, and the Okadee companies. He was a director of the First National bank of Evanston. He held membership in the Union League and Westmoreland Country clubs. He leaves his widow, a son, Lorenzo R., and a daughter, Mrs. Harriett H. Munns. The family home is at 1107 Michigan avenue in Evanston.

Mrs. Charlotte Kenny.

The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte Kenny, chief clerk in the public welfare department of County hospital for 14 years, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 5438 South Halsted street to Visitation church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery. Mrs. Kenny died of pneumonia Monday in Michael Reese hospital. She was 42 years old and lived at 1755 East 73d place. Six weeks ago her husband, Paul, an employé of the telephone company, died, also of pneumonia. Surviving Mrs. Kenny are her father, John E. Fitzpatrick; a brother, Policeman Edward Fitzpatrick of the Hyde Park station, and a sister, Mrs. Marie Fitzpatrick.

William James Riley.

William James Riley, a lifelong resident of Chicago and an employé of the Chicago board of education for more than 40 years, died yesterday in his home at 8101 Champlain avenue. Mr. Riley, who was engineer in charge at the Willard school, had been ill for several weeks. He leaves his widow, Kathryn; three children, and a brother. Services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in St. Clotilde church, 84th street and Calumet avenue. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

W. J. Stoddard.

Atlanta, Ga., April 23 (AP).—W. J. Stoddard, 62 years old, who developed a non-inflammable solvent for dry cleaning and introduced it to the industry, died today. He donated his rights in the solvent to the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners so that it might be available to the entire industry without royalties. He was twice president of the association. Use of the Stoddard solvent formula was credited with enabling cleaners to obtain insurance on their plants.

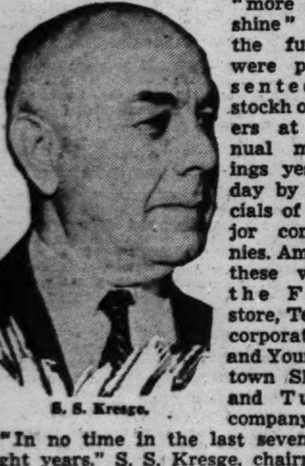
BIG COMPANIES REPORT TRADE GAINS THIS YEAR

Kresge Says Fair's Outlook Improves.



S. S. Kresge.

Reports of improved business this year compared with 1939 and of "more sunshine" in the future were presented to stockholders at annual meetings yesterday by officials of major companies. Among these were the Fair store, Texas corporation, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

"In no time in the last seven or eight years," S. S. Kresge, chairman of the board of The Fair, said, "have things looked brighter or better to me than today. Without reflection toward any one or anything, there seems to be more sunshine and more hope in The Fair's future than in a number of years."

Wants Large Stock Ownership.

Agreeing with one of the stockholders that executives without sizable holdings of the company's stock do not have the proper interest in the enterprise, he said that he planned to institute a campaign to get every director to own at least 100 shares, preferably 500.

The mortgage on the Oak Park store was paid off last year, he said, and this store has earned money every year. Terming the Milwaukee avenue unit a "mistake," he added that he had never been proud of it.

James S. Schoff, president, announced that sales from Jan. 1 thru March 31 were 7.1 per cent ahead of the corresponding period in 1939. April sales are even with those of a year ago, despite the fact that Easter came in March this year and in April in 1939.

Keep Check on Expenses.

Explaining that the company is keeping expenses well in hand, he said that the West Madison street property, has been leased and that an attempt is being made to lease the 71st street property also. Both were delivery depots.

Mrs. Teresa M. Earhart, 7829 Saginaw avenue, a holder of 44 shares of preferred stock, called for the reduction of salaries of officials.

Three new directors were elected and four reëlected. The three are Schoff, A. R. Floreen, vice president of the City National Bank and Trust company of Chicago, and A. C. Gay, secretary of The Fair. They succeed W. E. Killian, manager of the Oak Park store; William Baar, a buyer, and F. A. Smith, who is no longer connected with The Fair.

The board later named A. C. Gay, formerly secretary and assistant treasurer, secretary and treasurer, and J. E. Kozoyed, the former treasurer and assistant secretary, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. Other officers were reëlected.

Net sales for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31 amounted to $15,479,435, compared with $15,898,330 in the preceding year, it had been disclosed previously in the annual report. The company had net loss of $154,751, against net loss of $95,097 in the year ended Jan. 31, 1939.

Texas Corporation Gains.

Net profits of the Texas corporation, large producer and distributor of crude oil and products, amounted to about $12,800,000 in the first quarter of 1940, equal to $1.18 a share on the capital stock, Torkild Rieber, chairman, told stockholders in New York. Per share earnings totaled about 12 cents during the same period in 1939.

Rieber, who began his rise to industrial power as a Norwegian shipmaster, indicated that 11 big tankers of the corporation would continue to fly the Norwegian flag despite the war in Norway. Answering a question about the fleet and the company's foreign operations, Rieber said, "I am not concerned about anything, and I have not been. We have no investments in Germany, Italy, or Japan."

Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, predicted in Youngstown that steel buying would increase. Actual consumption of steel exceeds new business, he explained, and when present inventories have been reduced, buying should increase. First quarter operating rate averaged 64.9 per cent of capacity, and this week stands at 61.9 per cent, which is above the district average, he said.

Ingersoll Rand Gains.

Business of Ingersoll Rand company, manufacturer and distributor of mining machinery, pneumatic tools, and engines, has been a little better this year to date than a year earlier, D. C. Keefe, president, said in Phillipsburg, N. J.

April orders of American Brake Shoe and Foundry company are coming in at about the same rate as in the first three months of this year, William B. Given Jr., president, told stockholders in New York. New orders in the first quarter were "disappointing," according to Given, altho slightly larger than those for the similar period in 1939.

Sales of May Department Stores company in February and March were more than 6 per cent larger than a year earlier, Morton J. May, president, said in New York. Business this month also shows a slight gain, he added.

Rails, Air Lines Speed Service in Time Shift

Chicago clocks move ahead one hour next Sunday. The transfer to daylight saving time—a simple problem in the home—yesterday was causing its yearly headaches among transportation system dispatchers in this and other areas.

Operations of railroads, air lines, and bus systems are hinged on the word "schedule." Engineers, pilots and drivers struggle to "make schedule." A five minute variance can make a traffic snarl and convert good customers into irate passengers.

At 2 a. m. Sunday, most schedules now in use will be junked and new ones substituted. Many runs will be shortened by the railroads and air lines.

Adjust Suburban Runs.

While suburban trains, as in the past, will operate on Chicago daylight saving schedules, most of the thru trains, the air lines and the bus companies will continue on standard time.

The North Shore, Rock Island, North Western, Illinois Central, and other railroads announced suburban schedules would be moved one hour ahead. Additional trains will be run in some instances.

Among the air lines. American, United and T. W. A. announced the addition of a number of summer flights. Speedier flights will be made in several instances.

The Pennsylvania railroad announced several cuts in running time. The Liberty Limited, between Chicago and Washington, D. C., will shorten its run by 20 minutes in each direction. The Manhattan Limited and the Pennsylvania Limited will make the Chicago-New York trip 40 minutes faster than at present.

N. Y. C. Schedules Are Changed.

Changes in schedules to New York announced by the New York Central system were: Twentieth Century Limited now leaving Chicago at 4 p. m. central standard time, will leave at 4 o'clock central daylight saving time and arrive at 9 a. m. eastern daylight saving time. The Pacemaker, now leaving at 2 p. m. will leave at 3 p. m. [CDST]. The Commodore Vanderbilt now leaving at 3 p .m. [CST] will leave 55 minutes earlier at 3:05 p. m. [CDST].

The following table shows present departure [C. S. T.] from Chicago, departure under daylight saving schedules, and eastern daylight saving time arrival in New York of six of the fast trains:

REPORT SENATE, HOUSE ACCORD ON TRANSPORT BILL

New York, April 23 [Special].—Senator Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] indicated today that an agreement on the Wheeler-Truman transportation bill had been reached by the house and senate conferees. Speaking before the National Conference of Investors, he said the conferees probably would accept the bill tomorrow.

He predicted early passage by both houses "inaugurating a transportation policy essential to the welfare of the nation." The bill would place waterways and highway transportation under regulation of the interstate commerce commission along with railroads.

ILLINOIS' OIL OUTPUT RISES, BUT NATIONAL PRODUCTION FALLS

Oil production in Illinois in the week ended April 20 increased in the face of a drop in the national output, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday. The state's production averaged 433,116 barrels a day, an increase of 11,362 barrels daily compared with the preceding week.

The Salem field, largest in Illinois, had a daily average output of 258,110 barrels, and the Louden field, 72,216 barrels. Other new basin fields produced 93,960 barrels daily, and the old fields flowed at the rate of 8,830 barrels. The journal said 61 new oil wells were completed during the week in Illinois.

National production of crude oil averaged 3,867,905 barrels a day, a decline of 3,734 barrels.

Gasoline stocks increased last week to the highest level on record at 102,817,000 barrels. Stocks were 101,837,000 in the preceding week and 87,394,000 a year ago.

GENERAL MOTORS PARLEY AVERTS CANADIAN STRIKE

OSHAWA, Ont., April 23 (AP).—A strike among about 5,000 Ontario employés of General Motors Corporation of Canada was averted tonight after consultations between company and union representatives. Oshawa workers, numbering about 3,500, had voted to strike tomorrow unless the company agreed to negotiate union demands.

J. L. Cohen, Canadian counsel for the United Automobile Workers of America, announced that a "misunderstanding" had been cleared up and that a conference will open here Tuesday.

It was understood the conference will deal with problems of union members at St. Catherines and Windsor, where strike votes were scheduled for tonight.

Union officials want to change the present working agreement, reached in April, 1937, after a 16 day tieup of the big automobile factory. The union is asking wage increases for day workers, tightening of the seniority rule and clarification of grievance procedure.

BETHLEHEM GETS ORDER FOR SHIPS TO COST $9,225,000

Three large equipment orders, including a $9,225,000 order for the Bethlehem Steel company, were announced yesterday.

Bethlehem will construct three vessels at a cost of $3,075,000 each for the Mississippi Shipping company of New Orleans. The vessels are to be used between gulf ports and the east coast of South America. They will be 490 feet long with 65 foot beam.

Ten new Diesel switching locomotives costing about $70,000 each will be bought by the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis, Mo. The Diesels will replace steam locomotives.

Modern Aircraft, Inc., of New York was the low bidder on 11 liaison observation planes for the Wright field air corps. The bid was $441,000.

Steel Makers' First Quarter Earnings Rise

Several companies yesterday reported large increases in profits in the first three months of this year, as compared with the first quarter of 1939.

Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation of Pittsburgh and subsidiaries operated at a profit of $1,134,611 in the 1940 quarter, against a net loss of $376,525 in the 1939 period.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube company had first quarter net income of $1,253,929, compared with $217,106 in the first three months of 1939.

Larger earnings for Commercial Investment Trust corporation, Wilmington, Del., were disclosed by P. W. Haberman, vice president, at the annual meeting of stockholders. March quarter profit was $3,783,407, equal to $1.04 a share on common stock, compared with $3,545,964, or 98 cents a share, a year ago.

Poor's Profits Increase.

Quarterly results of Poor & Co., railway track maintenance supply manufacturer with offices in Chicago, were announced at the stockholders' meeting by Fred A. Poor, president. Net income in the three months ended March 31 rose to $304,000, from $130,000 in the 1939 period.

Profit for the 12 months ended March 31 was $763,000, against a net loss of $48,000 in the preceding 12 months.

"Unprecedented" buying last October enabled the company to enter 1940 with enough orders to assure a profit for the first six months, Poor reported. However, he said, the amount of business received recently has been small and the company's profit probably will not be as large in the second 1940 quarter as in the first.

Elect 2 New Directors.

Stockholders elected W. R. Carney and R. C. Ingersoll to the board of directors to succeed D. J. Evans and H. C. Holloway.

Hercules Powder company announced the largest net income for any quarter in 10 years, $1,742,573 for the three months ended March 31, compared with $1,087,322 in the first 1939 quarter. Earnings per share amounted to $1.22, against 73 cents.

McKesson & Robbins, Inc., large drug enterprise, had consolidated profit of $963,186 in the March quarter, against $638,565 a year earlier.

Master Electric company, Dayton, O., manufacturer of electric motors, reported first quarter profits of $207,613, equal to 86 cents a share, compared with $94,277, or 39 cents a share, in the 1939 period.

The company's statement said orders in the first 18 days of April were 106 per cent larger than in the corresponding 1939 period and shipments 58 per cent larger.

COUNTY BEGINS AUCTION OF LOTS SEIZED FOR TAX

450 Franklin Park Parcels to Be Sold.

BY AL CHASE.

Cook county's attempt to restore to the tax rolls vacant property on which delinquent taxes and special assessments have been piling up for years began yesterday in an auction sale held in the County building. Of the 450 lots in Franklin Park which were foreclosed by the county last fall, 111 were purchased yesterday by individual bidders at prices ranging from $5 to $150. The 450 lots to be sold represent about $200,000 in unpaid taxes, according to Paul W. Brust, attorney for Franklin Park.

Successful bidders will not get possession of the lots until the two year period of redemption has expired. During this period the original owner may redeem his land by paying what the bidder paid plus 6 per cent of the bid price.

Removes Tax Burden.

Even if the property is bought for an unreasonably low price and held by the new buyer or is redeemed by the original owner, the burden of back taxes and special assessments is removed and the land starts under a "new lease on life."

The property is expected to be back on the tax rolls whether it is owned by the bidder or taken back by the original owner. If it is redeemed prior to the expiration of the two years from date of sale by the original owner, the probability is that with the back tax burden removed from his shoulders, he will begin to pay taxes at once, it was said.

If the property is not redeemed, the bidder will not get title for two years and he will not begin paying taxes until he owns it.

The bids on the 111 lots bought yesterday totaled $2,635 and wiped out $69,974 in delinquent taxes. The lots bought for $5 were in unimproved subdivisions with no special assessments against them according to John G. Fitzgerald, assistant state's attorney, in charge of the auction.

One Bid Exceeds Delinquency.

In one instance the bid of $30 for two lots was larger than the amount of delinquent taxes, which totaled $24.98. In many cases, however, taxes and special assessments have piled up on Franklin Park properties to abnormal amounts. One lot assessed at $139 has $1,939 delinquent taxes and special assessments.

According to Fitzgerald, at least two more days will be required to complete the sale of the first batch of 450 lots. There are 1,500 tax delinquent lots in Franklin Park.

Franklin Park, which is 12 miles west of the loop, is bounded by Addison street, North avenue, the Des Plaines river, and Mannheim road.

TVA Labeled Charity System for Corporation "Fat Cats"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—In a bristling speech on the floor of the house, Representative George H. Bender [R., Ohio] today attacked the Tennessee Valley authority as a "great federal eleemosynary institution" financed by taxpayers.

If the private power industry enjoyed the same privileges that the government operated power enterprise enjoys, it could pass along to consumers rate reductions of a billion dollars or more, Bender asserted. He is a member of the house rivers and harbors committee.

"The Tennessee valley has been a great federal eleemosynary [charitable] institution for the aluminum company, Boss Crump's Memphis city hall gang, and rural sweatshops," Bender declared.

"Fat Cats" Are Beneficiaries.

He asserted the Bonneville dam administration is vying with the TVA to offer lower and lower rates to certain electro-chemical and electrometallurgical companies such as Aluminum Company of America.

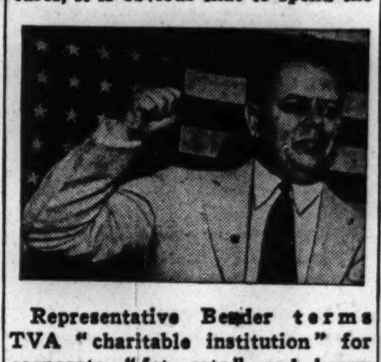
"The 'fat cats,' great corporate industrial organizations such as the aluminum trust, admittedly benefit by TVA's industrial power rate," Bender declared. "Whoever wins, the federal tax payer must lose."

"To protect the vested interests of these paupers," he said, "the TVA has ever-watchful defenders on the floor of this house. They make no attempt to justify the fact that of the hundreds of millions of dollars congress has appropriated to this income producing, proprietary business, TVA has returned not one penny of interest to the federal government, and is accumulating an interest deficit, at current government rates, of $8,918,000 annually."

Charge-Off Unjustified.

Bender accused house supporters of the TVA of failing to justify the 60 per cent charge-off of TVA's power costs "to the fictional objectives of flood control and navigation." He added that "not once have they defended the endowment of TVA's yardstick rates by a 50 per cent subsidy out of the pockets of federal taxpayers."

"I could suggest better ways of spreading the 'more abundant life' to the 'ill-clothed, ill-housed, ill-fed' rural slums of Mississippi and Tennessee," he asserted. "When the average family with a $1,500 a year income finds its electricity bill just above 1 per cent of its total expenditures, it is obvious that to spend the same money for education, resettlement, and rehabilitation would be a better place to start than cutting the light bill a few cents.



Representative Bender terms TVA "charitable institution" for corporate "fat cats" and heavy burden for taxpayers.

"On taxes and the cost of capital alone, if private industry enjoyed identical privileges with TVA, it would have been able to reduce rates $890,000,000 annually within $110,000,000 of the billion dollars the TVA advocates claim to be overcharged to American consumers.

Other Offsetting Factors.

"Government freight rates, the franking privilege and other privileges accorded a federal agency, plus normal fixed charges, if extended to the private industry would more than account for the remaining dif-

FEDERAL DEFICIT RISES TO ABOVE 3 BILLION MARK

Washington, D. C., April 23 [Special].—The current net deficit of the federal government passed the $3,000,000,000 mark on Saturday, according to the daily treasury statement made public today.

The net deficit—the gross deficit less expenditures for public debt retirement—stood at $2,995,572,617 on Friday and went to $3,009,086,885 on Saturday.

The net deficit for the fiscal year to end of June 30 was estimated by President Roosevelt in his January budget measure as $3,932,813,641.

Business Men Face 2 Illinois Tax Duties During Month

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION IN CHICAGO AREA TOPS 19 MILLIONS THIS YEAR

New construction, plant expansion and the addition of modern equipment announced within the last 30 days in the Chicago industrial area will involve $3,350,000, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

This figure includes large plants for 28 companies and boosts the total of new expansions announced since Jan. 1 by Chicago industries to $19,350,000. Included is the transfer of the former Sprague Warner property to Montgomery Ward & Co., and the new facilities proposed in this project.

Hoeft & Co., manufacturer of poultry incubators, announced $262,000 will be spent for plant improvements. Other companies which are expanding include Goodrich Electric, United States Gypsum, Brake Equipment and Supply, Schutter Candy, Safety Socket Screw, Union Machinery, Oatman Brothers, and Protex Weather Strip.

WALGREEN NET PROFITS, SALES ARE INCREASED

Considers Employe Pension Plan.

Earnings and sales of the Walgreen company, drug store chain, in the six months ended March 31, were larger than in the corresponding period a year earlier, stockholders were informed yesterday. Plans to ask the shareholders to consider an employé pension program also were made known.

Charles R. Walgreen Jr., president, and Justin W. Dart, general manager, issued the company's semiannual report, showing net income of $1,590,077, equal to $1.06 a common share. A year earlier the company reported profit of $1,341,712, or 87 cents a share, for the six months.

Income Tax $323,531.

These figures included provisions for $323,531 of federal income taxes in the latest period and $288,593 of such taxes in the corresponding period a year earlier. Profit before federal income taxes in the respective periods amounted to $1,913,609 and $1,630,306.

Net sales totaled $37,860,992 in the latest six months, compared with $36,420,009 a year earlier. Gross profit on sales fas $13,360,023, against $13,049,544.

Recalling the death on Dec. 11, 1939, of Charles R. Walgreen, founder of the business, the report added with regard to the pension plan:

"Mr. Walgreen had given much thought to the advisability of an employés' retirement income plan. Your management has continued this study. In a business of our type, there are many cases where employés should retire before 65, when federal social security payments begin.

Contribution Is Necessary.

"Efficiency can't be maintained if our older personnel cannot keep up the pace demanded by our customers. Employé morale can't be maintained if those who have slowed down after giving the company long years of service are simply turned adrift.

"To start such a plan, an initial company contribution is necessary to provide for those who have already been in its service for many years and are above average age. The insurance upon the life of Charles R. Walgreen exceeded its cash surrender value by $466,631.

"This amount is, in a purely financial sense, a 'windfall' to the company. Your directors have, by a unanimous action, excluded this amount from the earnings of the period, to be held in a reserve account; and recommend that it be used to inaugurate a plan along the lines outlined; all subject to your approval as stockholders, which will be asked at a later date."

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, April 23 (AP).—Stocks loafed along indecisively until the final hour in today's market when steels stepped out for a fairly brisk rally.

Bethlehem Steel led with a net gain of 3⅝ points at 84½, a new 1940 top. Later it was learned the company had received a $9,000,000 order from the maritime commission for construction of three coastwise vessels. United States Steel and Youngstown Sheet moved up more than a point each.

The upturn was highly selective. From the start specialties were prominent, but leaders had difficulty in retaining even small fractional improvement. Aircrafts lagged and rails, utilities and coppers failed to get far ahead. Motors did better along with a few air transports.

Issues sharing in the advance included Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, American Woolen, Celanese, Atlas Tack, Worthington Pump, Dresser Manufacturing, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Car and Foundry, Eastern Air Lines, American Airlines, Douglas Aircraft, and du Pont.

Stocks finishing lower included Boeing, United Aircraft, Sperry, American Can, American Telephone, Western Union, Cerro de Pasco, Loft and International Paper preferred.

Rails held their own despite signs last week's freight loadings suffered a fall due to exceptional weather in many parts of the country.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 23 (AP).—Another rally in foreign bonds today lifted the leaders well above last week's depressed levels. The domestic list also contributed a fair number of gains, but except in isolated cases the improvement was narrow.

Traders in the foreign loans attributed the recovery mainly to strengthened technical positions resulting from the recent heavy selling.

United States government loans, lightly traded during most of the session, finished 6-32ds higher to 2-32ds lower.

Chicago Stocks.

Mickelberry's Food shares headed the volume leaders yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange and reached a new 1940 high level on a fractional gain. Five other issues established peak prices for the year. They were Swift & Co., Central Illinois Public Service preferred, Container, Independent Pneumatic Tool, and Sangamo Electric. More issues advanced than declined.

Bank Stocks.

First National bank shares continued to advance yesterday on a gain of one point. Harris Trust and Northern Trust dipped a point each. Other leading issues were unchanged.

COTTON

Cotton futures closed .03 cent lower to .105 cent higher in American markets after a quiet session yesterday. Commission houses, spot firms and foreigners were on both sides of the markets at times, but uncertainty as to political developments in Europe tended to keep trading at a minimum.

Liverpool prices were somewhat better than expected and reported that imports of American cotton were restricted by the ocean freight situation, while trading in the cotton raised in other countries was restricted by inability to heldge by sales of futures.

A good demand was reported for sheetings for June thru August delivery, but sales were said to have been small due to the refusal of mills to shade prices.

Spot cotton closed .03 cent higher with New York, 10.99 cents; New Orleans, 10.84 cents; Houston, 10.48 cents, and Galveston at 10.47 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

Straits tin futures prices made the widest gains in the commodities markets yesterday, closing 10 to 35 points higher. Raw hides turned about and rose 14 to 16. Crude rubber futures, ever sensitive to war news, closed 1 to 7 points higher. Transfers from May to forward positions boosted wool top futures 1 to 2 points.

Copper consumption during March was estimated at 68,000 tons by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics, compared with 65,000 tons in February and 74,000 tons in January. Copper futures closed one point higher to one lower. Trading in the cash market continued quiet.

Sugar futures declined 1 to 3 points on lower prices for raw sugar and a slow refined trade. Cottonseed oil ended 2 points lower to 1 higher.

Coffee futures eased 2 to 4 points. Cocoa slipped 7 to 8. Raw silk lost 1 to 5.

CROP 'SNOOPERS' MAN CAMERAS IN CHECKUP BY AAA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The Agricultural Adjustment administration today announced the award of contracts for "crop snooping" more than 102,800 square miles of farm land in sixteen states. The snoopers will employ aerial photography.

Pictures of crop control areas will be taken to the tune of $200,704. In Illinois, 10,343 square miles will be photographed by Woltz Studios, Inc., of Des Moines, Ia., and $18,100 will be paid for the job, under the contract.

Other Areas Included.

Other midwestern areas to be photographed include 10,421 square miles in Indiana, to cost $23,343; 11,936 square miles in Iowa, $22,082; 4,949 square miles in Michigan, $10,838; and 9,558 square miles in Wisconsin at a cost of $19,594.

Sole purpose of this mass photo snooping expedition is to check on the performance of farmers under AAA programs. Crops grown in fields are checked on the land by "farm reporters" and the area of fields is determined from the aerial maps.

Photographed Previously.

Altho a large part of the area was photographed between 1934 and 1937, the AAA says the new pictures are needed because aerial photography has improved and there have been changes in field boundaries. When the 1940 "takes" and "retakes" are completed the AAA will have a composite picture of about 2,000,000 square miles of land, some photographs having been bought from other agencies.

WHEAT FUTURES RECOVER AFTER 1 CENT DECLINE

Wheat futures receded about 1 cent a bushel yesterday before buying on resting orders checked the decline. Trading was much slower than recently. Closing trades in the Chicago market were unchanged to ½ cent lower. Corn, affected by profit taking, closed ⅜ to ½ cent lower. Buenos Aires wheat futures advanced 1⅝ cents in the early trading to the highest prices in several years. England was reported to have bought heavily in the Argentina market.

Many speculators who bought wheat recently in anticipation of hostilities spreading into southeastern Europe were said to have taken their profits in the Chicago market.

SCANT SUPPLIES CARRY HOGS TO NEW 1940 PEAKS

New 1940 peaks were established for all classes of hogs yesterday as buyers bid for the scant supply offered. Advances ranged mostly from 15 to 35 cents, with some kinds showing even sharper increases compared with the early trade of Monday.

The top and average prices each rose 25 cents, to $6.50 and $6.20, respectively, both being the highest since early last November. Hogs above 140 pounds in weight showed gains of 20 to 26 per cent compared with April 1.

Steady rates prevailed in the cattle market.

Lambs sold strong to unevenly higher.

C. & O. RAILWAY SELECTS THREE NEW DIRECTORS

Richmond, Va., April 23 (AP).—Stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company elected 14 directors at a meeting here today, acting on a slate that included three new names.

The three new members were named in what apparently was a compromise between Robert R. Young, chairman of the Alleghany corporation, which has nominal control of 1,789,199 shares of C. & O. stock, and a group of directors with whom Young has differed.

Additions to the board were James G. Blaine, president of the Marine Midland Trust company of New York; Harvey D. Gibson of New York, president of the Manufacturers' Trust company, and Harry C. Thompson of New York, vice president of the Continental Bank and Trust company.

The directors reëlected the management of the road immediately after the stockholders' meeting, but left vacant for the time being the office of chairman of the board, a position formerly held by Herbert Fitzpatrick of Cleveland, whose resignation became effective April 15.

Independent Union Wins Tool Firm Run-Off Election

Cincinnati, O., April 23 (AP).—The first run-off election under the National Labor Relations board's new policy resulted today in the independent employés' organization of the R. K. Leblond Machine Tool company winning recognition as exclusive collective bargaining agency. The vote was 293 for the independent and 229 for the C. I. O. steel workers' organizing committee.

FEARS CHAIN BILL WOULD DEPRESS REALTY VALUES

Gerrity Says Stores Aid Neighborhoods.

Washington, D. C., April 23 (AP).—Opposing the Patman bill to tax retail chain stores, Harry J. Gerrity, general counsel of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, told a house committee today that chains build up the business section of a town.

"Real estate values go up when a chain store is established," he said, "and decrease when a chain store leaves the locality."

Gerrity said a survey by the Real Estate association of New York showed that chains thruout the United States paid $450,000,000 annual rent to 140,000 real estate owners, or about four cents of every dollar taken in.

Owners Protest Measure.

He read a resolution adopted by the building owners' association opposing the Patman proposal on the grounds it would bring "economic chaos" and destroy a distribution system which had "immeasurably raised the standard of living and increased purchasing power."

Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, president of Cotton-Textile institue, and D. B. McCrary, president of Acme Hosiery Mills, Inc., Asheboro, N. C., also opposed the measure.

"Enactment of the Patman bill would be a calamity to cotton farmers of cotton goods," Dr. Murchison said. He asserted that chain stores had annual cotton sales approximating $800,000,000, about 40 per cent of the total of all retail stores.

Take 70 Per Cent of Output.

McCrary testified that 70 per cent of the output of his mills, employing 1,300 workers, was handled thru chain store systems and that from experience in contrasting distribution costs his concern preferred selling to chains.

"Low cost distribution has enabled us to offer more jobs at higher wage levels than would have been possible under any other method of releasing our goods to consumers," he said. "The consumer is the chief beneficiary of lower hosiery costs and the higher quality resulting from reduced costs of distribution."

Passage of the Patman bill, he added, "would be devastating" to southern communities dependent primarily on operation of textile plants.

British Budget Message Forces Sterling Lower

The British budget message, announcing huge war expenditures and new taxes, yesterday proved a major factor in pushing the pound sterling down 1¼ cents in relation to the dollar. The French franc eased 0.0075 cent and the Canadian dollar ⅜ cent.

Business Bits

George A. Wegener.

George A. Wegener yesterday celebrated his 50th anniversary as a member of the Chicago Board of Trade. He applied for membership on his 21st birthday and was admitted 12 days later, on April 23, 1890. William J. Griffin of J. S. Bache & Co., and James LeRoy Welsh, Omaha, were elected to membership in the grain exchange yesterday. Griffin is a son of Joseph P. Griffin, a former Board of Trade president.

Edward R. Carpenter has been elected vice president of the Swigart Paper company.

Bernard Rice has been appointed buyer of the boys' clothing department of The Hub, Henry C. Lytton & Sons, succeeding James Judson, who resigned after 27 years with the company. Warren J. Brown was named buyer of the basement boy's clothing department, the position formerly held by Rice.

BENDER FLAILS TVA'S 'CHARITY' TO FAVORED FEW

Asserts Taxpayers Pay for 'Fat Cats.'

ference. The fact that a number of cities distributing TVA power are using systems financed by PWA, supplemented by 45 per cent federal donations, may have an important bearing at that point."

Bender explained that TVA pays 5.2 per cent of the amount of interest a private company would pay—or a 94.8 per cent subsidy in interest alone. The TVA pays 2½ per cent interest to the RFC on 45 billion dollars in bonds issued for the purchase of private electrical systems and no interest at all on the investment of 343 million dollars, appropriated by congress, which it will have by the end of the 1940 fiscal year.

Private Firms Pay 6 Per Cent.

Private industry must pay about 6 per cent on its capital. Also, the TVA pays only 5 per cent of its wholesale revenues in taxes, compared with more than 15 per cent by the utility industry.

Bender said that real property taxes in Tennessee must be increased from 40 to 100 per cent to replace taxes lost from private utilities taken over by the TVA or its subsidiary municipal and coöperative agencies.

"I have been informed," he said, "of several Tennessee industrial concerns which, unless relieved of the intolerable tax loads forced upon them by TVA's power policy, must either go out of business or move to new localities. Instead of attracting new industries, unemployment and distress are following in the wake of TVA's conquest of private enterprise."

DAY by DAY on the FARM by HOMER WEISZ

Oat Seeding Starts.

April 23, 1940.

MAYBE this is not such a late spring after all. Oat seeding was started yesterday on the Du Page county farm, four days earlier than last year. Seeders also were running on many neighboring farms as farmers took advantage of favorable weather. Soil was in fine condition for working. A corn planter was putting in long rows of corn on one farm.

Despite the retarded season field work is being started earlier than in many previous years. The first oats were sown on the Du Page farm last year on April 26. Three years ago rains delayed oat seeding until near the middle of May. The last of the oat crop was put in May 20 that year.

About 30 acres of oats had been seeded at noon today. There were some light showers this morning, but not enough rain to make the surface soil sticky. Workers are spreading manure from the feed lot on some of the corn land. They may start preparing corn ground before the end of the week unless rains interfere.

New Seeder Used.

The oats are being sown this year with a new broadcast seeder that distributes the seeds evenly over the surface of the soil. The ground then is disked lightly to cover the seeds. Altho the seeder is only 11 feet wide—less than half the width covered at each trip across the field with the endgate seeders formerly used—workers say it should give a more even stand than where the oats are broadcast with an endgate seeder attached to a wagon box, especially when the seeding is done on windy days.

The first ground was disked for oats last Saturday. It had been seeded to winter wheat last fall, but the stand was thin and it was thought best to disk up the wheat and plant oats. The soil was double disked and then smoothed with a section harrow ahead of the seeder.

Double Disked 3 Times.

Stalk fields are being double disked three times and then harrowed before they are seeded. This cuts the old corn stalks to pieces and turns them under so they will be out of the way of the combine at harvest time.

The seeder is set to sow 11 pecks of oats per acre. A mixture of clover and timothy seeds will be put in before the oats start sprouting.

All the oats this year will be Iowar, a medium early variety that has given good results at the farm in past years. Last year was a poor season for oats. The straw was short and the grain light and chaffy. This was true of most of the oat crop thruout the corn belt.

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE COMPANY
722 North Broadway
Milwaukee, Wisconsin
March 27, 1940

To the Holders of the Seven Per Cent Cumulative Preferred Stock, Series A, of Wisconsin Telephone Company

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION OF PREFERRED STOCK

You are hereby notified that Wisconsin Telephone Company, in exercise of the option reserved to it, will redeem all of its outstanding Seven Per Cent Cumulative Preferred Stock, Series A, on the next quarterly dividend payment date, April 30, 1940, at the redemption price of $110 per share, plus all dividends accumulated and unpaid on said date.

Checks for the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 per share, payable on said preferred stock on April 30, 1940, will be mailed in the ordinary course to stockholders of record as of April 20, 1940.

All certificates representing such stock must be duly indorsed for transfer by the holder of record or his legal representative, marked "For Redemption" and the signature witnessed. The certificates should be forwarded by registered mail or otherwise delivered to the office of the Treasurer of the Company at 722 North Broadway, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on or before April 30, 1940. The address to which the redemption check is to be mailed should be shown on the certificate following the words "For Redemption" in the space reserved for name of assignee. After receipt of the certificates, the Company will pay the holders thereof on April 30, 1940, $110 per share plus all dividends accumulated and unpaid on said date.

Where payment is requested to be made to someone other than the stockholder of record, the signature of the stockholder of record as transferor must be guaranteed as in the case of a certificate tendered for transfer, and Federal stock transfer stamps at the rate of five cents (5c) per share, or funds sufficient to purchase such stamps must accompany the certificate.

On April 30, 1940, all rights of the holders of said preferred stock shall cease, except to receive the redemption price upon presentation and surrender of the certificates as herein-before provided. On and after said date shares of said stock shall not be transferable upon the books of the Company except to the Company.

BEGIN SEC QUIZ OF N. Y. EXCHANGE RULE ON TRADING

Boston Charges Attempt to Gain Monopoly.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The Securities and Exchange commission is concerned over the recent action of the New York Stock exchange in barring members from dealing in New York listings on other exchanges, it became known today.

Rep. J. W. McCormack

In a letter to Representative John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], printed in the Congressional Record, Jerome Frank, SEC chairman, said the commission lacks authority to deal directly with the exchange's action, but that it is studying its effect and will report to congress.

Frank's letter was in reply to protests from McCormack and John E. Yerxa, president of the Boston Stock exchange, against the New York exchange invoking an old constitutional provision to stop any member who is also a member of another exchange from acting as a dealer on the other exchange in any security traded on both.

Affects Chicago Market.

New York's action affects the Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Boston, and all other exchanges, whose members and listings are also represented on the "big board." The Chicago exchange in particular has been successful in listing the securities of widely known companies which are also listed on the New York exchange.

Yerxa stated that American Telephone and Telegraph stock and other prime securities were listed on the Boston exchange before New York obtained them.

Answering the protests, Frank wrote:

"Upon examination of our powers under the securities and exchange act of 1934, we are satisfied that our authority to take formal action is not free from substantial doubt.

Orders Studies Hastened.

"We are, however, keenly aware of the possibility that the New York Stock exchange's action may have consequences inimical to the public interest. Because of this, the commission has instructed its trading and exchange division to complete as rapidly as possible the studies which it has been making."

McCormack declared New York's action "is not only discriminatory, but vicious." He said that it is "a deliberate action based upon a desire and intention to obtain as much a monopoly as is possible of the purchase and sale of stocks listed on more than one exchange. It is directly contrary to the congressional intent, based upon decency in such dealings, and common sense, of encouraging free competition among exchanges."

SET FIVE YEAR LIMIT ON BANK LIABILITY SUITS

Bank stockholders' liability suits must be brought within five years of a bank's closing, the Appellate court ruled yesterday. The court reversed and remanded a $500 judgment entered against John F. Novak, holder of five shares of stock of the West Madison State bank, by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg, with directions the suit be dismissed.

In its opinion, written by Justice Kickham Scanlan, the higher court rejected the contention that a 10 year statute of limitations applies to such suits on the grounds that a depositor's pass book constitutes a "written evidence of indebtedness." Instead, the court held the right of action is based on "a contract raised by implication of law" on which the five year limit applies.

The West Madison State bank consolidated in November, 1929, with the Garfield State bank, which closed in June, 1931. Depositors have received 44 per cent of their claims. The suit involved was not brought until Aug. 27, 1937.

THREE SECURITY OFFERINGS GO ON MARKET TODAY

20½ Millions of Bonds, $3,940,000 Stock.

Three public offerings of securities totaling more than $24,000,000 will be placed on the market today. They are $10,000,000 of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Turnpike revenue 3¾ per cent bonds, $3,940,000 of Associates Investment company 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and $10,500,000 of State of New Jersey 1¼ per cent unemployment relief bonds.

Blyth & Co., Inc., and B. J. Van Ingen & Co., Inc., head the banking group offering the Pennsylvania Turnpike bonds. The issue is due Aug. 1, 1968, and is offered at 100 and accrued interest.

These bonds are part of a total of $40,800,000 authorized to provide funds to pay a part of the cost of the new 160 mile turnpike, covering most of the distance between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh.

40,000 Shares Offered.

An underwriting group headed by Glore, Forgan & Co. and F. S. Moseley & Co. will offer the new issue of 40,000 shares of Associates Investment company 5 per cent cumulative $100 par preferred stock at $98.50 a share. There are 60,000 shares of 5 per cent preferred already outstanding.

Proceeds will be added to working capital and will be applied initially by the company to the reduction of notes payable. The company is engaged in financing the sale at retail of new and used automobiles and of lending money on new and used cars in the hands of dealers. Principal executive offices are in South Bend, Ind., and the company operates in 69 cities.

Relief Bonds on Market.

A banking group headed by Lehman Brothers yesterday was awarded the new issue of $10,500,000 State of New Jersey 1¼ per cent unemployment relief bonds, series B, on its bid of 100.522. The bonds, which are due in varying amounts from 1943 thru 1950, will be reoffered at prices to yield 0.35 to 1.30 per cent, according to maturity.

They are redeemable upon three months' notice at any time on and after May 1, 1943, at 100 and accrued interest.

UNION PREMIER SALES RISE.

Sales of the Union Premier Food Stores, Inc., totaled $2,236,818 for the four weeks ended April 20, a gain of 24.7 per cent over the $1,794,262 reported for the period last year. Sales in the last 16 weeks amounted to $9,106,587, up 32.3 per cent over the $6,884,339 of the corresponding 1939 period.

GREYHOUND SYSTEM.

The two world's fairs last summer must have increased bus travel. I wonder if Greyhound showed any gain last year. A friend of mine who works in a stock broker's office had suggested that I buy some Greyhound stock. Do you have any statistics on the company's operation?—F. K.

Answer: The Greyhound corporation in 1939 had the best year in its history. Operating revenues of the system increased 12.4 per cent; bus miles operated, 11.3 per cent, and consolidated net income, 16 per cent. All three set new peaks.

	Route mileage.	Miles operated.	Operating revenues.
1934	42,863	125,170,109	33,603,000
1935	46,249	137,998,394	37,817,000
1936	47,267	152,338,619	39,828,000
1937	49,444	168,981,918	44,286,000
1939	54,992	201,558,145	55,990,000

Consolidated net income of the company in 1939 was equal to 3.2 cents per mile operated against 3.1 cents per mile in 1938. Consolidated net income of the corporation and its affiliated companies after provision for minority interests, earnings per common share and *dividends per common share in recent years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per com. share.	Div. per com. sh.
1936	4,239,000	1.59	$*.95
1937	5,129,000	1.85	1.30
1938	5,656,000	2.05	1.10
1939	6,563,000	2.37	1.35

*$1.60 a share was paid on the old common stock in 1936 before the 4 for 1 split in November that year.

The Greyhound system operates a nation-wide bus transportation service from headquarters in Chicago. The system owned 2,525 buses at the end of 1939.

The Greyhound corporation was formed in 1926 and acquired interest in bus companies operating in the Chicago area. The system extended its lines to New York and Kansas City in the next two years and thru the western states in 1929, as a result of acquiring interests in more companies. Since 1930 most of the expansion has been in the south. The parent company now owns voting control in 13 major affiliated and subsidiary firms.

Capitalization of the corporation consists of 327,253 shares of 5½ per cent convertible preference stock of $10 par value, and 2,693,409 shares of no par common stock. Regular dividends are being paid on the preference shares and a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share was paid on the common stock April 1.

Consolidated total assets of the Greyhound system at the end of 1939 were $67,699,994, of which current assets were $11,785,818. Current liabilities were $7,067,965.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
In summer, it's great to get away for week-ends, but when you come back on Monday it helps to know that you have a studio apartment with a porch or balcony overloking a fountain in the court yard below, or a roof to climb up to where you can still be out in the fresh air. The living room in one of our apts. is 2 stories high, and another 4 room apt. has a living room 37 ft. long, windows at both ends, and a skylight. It's a marvelous room with its fireplace and dining nook, and just outside a little sunny porch and a bit of a roof. All of these are down here where there are so many interesting things you can enjoy and still have a good night's sleep, because they are all just a short walk up Michigan-av. from the loop. We have also some wonderful places for groups of 3 and 4; some are furnished. A special bargain on a 5 room with a beautiful living room and large combination bed and dressing room.

A CORRECTION.
Recently we advertised a 1937 Chrysler sedan as being repossessed and which we would "sell for balance due."
This was inaccurate, as we had accepted this car in trade on one of our repossessions.
We regret these errors and pledge they will not recur.
